Recipe for excitement:

Take one old school building.

425 - 450 students.

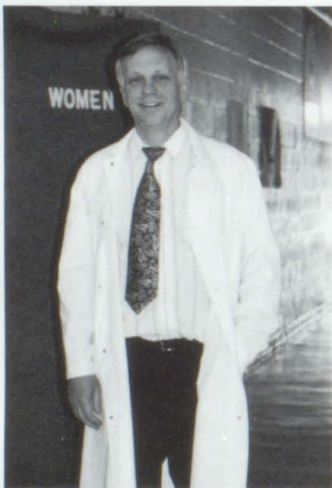

40 - 50 teachers.

Combine slamming lockers, crowded hallways, skaters, cheerleaders, loudspeakers, passing notes, baggy pants, tight jeans, "No Fear" t-shirts, rap music, country music, oldies, earphones, earrings, jocks, cramming for tests, bathroom passes, boyfriends, girlfriends, detentions, honor rolls, pep rallies, dances, and dates.

Cook on high for 175 days.

A look at life...

Widening The Boundaries

A Dedication

As we the graduates of 1995 face graduation, we realize that we are entering into a world of widened boundaries. The space shuttle connects with the Russian space station; the Hubble Satellite snaps pictures of Mars; and even Maine has become linked to the Information Highway. As we prepare to enter the 21st century we feel better about our ability to succeed in a changing world due in great part to a fine faculty and staff here at Hermon High.

Therefore, it is most fitting that we dedicate this, our yearbook to the man who exemplifies the boundless energy and spirit that we all idealize. For helping us make a sense of a changing world we honor Mr. Robert Baldwin.

From meetings with the superintendent to meetings with students Mr. Baldwin is always there. His dedication to school and students over the past 23 years has exceeded all boundaries and expectations.

Faculty

Without a doubt, the environment at Hermon High School has become more and more upbeat, due in large part to a staff that is not afraid to try new ideas and methods and, in general, is not afraid to make learning fun. From Mr. pellerin's physics class (have you seen them running up and down the stairs) to future artists sculpting clay in Ms. Young's "studio", studying has never been so painless. Mrs. Rinaldi's speech class has brought debating back to Hermon, and in Mrs. Greene's theatre arts class, future thesbians develop their skills. Who hasn't walked by Mrs.

the end of an era

As this year's seniors prepare for the future, many changes will take place in their lives. Instead of being full time students, the class of 1995 will become full time workers, full time citizens, and, in some cases, full time parents. As one of the most active and imaginative classes to graduate in recent years, they will be greatly missed. Times change and faces change, but this year one more important change will take place: this will be the last class to graduate from the old, white school building on Billings Road. It is hard to imagine this building without a senior class. We hope these pictures will provide some meaningful memories of a special class and a special school.

"I am A Star"

Rocked the House

The Senior Play is a tradition at Hermon High. It is a time where students, mostly seniors, come together in a way unlike any other. The hour and a half spent on the stage is the final product of months of practice. The play is a chance for students who wouldn't normally get a chance to know each other, to find out what makes them tick.

The 1994 Senior play brought together over 30 students to perform Billy St. John's, "I Am A Star", a play about a spoiled actress who has to fit in to the real world in order to get the part of a life time only to find out she had already played it.

The First Ever Microphone Awards

Throughout the high school years, specific honors are given to certain students for outstanding achievement; awards that recognize academic excellence, good citizenship, athletics, and sportsmanship to name a few. Although these awards are important and well-deserved, we feel that there remains a certain element of students who have "slipped through the cracks", who possess intangible qualities that make them special, yet because they do not fall into a category, have not received their due. It is with this in mind that we would like to establish the MICROPHONE AWARD. Chosen by the yearbook staff, this award will hopefully be given each year to those students who we feel deserve special recognition just because they are special. This year's recipients are:

Matt Woodard

T.J. Warner

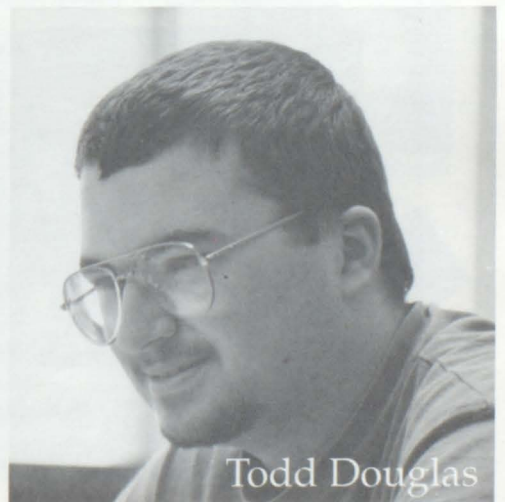

Becky Braley

Jennifer Dwelley

Jason Winchenbach

Todd Douglas

Jay Jackson

Thank you Mom and especially Shana! To my brother, let's not work tomorrow! I love you guys!

Scott Spencer

"I'm a spy.... I know everything, everything you do, everywhere you go, everything you know." J. Morrison: "I know a lot more than you may feel I perceive." Erica "Tweeti" our friendship is very special to me, and I'd also say endless. I really am thankful that I can discuss anything with you. You always cheer me up and I know you feel the same towards me. I am very grateful to share many irreplaceable memories with you like the new fair ride, Portland, Pumbaball, Wendy's drive-thru, Campden Falls, and August 7. These were just a few of the numerous times we have shared together. I look forward to sharing many more. Missi, who the hell are you?

