A Note from the Principal

Lake City Elementary Families,

We had a great second week of school at Lake City Elementary! It has been wonderful to see our students settling into routines, showing Trojan Pride, and giving great effort throughout the week. We are off to a fantastic start, and we are excited about all the learning and growth that will take place this year.

Many of our grade levels also participated in our NWEA assessments this week. These assessments provide valuable information that helps our teachers understand where students are currently performing and how we can best support their continued growth.

We are also excited for students to participate in STEM classes this year! STEM gives our students opportunities to engage in hands-on activities connected to Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics. Be sure to ask your student about the lessons and activities they were able to participate in with Mrs. Eisenreich!

As we head into the weekend, remember that this is a four-day weekend, so school will not resume until Tuesday.

Thank you for your continued partnership and support of Lake City Elementary. We hope you and your families have a great Labor Day weekend!

Trojan Pride,

Principal Hamilton

Happy Labor Day

P.E. News

We are on a roll in P.E.!

It's fantastic to see all the clean athletic shoes in our classes! Thank you for reminding your child(ren) to wear them to P.E. class. That helps everyone be successful and safe.

Kindergarten through 2nd grade: During these first few weeks, we are focusing on the building blocks of P.E.

Students are learning to:

- develop an awareness of personal space
- how to move our bodies safely in our own space
- practice moving safely when traveling through general space

3rd through 5th grade: We're starting the year with cooperative games to focus on team building and practicing good sportsmanship.
