RE: Removal of Old Books From the Library Collection

The NVOT short story collection needs to be weeded of old books.

Some books are in poor condition. If they were considered classics, new copies have been purchased to replace them.

Some books were popular fiction several decades ago, but have not withstood the test of time to become classics. They have been replaced by contemporary titles.

The list of titles to be considered for removal is attached. The remaining short story collection of approximately 250 volumes, which is a portion of our dynamic fiction collection, features a vital mix of classic and contemporary titles.