To my best friend since second grade, Melissa Sawyer, you are a very special person and a wonderful friend. You are the sister I never had. I wish you luck and happiness in your future, you deserve it. All of the memories are etched in stone, I won't forget a single one. You are the wind beneath my wings. Scott, I'm glad that I didn't go to Orono, I would have missed out on some really great times with you. Over these past four years we have built a very beautiful friendship, I'm glad that I share that with you. Always remember Mt. Kathadin, Campden Falls, backyard circus, rest stop, creative playground and August 7, 1993. You are procrastinating. You are a crazy peachy grasshopper and yes arrows do belong in the woods. Thanks for the duck tape and smurfs. Wait a minute, who the hell are you, 222. Christina, I can't believe the time is already here for us to graduate. You are a really great friend and I know you always will be. Thanks for talking to me about my dilemma and other crazy stuff. Days is the best, don't forget shopping and leaves. Dawn, I'm so glad that we are finally getting out of here, but I know in time I'll miss it. I've enjoyed having homeroom with you for two years, Scott will enjoy teasing you. I wish you the best of luck in the future with Kenny, I'm glad he makes you happy. I'll keep in touch. Missi, well, what can I say? It's been the best of times, it's been the worst of times. I won't forget history class or our library talks. I have to say that you were right, you'll never stop teasing me about B.H., but that's alright. I still say that the limo idea sounds good. You are a good friend. Kaylee (Cousin Luke), we've known each other for almost twelve years and it seems like we're family. I'm glad we're both there for each other when we need someone to talk to. We have had some good times, but I hope we don't have to listen to our mothers sing again. Good luck in the future with J.R.

Erica, we had some fun times in history class, but our library discussions about B.H. and everyone else will never be forgotten. Thanks for being such a great friend. Jennifer D, I will never forget our trip to D.C., I'm glad we worked things out. You're a great friend and I hope you stay that way. Jamis S, thanks for all of the laughs, you're a great friend and I'll never forget all of the fun we had at lunch. Good luck in your next two years, I hope you keep in touch. Christina S, the last two years have been great, we have created many memories together, especially in second period foods class. I'll never forget our little mistake. Thanks for being such a great friend, I hope it stays that way. Jennifer and Christina, don't give up on that yeast. Someday we'll learn to make pretzels and won't create such a disaster. Thanks for all of the laughs, you two are the best. Thanks to all of my teachers for all of your help and support over the last four years. An extra special thanks to Mrs. Dow, who never gets enough recognition during Junior Exhibitions. Mrs. Rinaldi, thanks for making English understandable and fun. Mrs. Treadwell, thanks for being a great teacher and a great friend. Mr. Flegel, thanks for four years of fun and good jokes. Four long years, four very long years, and now it's graduation time. Time to leave everyone behind, those I've known and those I've wanted to know. Time to go into the "real world" and meet so many new people, and do so many new things. Everyone you meet influences the rest of your life, you spend so much time with your friends in high school, they share your best qualities, and sometimes your worst. These people who have shaped us for so long will not mean as much anymore and they will impact us less as time goes by. To everyone, good luck in the future and I wish the best to all. Be someone, make a mark and do something good. You must have a meaning to be alive.

The first time I started snowboarding I rode and rode and finally made it down a few hills. I'd carry a big cookie in my pocket for lunch and always forget about it until the end of the day. Finally I came in one day and it was whole not all in a little crumb ball. I knew I was getting somewhere then.

Scott Eric Shaw

Mom and Dad, thanks for guiding me in the right direction during the times when I needed it the most. Also, thanks for having an open mind and for giving me money instead of making me get a job. I love you guys. Thanks to Brett for being such a pal and always taking the time to help me out. Thanks to H.P., H.P., J.O., J.S., P.P., J.R., T.C., B.H., Mau, and Mr.

Erb. A special thanks to Mrs. Clain who has made me aware of countless opportunities. Finally, thanks to Coach Morris and Coach Perry for making me who I am today.

Thanks to all those who helped me get through the years. Mom and Malcolm, you have given me much more than just a roof over my head. You have been there over the years to pick me up when I fell down. Dad, Amy and my brother Chad, your support has been of great worth to me, and so has your company. Thanks to the rest of my family and all of my friends who were there when I needed you and even when I didn't. Thanks to all of my teachers who helped me achieve this gift of a high school diploma.

Michelle, you're the greatest friend, I'll never forget you. We had our good and bad, you're always there to listen to me. So many things I want to say, but not goodbye, keep in touch. Call me any time. I love you. Shana, the memories are in my heart and in my mind. We've done a lot of things together. This is what we've been waiting for, the real world. I'll miss you a lot. We'll have to get together and party, hopefully we won't get in trouble this time. Theo, we're the best of friends. We had, and still will have some great fishing and hunting trips and camping trips. I hope we can have the annual fishing trip to Ducklabaga. We can pull the old harry narry trick again. Never say flat tire when we are hauling the trailer. We won't have much fishing or hunting when we are riding around in our green trucks. Jason, good luck in your future, make it the best years of your life because it goes by quickly. Have a good time. Mom, Dad, Phil and Eric, thanks for everything that you have given me. Thank you for helping me make the decisions I have made. I love you all.

"Thinking of man must oppose all cruel customs, no matter how deeply rooted in tradition and surrounded by a halo. When we have a choice, we must avoid bringing torment and injury into the life of another, even another, even the lowest creature: to do so is to renounce our manhood and shoulder a guilt which nothing justifies."

To be a Junior is to experience many firsts: first job, first car, first thoughts about college and careers. It is a time to plan and a time to set goals. But most of all, it is a time to enjoy being young while tasting the freedom that maturity brings.

The class of 1966 was a class marked by achievement. In the classroom, in sports, or in extra-curricular endeavors, the Junior Class has set standards that will be used to measure future classes. Ready and able to accept the responsibilities that senior year will bring, here's a look at the Class of

one step closer

No longer the "new kids," but not yet concerned with planning a life after high school, sophomores seem to have the best of both worlds. Sophomore year is a time for fun, for making life-long friends, for exploring interests, and for learning about oneself. The Class of 1997 will be remembered as an active class, participating in many clubs, sports, and activities, willing to accept any challenge and showing a strong desire to make the most out of their high school years, they seem destined to become leaders.

the new kid in town

Historically, freshman year is a time for adjustment. A strange building, new teachers and a whole new set of rules seem to make the typical freshman timid, tentative, and generally intimidated.

