Other students will be attending Middlesex College and some starting a career or entering the military. We are extremely proud of our NBTHS graduates and look forward to their accomplishments in the future.

Our Extended School Year program for special education students kicks off virtually this Friday, June 28 through August 9th.

Our Summer Academy and Summer Institute kick run from July 8 to August 1st, Monday through Thursday.

Please note that our schools and Board of Education offices are closed on Fridays in July and August.

A big thank you to our staff, families, students and Board of Education for all of their work and support that helped us achieve another successful school year. Our Leadership team met yesterday and already began the process of preparing for the 24-25 school year.

As part of our annual reflections, our administrative teams look closely at HIB (Harassment, Intimidation and Bullying) data, as well as other instances of student conflict that may not be classified "HIB" or bullying due to the definitions given by the state of New Jersey. I know there are a lot of people who like to share their thoughts on different social media platforms..often anonymously. However, as a district, this does not help us resolve issues that may be occurring. I always encourage parents to work with and be patient with our administrative teams as they look into and investigate student issues. Ask questions! These cases are complex, involve multiple students and often take time for a proper investigation to be completed. I can confidently say that our administrative teams work diligently to investigate and work with all issues of conflict and potential bullying cases that are brought to their attention. Discipline can range from out of school suspensions to a mediation session between two students. It may be counseling, in school suspension, or some other type of restorative support. We have to remember that we are looking to TEACH our students how to get along with one another and how to address similar situations if they come up again. We also want to ensure that those found to be the victims of an HIB incident are supported by our school counselors and other mentors. We hold many programs and weave social emotional and behavioral work throughout all of our schools all year long. This last year, our instructional deans who are our school anti-bullying specialists and our district anti-bullying specialist, Amy Kita, attend a great deal of training and work collaboratively on different situations to ensure that we are following the law and making sure that we are being consistent. This year alone, we have seen a decline in HIB cases at the elementary level and upper high school levels. In future administrative reports and newsletters I will be providing more information on the process and how to navigate it as a parent.

Finally, this evening, I would like to acknowledge and introduce Ms. Lisa Rudolph, who is on the agenda to be approved as the new Instructional Dean at John Adams School. Ms. Rudolph has worked for many years at Parsons school and is also the Lead teacher of our Summer Academy.
I wish everyone a safe and relaxing summer!

Ms. Lisa Rudolph, new John Adams Instructional Dean, thanked the BOE for this opportunity and looks forward to working with the John Adams staff, students, and parents.
