

Community Education Newsletter

Greetings from the Superintendent's Desk

As we wrap up another school year at Medina Public School, I find myself thinking about everything that has taken place over the past several months. It's always interesting to look back and see all the accomplishments of our students—not just academically, but through activities, athletics, music, leadership, and the many little things that help make our school special. I'm thankful for the hard work of our students and also for the teachers and staff who care about helping them grow and succeed. Medina Public School is a great place because of the people in it, and I'm grateful to work alongside such a dedicated team.

Congratulations to the Class of 2026! We are proud of all you have accomplished and wish you the very best in the next chapter of your lives...you will be missed!

I hope everyone has a safe and relaxing summer! See you in August!

School Board Election—June 9

The Medina Public School Board election will take place on Tuesday, June 9 at the school. Polls will be open from 9:00 AM to 7:00 PM. We have 2 items on this year's ballot. The first item is to vote for 3 school board positions. We have 3 board members whose terms are expiring this year: Nancy Heinle-Bodvig, Nolan Kartchner, and Jacob Hofmann. All 3 candidates are seeking reelection to the school board. Nolan Kartchner and Jacob Hofmann are running unopposed as rural representatives on the ballot, and for the at-large position, Nancy Heinle-Bodvig and Bill Lytle are both on the ballot.

The second item on the ballot is to vote as to whether you want the school board minutes to be published in the Jamestown Sun, which costs approximately $1600 per year. We currently do not publish the minutes in the newspaper, but we always put the minutes in the newsletter and post them on our website. This vote asks if you also want the minutes to be published in the Jamestown Sun. A YES vote means you want the minutes published in the Jamestown Sun and a NO vote means you are content with having the minutes in the newsletter and on our website. If you have any questions about the election, please call the school. I encourage everyone to get out and vote!

2026-2027 School Calendar

Schoolwide Annual Title 1 Parent Survey Results

Dear Medina Public School Parents, Guardians, Teaching Staff, and Community Members,

The purpose of this letter is to inform you of the results of the Medina Publics School District's Schoolwide Annual Title I Parent Survey. This survey was sent to all families with students in the PreK – 6th grade during the spring of 2026.

A schoolwide program uses its Title allocation to upgrade the entire educational program of the school in order to raise academic achievement for ALL students at the school.

The results of the survey are as follows:

- 100% of families state they have been involved in discussions regarding their child's education.
- 100% of families state they have been informed of their child's progress by the teacher.
- 98% of families state they have been given information on how to help their child with his/her study habits and/or homework.
- 95% of families state their child has benefited from teaming strategies during this first year of schoolwide Title I services.
- Areas that many families listed as improvements made by their child include: reading skills, math skills, and spelling.
- Areas that many families listed as skills they would like to see increased improvement include: math skills, and reading skills.
- 77% of families indicated their child studies independently at home. Many of these families also reported on the frequency of studying at home: 15% study daily, 30% twice a week, and 33% once a week.
- Families state the best time for parent involvement meetings includes: 17% prefer morning meeting, 44% prefer evening meeting, 7% prefer zoom meeting, 32% prefer information sent home with a place for comments and questions.

The following teams/interventions were implemented during the 2025-2026 school year.

- Reading and Math: Flexible Groups of intervention– Using data from Acadience, ND A+, and mClass, we determined how students were divided into flexible grouping teams. These teams were flexible and changed based on the results of ongoing assessment and data review. Classroom teachers and specialists gathered every 6-8 weeks to evaluate data, plan instruction, share teaching techniques, etc., to prepare for the flexible grouping time.
- Reading and Math: K-2 have a specialist or paraprofessional provide small group instruction in the classroom on a daily basis, and Prek-6 students who benefit from supplementary instruction also receive pull-out services in addition to the classroom small group times.
- Several paraprofessionals were trained in the curriculum SPIRE (Specialized Program Individualizing Reading Excellence) for grades 1-6.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this information, please feel free to contact the school.

Sincerely,

Tara Hofmann
Medina School Principal

Have a nice summer!

11. Challenge your child to write a news article about a family event.
12. Heads or tails? Have your child predict the results of flipping a coin 10 times, then try it and see.

14. Start a sentence-a-day story. In a special notebook, have your child write a story by adding one sentence each day.
15. Summer is just a few days away. With your child, make a list of five free, fun things to do as a family this summer.