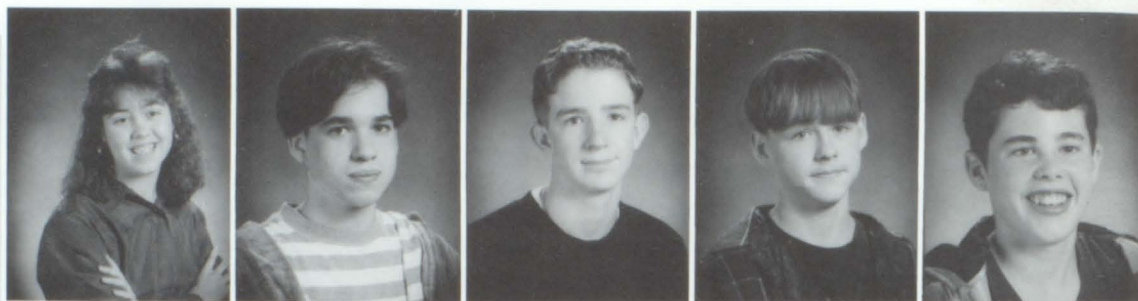

Well, forget about the past, throw out the cliches, and say hello to the Class of 1998 ! Without missing a step, they hit the front door running and never looked back. A diversity of backgrounds and interests, along with a strong self-assuredness, make this year's freshman class imaginative and vocal (as well as challenging to teachers and administrators.)

Flannel shirts and baggy pants, multicolored hair and nose-rings, intelligence and spirit, creativity and imagination, the Class of 1998 truly knew NO BOUNDS.

Academics

Bound To Learn

When I think of Academics these words come to mind: imaginative, energetic, innovative, fun, creative, and artistic. In the past these words were not often used to describe classes at Hermon High School. However the 1994 -1995 year was a special year. This was a year when teachers, students and administrators combined together to create an energetic and enthusiastic atmosphere. Working together we have all become a little closer. Below are some of the highlights!

Mrs. Dunning and Mr. Small (left) take a break to enjoy this moment in history.

Mauricio Trezub (top), a foreign exchange student from Brazil is always very careful to choose the right word.

Stephanie Huff (above) seems to have solved a problem while Jessica Horynak and Laura Krause Study intently.

Mrs. Greene (left) shows her spirit and enthusiasm while teaching class.

Theatre Arts

Acting Out

Participation in any theatrical presentation often raises many different emotions. Some people are born actors, and love to perform. Others are more inhibited and do not understand the thrill of the stage. One thing is for sure, being a cast member is tough work. It takes lots of time and work to bring life to a written script and bring it to the point where it is performed by actors and actresses.

Chris Greene the teacher of this class says "I would like to see the class go to one full year, because the class can't put anything to use with it only being one semester." Greene would like to have her Theatre Arts class produce a play for the new Hermon High School. In her class Mrs. Green wants the students to relax and have self assurance in order to overcome their nervousness. Mrs. Greene hopes that the students in her class will develop a new appreciation for theatre, and that they will establish an acting ability that will boost their self esteem. By being involved in this class, students will begin to understand stage terminology and also be able to identify parts in a play. For those that are interested in going further in Theatre Arts, this class gives background so that students may go into an introductory college course to further their knowledge on this subject.

We get the feeling that Theatre Arts is in its infant stage and that in the years to come, great productions and performances will be common at Hermon High School.

Excelling in T-4

Denise Rinaldi, teacher of Creative Writing and Speech, states, "Courses like Creative Writing and Speech offer the more imaginative student the opportunity to experiment with words, whether it be written or spoken." Both of these classes are English electives and cannot replace an English credit. Speech is a semester course and Creative Writing lasts all year.

Pupils who enroll in Creative Writing are required to write freely, in many different forms, and styles. They focus on different forms of writing like poetry, short stories, and nonfiction. Hopefully by the end the year each student will have a piece of their literature published. Madonna Gagnon, a member of Creative Writing class, says, "I enjoy the atmosphere, everyone is supportive of everyone else's work."

Speech focuses on improving the students public speaking abilities, self confidence, and refining their organizational skills. Students need to rehearse, research, and shows enthusiasm on the topic in which they are speaking about. The highlight of the class is the Debate which follows traditional Debate procedures. Due to the success and popularity of this years debates, Mrs. Rinaldi is thinking of starting a debate club next year.

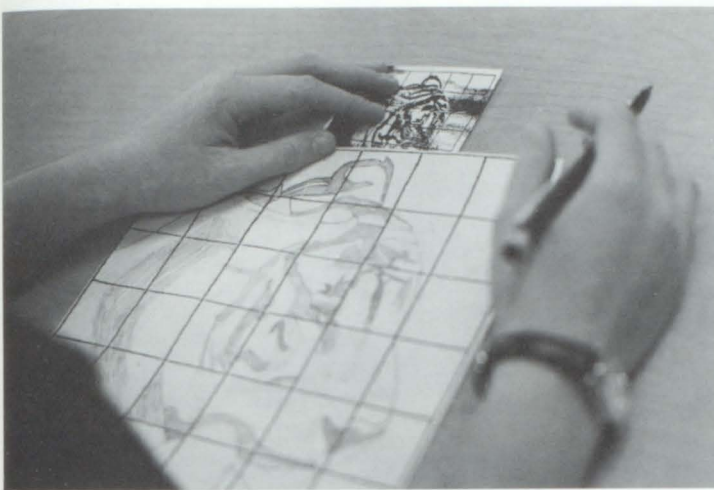

Jessica Reynolds prepares for her presentation directed towards miming.

Unique Creations

Art is in the eye of the beholder. To some art is fun, challenging, and rewarding. Others see art as a form of relaxation. Some art projects take weeks to produce, some are never finished. All products in the end are unique and all different. Thanks to Rita Young, the art program at Hermon High School has excelled.

