II. Monthly Recognition: Making Rest a Priority in the Summer
As the school year ends and we begin summer break, it is important to recognize the importance of rest. All of life has a rhythm with a dormant season being critically important for future growth. For educators, summer is the season of rest and renewal. Research has demonstrated that rest is vital for maintaining our passion and reaching our potential, so with that we encourage all of our CAL Team members to take time to rest this summer. We look forward to returning from summer break with renewed vigor and passion for the important work of education.