SUMMER READING CHALLENGE

Dear Parents,

The research is clear that children who don't read during the summer can lose up to three months of reading progress and that loss has a cumulative, long-term effect.

With that being said, we have created a SUMMER READING CHALLENGE for the elementary students of Medina Public School. This is a challenge to ALL students from the Title 1 Department.

Pre-school through 1st grade is challenged to read 25 books and color a sun for each book you read. If your child has decodable books or books they are able to read, great! But because this age group is still learning to read, we encourage parents or older siblings to help complete this challenge by reading picture books or chapter books to/with the kids. Listening to someone read and following along exposes the child to the words and is a great opportunity for language and vocabulary development. Reading the same book more than once is allowed and encouraged for repetition to build language and strengthen memory.

2nd grade through 4th grade is challenged to color all of the minutes on the Reading Challenge coloring sheet. Students should read books at their appropriate levels.

5th grade through 6th grade is challenged to read 350 minutes, but are encouraged to read much more. Fill in the Reading log each time that you read. Students should read books at their appropriate levels.

The Reading Challenge begins May 16 and ends on August 12. As you take part in the challenge, please spread reading out across the entire summer. Remember, the goal is not just to finish, but to enjoy reading, build strong habits, and continue growing as a reader. If you complete the challenge a bit early, please continue reading and let us know how much more you read.

Reading books from Learning Ally is also a great way to read this summer!

Prizes for completing the Reading Challenge will be awarded to students at the beginning of the school year.

Have FUN reading this SUMMER!

Mrs. Kim Hoffmann and Mrs. Lytle

Please call the school office if you did not get a Summer Reading Challenge form.**

COUNSELOR CONNECTION — JUNE 2026

Summer often brings more free time and less structured routines, which can naturally lead to increased screen use. While technology can be fun and helpful, too much screen time can impact sleep, mood, creativity, physical activity, and family connection.

Kid’s often complain and protest when they are bored—at least mine does! Mine also whole heartedly disagrees that boredom is actually a good thing. As parents and caregivers, we need to remember that children do not need to be constantly entertained. In fact, unstructured time encourages imagination and self-directed play. It’s the moments of boredom that prompt kids to be creative, use their problem-solving skills, exercise their independence, and grow in resiliency!

While it can be okay to give in to the “I’m bored!” plea with permission to utilize technological devices at times, it is so important that we set and stick to screen time limits during the summer months. This can be difficult... I know from experience. So, let’s focus on balance rather than perfection. Our ultimate goal is helping children build healthy habits and a variety of interests.

So, what can we do? First, create a screen free policy for your family that protects time to connect with each other. Specifically, no screens during meals, before bedtime, or during scheduled family time. Second, encourage activities that naturally reduce screen use:

outdoor play, reading, crafts, building projects, music, cooking, journaling, or helping around the house. Third, consider creating a “boredom ideas list” together so your kids say, “There’s nothing to do!” you can point them to a list of go-to activities!

Lastly, we MUST model healthy digital habits as adults by taking breaks from phones and being present during conversations and activities with our kids and other social interactions. Our kids are constantly watching us and they learn from us! They also take note, more than we might think, about how important something is or isn’t based on where we focus our attention the most. I can say that there are times my son tells me, “Mom, no phones!” when I’m trying to take care of that next thing that needs to get taken care of. It happens to us all... but our kids need us and they need us to be present with them, even if it makes us a bit bored... which remember—isn’t always a bad thing! And the thing that needs to get done? It can usually wait. Don’t let the moments pass you by this summer! Take advantage of the extra time you may have to connect with your kids—no device required!

Mrs. April Foth, MPS Counselor

Beginning 5th Grade Band

5th graders who didn't return the band interest questionnaire before the last day of school, please contact me before June 15th to notify me of your child's plans regarding band. For those who are joining band in the fall, make sure to begin looking for an instrument now, if you haven't done so already. All used instruments need to be checked by an instrument repair shop before the first day of school, but don't wait until July or August because you might not have it back before school starts!

Instrument Repairs

Band students who need their instrument repaired over the summer should take it in as soon as possible so that it is ready for school in August. The repair shops are already getting very busy, and instruments that are first taken in during July and August will most likely not be done in time. If you prefer to take your instrument to the private repair technician in Jamestown, please contact me for more information. Instruments need occasional maintenance to play properly, so please ask your son or daughter if their instrument needs a tune-up!

Have a great summer! ~Mrs. Bosche