Vol 4 No 2

Hermon, Maine - January 1995 - Circulation 750

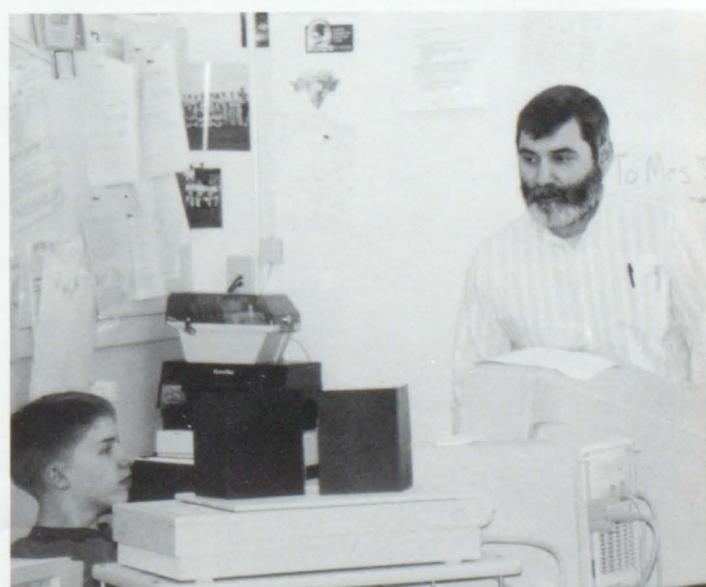

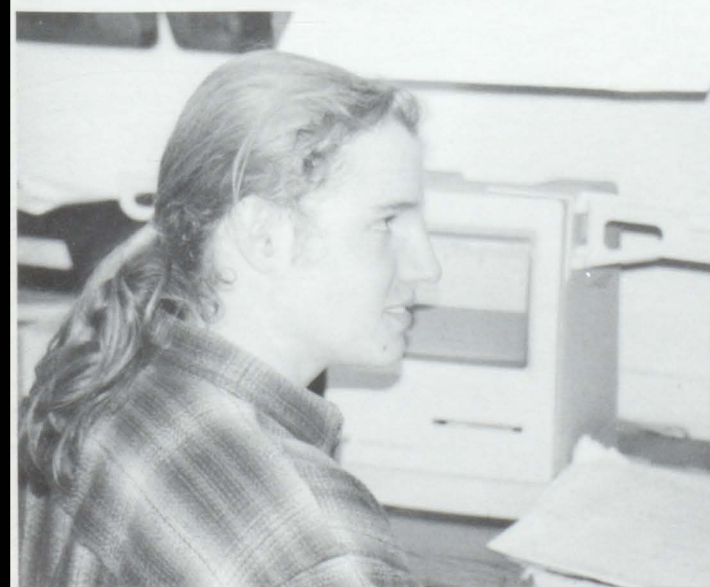

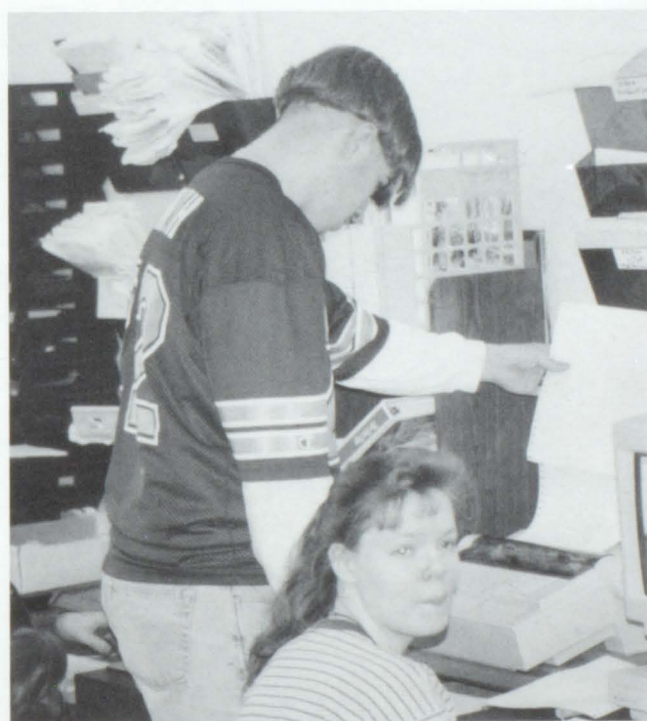

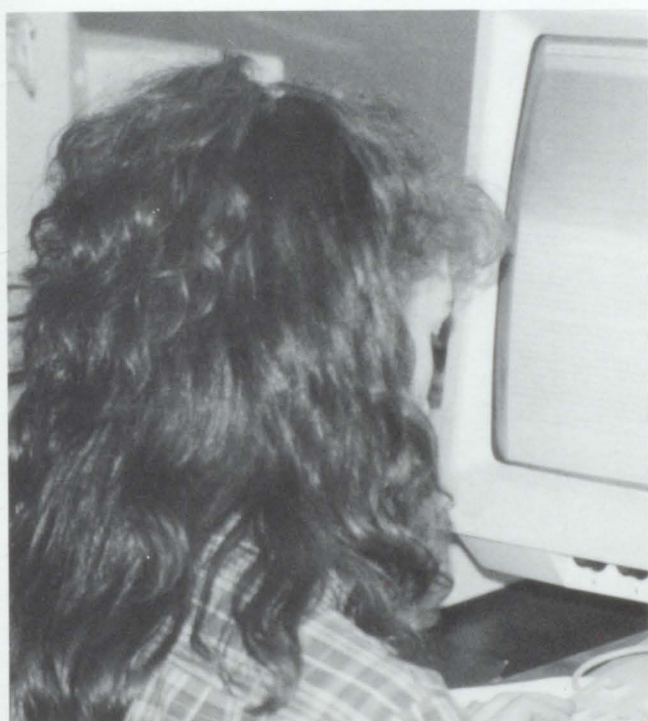

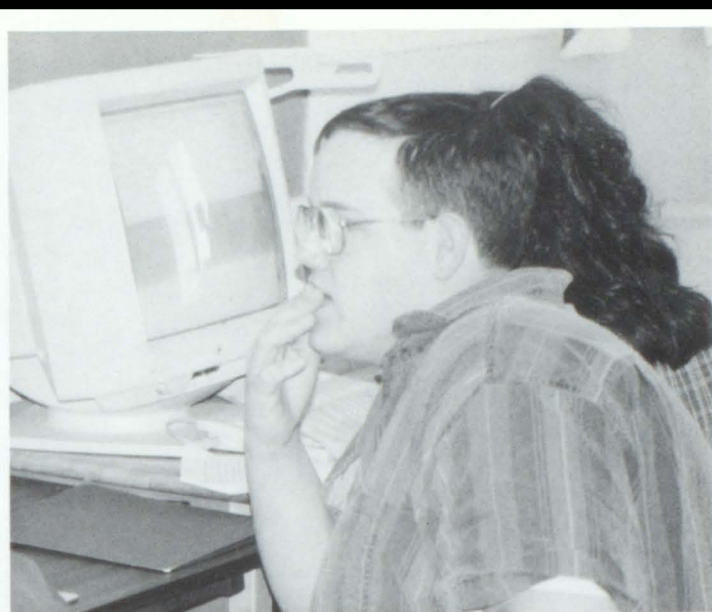

28 Pages

Conducting interviews, meeting deadlines, developing photos, and revising articles all make newspaper production hectic, but thanks to team work, skill and high energy, the MICROPHONE continues to produce great issues. Under the official heading of WRITING WITH A PURPOSE I, the newspaper staff meets daily during sixth period and is taught by Vince Marzilli. While fulfilling school credit requirements, the newspaper also provides a valuable outlet in which students and faculty alike can voice their opinions. In addition, the MICROPHONE provides valuable information concerning upcoming events, gives coverage to sports teams and clubs, and reviews movies and music. Each issue features a new editorial staff and is eagerly awaited by the students.

THOMASTON BEGINS WORK STUDY PROGRAM

On The Job!

VOC

CO-OP

The classroom is not the only place to learn. As a matter of fact some of the best lessons are those the world teaches us. With that in mind, two programs offered at Hermon high allow students to gain hands on experience and high school credits at the same time.

In Cooperative Education, seniors who have completed their other requirements, leave school to go to work. Students meet fourth period with Mr. Rinaldi, and receive classroom instruction in surviving in the working world.

In Vocational Education, students are allowed to specialize in areas of interest such as machine tool, carpentry, culinary arts and plumbing at the United Technologies Center.

Groups Bound Together

Have you ever felt small yet infinitely large at the same moment? Have you ever looked out over a vast landscape from afar and realized that you are a working part of this machine called life. In school we tend to focus on what is mandatory and required (I.E. grade averages and social expectations). Clubs and organizations give us, as students, a chance to perform above and beyond expected boundaries. They give us a chance to create a separate identity apart from our daily scholastic selves.

Clubs such as Key Club and Language Clubs allow members to showcase talents and emotions that are not normally exhibited in the course of a school day. These clubs give us a chance to draw upon what we have learned in the classroom over the years and to use that information in new and exciting ways.

Making Noise

Music is a big part of almost every student's life. Everyone has their favorites, whether it's country, head banging, or pop music. But for more serious musicians, those that like to perform, the music department provides instruction, practice, and most of all, a chance to be on stage.

