TIFFANY (PUDENZ) MANNAUSAU

During Tiffany's high school career, she was named Minnesota All-State her junior and senior years and earned All-Conference honors in basketball her sophomore, junior, and senior seasons. She finished her high school basketball career with an impressive 1,814 points.

Her athletic accomplishments extended beyond basketball. She was a four-time All-Conference selection in volleyball and earned All-Conference honors in softball her junior and senior years, demonstrating her exceptional versatility and dedication across multiple sports.

Tiffany continued her basketball career at the University of North Dakota, where she became an integral member of the women's basketball program. She was a member of UND's 1997 and 1998 NCAA Division II National Championship teams, helping lead the Fighting Sioux to back-to-back national titles.

She completed her UND career with 1,622 points, graduating as the third-leading scorer in UND history and ranking among the program's all-time scoring leaders. She also graduated as UND's career leader in assists with 545 and steals with 250. During the 1996–97 season, she set UND's single-season steals record with 85.

Her individual accomplishments were equally remarkable. Mannausau was named a 1997–98 First-Team All-American by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association (WBCA). She also earned Second-Team All-America honors from Daktronics and Third-Team All-America honors from Division II Bulletin. She was a two-time All-North Central Conference selection, earning the honor in 1997 and 1998.

Mannausau's success began early in her collegiate career when she was named the 1994–95 NCAA Freshman of the Year. She continued to excel both athletically and academically throughout her time at UND, earning Academic All-North Central Conference honors twice and receiving an NCAA postgraduate scholarship following her senior year.
