Our Commitment to Military Students

Prior to a new school year, and during the school year, Military Connected students are identified through our districts digital online enrollment system. Once we have a list, those students' files are marked to make sure we know who they are when they first check in with our school. Families are greeted by the secretaries, the school counselor, and principal upon arriving at the building. Families are taken on a tour of the building upon request, and given our Parent/Student Handbook which contains school and community information.

Every student's first day of school starts with our morning assembly where they are introduced to their classroom teacher and assigned a peer partner for the next few days. This allows them to have someone to sit beside during the morning assembly, and walk into class with. Teachers make a point to show each new student where the library, office, and counselor's office is within the building. Student's partners show them where the restrooms, water fountains, and procedures for the cafeteria. At the end of the first day, the principal or counselor checks in with our new students to see if there were any issues and how they can be resolved before the next school day. Great first days are usually celebrated with smiles and hugs.