Chorus gives singers the opportunity to train with others, to read and analyze music, and to see how working together can create a single beautiful product.

Similarly, band and stage band give musicians the chance to hone their skills in a structured atmosphere and then perform in front of an audience. Christmas concerts, basketball games, and state competition offer the rewards to the very busy music student.

Did you ever wonder what all the words are to "O Tannenbaum," or what a "schnitzel" tastes like, or what to say to a "frauline"? If this is so the German club might be for you. Like all other language clubs, German club members study German language and culture. Perhaps most important is the sense of belonging that all clubs bring.

Spanish Club

1st row: Erica Brewer, Kaylee Emerson 2nd row: Devon Gary, Jaime Ellis, Emily Brown, Reicha Chaturvedi, Kenny Luce, Mike Bowlby 3rd row: Chrissy Duran, Megan Smist, Melissa Hunsinger, Heather Gray, Katie Millard, Colleen Baker, Lauren Seymour 4th row: Emily Wing, Brandi Pomeroy, Jessica Reynolds, Velvet Guiggey, Joe Crowel, Josh Moulton, April Tracey, Adam Fredrik, Laura Smith, Lindsey Whitney, Carolyn Duran

The best way to learn a language and a culture is through "total Immersion," total living experience. One of the highlights of the Spanish Club year is the hosting of a Total Immersion weekend where Spanish students join Hermon members for two days of speaking, eating and living the language. In addition many members travel to Spain, chaperoned by Ms. Clain.

S.T.A.G.E.S.

Actors and actresses with an attitude, members of S.T.A.G.E.S. perform skits with a meaning for young people. Their topics include everything from sex, to family problems and even death. Although their message is serious, their approach is fun.

Key Club is a national organization sponsored by the Kiwanis. With a branch of willing student participants at Hermon High School, the organization tries to raise money to benefit the KPTI hospital for children in Massachusetts.

National Honor Society

The Chosen Few

The Nation Honor Society is often referred to as the world wide organization that recognizes students based on their individual achievements throughout high school. The minimum requirement for membership is an 85 grade point average. However, it does not end there. Society members are chosen by a lengthy procedure of evaluations and recommendations by faculty members, who consider character, attitude, and dedication as well. It is an honor, indeed, to be "tapped" for the N.H.S. Students are then selected by the faculty based on what they have accomplished throughout their years at Hermon High. In the height of the tapping ceremony the new members are selected by old members. Symbolizing their membership at graduation seniors wear gold sashes. Combining hard work, and dedicated students, N.H.S. strives to do their very best in all they do. Including students who are involved in school: clubs, sports, and extracurricular activities.

1st row: Laura Krause, Christy Redman, Lori Hannon. 2nd Row: Velvet Guiggey, Kelly Howard, Alison Charloux, Devon Gary, Heidi Glazier, Michelle Levasseur, Katie Millard. 3rd Row: Jason Allen, Brett Stuber, Jason Winchenbach, Joe Crowell, Heidi Pace, Jeff Littlefield, Carolyn Duran. Absent: Cynthia Hillman--Treasurer.

"National Honor Society motivates you to keep your goals high and do well in activities"

Sports: Boundless Energy

It is impossible to over state the importance of sports in the lives of students at Hermon High School. As a matter of fact, high school sports capture the the interests and the imaginations of a large cross section of Maine residents as well.

One need only look at basketball tournament time. When teams and their fans travel from remote parts of this large state, in hopes of capturing a trophy at Bangor Auditorium. Basketball, soccer, softball, and field hockey have also become spectator sports.

At Hermon, the success of our teams have had a remarkable effect on school spirit. Attendance at competitions is great. Tournament play is common. Team shirts abound in the hallways. Townspeople can be seen wearing team caps.

In the past year, Hawks' sports have reached new heights. The girls' varsity teams have soared, winning the Eastern Maine Championships in basketball, softball and soccer. Tennis also showed great improvement.

Solid years were also turned by the boy's baseball, basketball and soccer teams. The varsity cheering team has surpassed past teams at state competitions. There have been many highlights in the past year. Here are a few...

Good things...

Trio Brings Triple Crowns to Hermon

They say that good things come in threes. If you're a fan of Hermon High sports you know that's true. Consider this: Three Times in the last year the Hermon girls have been the under dogs going into the Eastern Maine tournament, three times they came away Eastern Maine champs (basketball, softball, and soccer). And three times, the team was led by the same three players: Liza Doughty, Heather Pace, and Heidi Pace. Here, in pictures we remember three champions.

After a stellar 1993 season, the 1994 boy's baseball team faced what many would call a "rebuilding" year. However, varsity and junior varsity players alike never lowered their expectations, never looked for excuses and never gave up. As a result, they ended up with a respectable seven wins and nine losses, with many players showing raw talent and great promise. Named to the P.V.C. team were Justin Shaw, Scott-Eric Shaw, Chad Scripture, Darren Morin, Allen Adams and Adam Hunt. Looking to fill the shoes of the graduating seniors will be Jason Allen, Jason Winchenbach, Brady Hatch and outstanding sophomore catcher Justin Perry.

Oh, look at that Backhand!

Girl's Tennis

Tennis has never received as much attention nor achieved as much success in the past year. Over twenty five boys and girls participated against some very experienced and talented local teams. Motivation was never a problem with first year coach Mary-Martha Collins leading the cheers. Notable preformances were turned in by Jasmin Tracy, who advanced to the third round in the State Singles Matches, Missi Curtis, Brett Stuber, Joey Oxley and Matthew Johnson. We are looking forward to this years edition of the Hermon Hawks Tennis Team, it promises to be an exciting and record breaking season.

Softball

Best in the East

The dream began in the spring of 1992. A young and aggressive group of players, featuring freshmen Heather and Heidi Pace, sophomore Marcie Burr, and pitcher Wendy Davis began to raise the competitive level of softball at Hermon High School, and along with it the hopes of someday seeing a Hermon team participating in tournament play.

The building continued in 1993 when the freshman class brought us Liza Doughty, Judy Buzzell, Melissa and Jackie Maskus. Coaches, teammates and fans couldn't help but feel that this was team of destiny.

By spring of 1994 the final pieces seemed to fall into place. Freshmen Renee Richardson, Jenn Dam, Hillary Bogan, Sara Devlin, and Jessica Frost added enthusiasm and depth to an already strong and hungry team.

The season had its ups and downs, the product of youth and inexperience, but no one ever doubted the potential of this group of young women. Coach Vincent Marzilli's leadership and work ethic coupled with coach Hutchinson's technical expertise created a never-say-die atmosphere. By tournament time, the Lady Hawk's had peaked. Players were playing the best ball of their lives. Fan support and enthusiasm were contagious and large crowds watched as underdog Hermon beat Fort Kent perennial powerhouse Busksport, and finally a strong team from Winslow for the Eastern Maine Championships.

Field Hockey

Varsity

One of the sports richest in tradition is the sport of field hockey. Requiring unique skills, teamwork, and a high level of aggressiveness, it is not a sport for the timid. Here at Hermon, field hockey thrives. While it is played at the same time of year as soccer and cross country (both attract large numbers of athletes), field hockey continues to field large teams of both varsity and J.V. players. As in the past, this year's team featured many talented players. Summer Kathan, Kelley Smith, Laura Smith, Jessica Reynolds, Madonna Gagnon and Colleen Baker were some of the veteran players adding experience to the team. First year coach Duffy Dorion provided new ideas and strategies. Most of all, the season was one fun, camaraderie, and zeal.

Soccer:

VARSITY SOCCER

The 94-95 Boys Varsity Soccer season was one of many record breakers. The 10-2-3 record was one of the best in HHS history. The boys were seated #1 going into the Eastern Maine Champions but suffered an upset in the first round of playoffs against MCI. There was only one loss in the regular season to Orono 3-2.

The Hawks did however beat Orono the second time they played them for the first time in the History of HHS. Hermon High School boys Varsity soccer have never beaten or tied Ellsworth, but tied them this season. Coach Don Erb credits most of his team's success to the team itself. "They worked hard most everyday and gave near 100 percent in all of the games"

The back was led by seniors: Chas Scott, Joe Crowell and Scott Shaw. The midfield was controlled by Mauricio Trezub and Brett Stuber. Jeff Littlefield contributed with his speed. Seniors Robbie Watson and Joey Oxley used their knowledge and skill to bring up the Hawk's power.

Row 1: Jason Redman, Billy Hallett, Scott Smith, Brent Piper, Ryan Scripture, Cory Reynolds. Row 2: Aaron Phinney, Ben Poland, Ian McCue, Chad Woodard, Chad Leonard, Scott Potter, Pat Doughty. Row 3: Todd Pelton, Aaron Jones, Brad Dobbins, Chasen Kelley, Aaron Clark, Germaine Chambers.

A strong varsity program is the result of a great junior varsity program, and this year's boys' soccer was no exception. Under the able coaching of former Hermon student athlete Mark Reynolds, the JV boys had one of their best seasons ever. Outstanding performances were turned in by goalie Todd Pelton, while Aaron Jones turned in several outstanding offensive outings. It is obvious that interest in soccer is at an all time high here in Hermon, and the expectations for future success soaring.

Girls Soccer

Hawks Fly to Eastern Maine Championship

Soccer fever hit Hermon High School in a big way this year. Perhaps success was predictable, given the core of varsity girls returning from last year's team. Perhaps success was predictable in light of the fact that fan interest and enthusiasm was at an all time high. And, perhaps success was predictable, since the Hermon High female athletes had already taken Eastern Maine Championships in basketball and softball. But for a soccer program that had not reached tournament play in many years, few people predicted that the Hermon girls would be playing for the state championship.

On a team with many stars, in a year with many memories, the defining moment came in the Eastern Maine Championship game against the Orono Red Riots. Ranked number one and nearly unbeatable at home, the Riots were ready to turn back the upstart Hawks. When senior standout Heather Pace went down with an ankle injury late in the first half, the Hawk's hopes seemed dim. But teamwork, tenacious defense, and incredible will to win led the Hawks to a thrilling 1-0 victory while a large crowd of Hermon faithful cheered.

We salute the 1994 edition of the Hermon Girls' Soccer Team: Eastern Maine Champs!

First row: Heidi Glazier, Judy Buzzell, Katy Calligan, Heather Pace, Liza Doughty, Kiera Dorr, Heather Gray, Hillary Bogan, Melissa Hunsinger.

Golf

A Gentleman's Game

Even though it is a sport that attracts few participants, the golf program is alive and well at Hermon High School. Known internationally as a "gentleman's game", few people who have ever played golf will doubt that it takes a lot of hard work, practice and patience to become good at it. Fortunately for Hermon High, 1994 brought together an assortment of talented players and a devoted coach, Mr. Dick Small. "Young and hungry" are the best words that can describe this year's group, as the team was composed entirely of ninth and tenth graders. Even so, Hermon was well represented in a highly competitive PVC conference. Led by sophomores Mark Alaimo and Steve Tweedie, we look forward to a bigger and better season in 1995!

Cross Country

Why Walk When You Can Run?

If you have ever seen cross-country team practicing you know about the grueling workouts, long lonely runs, and often sore bodies. But perhaps what you didn't see was the friendship and team spirit that develop among athletes who share the common experience of pushing their bodies to the limit. This year's team was a large team composed of many veterans as well as novices, coached by Clayton Blood. Outstanding performances were turned in by Jason Cyr, Jay Moore, Craig Goodspeed and many others as the team finished stronger and faster than they began.

First row: Kristina Duran, Josh Hunsinger, Jason Allen, Jason Cyr, Jenni Maynard, Ken Luce, Jason Winchenbach

Boys

There is no doubt that basketball is a way of life in Maine, and in particular, in Hermon. Both the boys' and girls' teams have a long tradition of having strong teams. Each season is eagerly anticipated by students and townspeople alike. Tournament play is almost expected. The 1994 - 1995 edition of the Hawks treated fans to an extremely exciting season. With several starters returning from last year's team (Robbie Watson, Brett Stuber, Joe Crowell, and Steve Tweedie), the hoopsters improved on last year's record and, after winning a playoff

"This season was a big improvement from last year, and it was a lot of fun."

-Brett Stuber

"Basketball gives us something to do besides homework, and it keeps us motivated"

-Roman Bartlett

Girls

After winning the 1994 Eastern Maine Championship, there were high expectations once again for a tournament season. Like the boys' team, the lady hawks returned several starters (Renee Richardson, Heidi Pace, Heather Pace, and last year's Osborne MVP award winner, Liza Doughty). Once again, the girls did not disappoint. Playing before large crowds at all home games, the season featured thrills, upsets, and even a few surprises. When all was said and done, once again the team returned to tournament play. Although losing in the first round, the 1994 - 1995 girls' basketball team will long be rembered as spirited, fast-running, high- scoring team.

How would you dscribe the 1995 basketball season ?

It was an experience, we had a lot of fun, and we learned a lot.

It was a different experience because of the new coach, but it was still fun.

Indoor Track

Ready, Set, Go!

The dedication and desire required to participate in sports is never more evident than in indoor track. Consider this: the indoor track team is one of the largest teams at Hermon High School (it includes both girls and boys) yet there is no indoor track facility at which to participate at the high school or even near by. During the worst weather of the year, track team members must use the parking lot and the hallways to run sprints, jump hurdles and get in shape. Even under these most adverse conditions, the teams spirit is high and several team members perform well enough to participate in the Eastern Maine and State Championship meets.

The Challenge of Cheering Met No Bounds

When the game is down to the final few minutes and the home team needs the crowd behind them, that's when the "other team" on the court does their thing. The "other team", of course, is the Cheering Squad. When we speak of home court advantage, we're talking about a wild crowd led by an excited group of cheerleaders. What few people see is the hard work and discipline that goes into a good cheering team. The season starts in November and continues until the end of February. In between, the team cheers at all boys' and girls' home games as well as some nearby away games. Performing routines and stunts that require precision and strength, a cheerleader must be in peak physical condition. Add to that the fact that everything must be done with a smile (what other sport requires that?), and you have a sport that is fun, challenging and unique.

Boundless Friendship

Some friends come and go, others last forever. The four years spent in high school are the social peak of many lives. Some find it hard to say good-bye as they move their separate ways. Many look back, wishing they could re-live these magic years. But forever will remain the pictures and memories of friendships which knew no bounds.

AIDS Prevention Targeted By: Peer AIDS Education

While 1995 has been a great year in many ways, the specter of the HIV/AIDS epidemic has cast an ominous shadow over the entire population, especially the adolescent community. People are asking questions about the virus itself, about avoiding infection, and, most importantly, about their own sexuality and the choices they must make. The problem is global, with the killer virus being reported within every world community. AIDS has become the leading killer of people aged 25-40. For now prospects for a cure remain distant. The only hope lies in prevention and education. In 1993 an innovative program was started at Hermon High School under the guidance of Elaine MacDonald. A group of concerned and motivated students have joined a national campaign called "Peer AIDS Education." The focus of the program is to educate and empower our youth and help them to become responsible for their own health and well being. So far, the project has been embraced by the school and the community alike. At this time, ten students are active in bringing facts and erasing the fallacies to the high school and elementary students. We hope that, because of dedicated young people such as these, our worst fears about AIDS will not become a reality. Hopefully, when you read this book twenty five years from now, AIDS will just be a bad memory.

One of the most unforgettable memories we will have will be the memory of attending basketball games at the junior high gym; feeling the heat of the crowd as we enter from a cold winter night, hearing the band playing our fight song as the players run in, cheerleaders jumping, little kids running wild, grandparents screaming at the refs. We hope these pictures will help you ...

...feel
the game!

THROUGH THEIR EYES:

Now

by Kaylee Emerson

I am grampa's little sweet potato,
one of the quietest.
I am smaller than the rest, and they all know.
When they speak, I listen;
when they command, I obey.
I am in Kindergarten, and ready to go home at the mark of half day.

Now I am a class bully,
one of the toughest.
I am bigger than the rest, and they all know.
When I speak they listen;
when I command, they obey.
I am in fourth grade, and hall monitor for the day.

I am back on the bottom rung,
one of the geekiest.
I am lost in the new school, and I cry.
When the bell rings, they charge;
when they see me, I endure.
I am in fifth grade, and hate junior high.

Now I am at the top,
one of the most outspoken.
I am armed with an attitude, and they cry.
When the bell rings, I charge;
when I see them, they endure.
I am in eighth grade, and ruling junior high.

I am an underclassman,
one of the shortest.
I am disoriented in the enormous halls, and have regrets.
When I ask the upperclassmen for directions, they lie;
when I go, they laugh.
I am a freshman, and can't wait to graduate.

Now I am at the end,
still one of the shortest.
I am scared, wondering what to do, and have regrets.
When they ask for directions, I don't lie;
before they know; time will fly by.
I am a senior, and don't want to graduate.

The Experts

By Kaylee Emerson

They have lived a hard life, grown up in tough times.
They have spent nights alone, wondered if they would make it.
These are the ones who brought us into the world.
These are the ones who raised and taught us.
Mine are the ones who worked two jobs to feed and clothe me.
Mine are the ones who did their best to support my crazy whims.
They are the ones who look out for our best interest.
Mine are the ones I love.
Parents.

Comfort

By Kathy Shield

My walls are white and the light blinded my eyes pleasantly 'till I was content.
Oh how I want to sink into the light and feel the warmth of comfortability.
Sinking softly the feeling is inviting and I am oblivious to what awaits me out of the mellow light.
The dark, black emptiness is what I left behind and what should always stay behind me.
That is something that I will never miss and I am happy because of that.

He

By Kathy Shield

Scream: feel the motion of his voice as it passes over his lips.
Eyes as dark as bark, I am mesmerized.
Keep the smile alive just long enough.
Come and walk this way over by me, instead you sit down.
If you must shake of stutter go ahead my friend. Be yourself and loosen up.
Your talks are what I dream and upon occasion some really occur.
More needs to be said and you realize it. Afraid of the unknown you stop smiling.
Reoccurring, this is for real. Maybe next time it will last longer.
I will wait until the scream: feeling the motion of his voice as it passes through my ears.

Grupling his madness

Marked

By Katie Wilbur

His coldness
made her shiver.
His rejection
made her cry.
When her eyes saw him,
daggers of fear
shot up her spine.
She felt,
and could not fight.
She knew,
but could not stop loving.
She heard,
but kept her respect.
She understood
the dark streak
of blame,
hanging over her head.

He heard a voice say,
'Hit her again.'
He saw the red
drip of hate.
He saw her pain,
but could not ignore
his loyalty.
She was a murderess;
and he was a widower.
He understood
the pain twisted face
of her,
hanging over his head.

By Chris Cabell

grupling his madness
Affliction of the brain
Agony of thought
Reasoning in rain
This world shuns
Adding to pain ignored by all deeming themselves sane.

Out of tune we sang

By Chris Cabell

Out of tune we sang
as we jumped care-free
from puddle to puddle
Our joined hands survey
in a continual motion.
Our laughs echoed through the streets
Our worries were washed away
By this rainy day.
We sat upon a wet bench
and whispered into each other ears.
Our damp cloths clung to our bodies
we clung to each other.
Oh what magic is found
On a rainy day

Requiem for a Fairytale

By Katie Wilbur

So much to get so little.
The profit
unworth a millworkers pay.
An anguish
felt in my heart, felt through my soul,
touched in my dreams;
piercing.
It could only be...
What?
What?
What?... confusion is not the problem.
Wisdom
is not the answer.
Stop believing
in the fairytale long enough to become a truth.

But who wants to be responsible for the death of Jack and Jill.
