7 Mindset lesson this week

(We Are Connected) ... Build Your Dream Team –
Identify and build your Dream Team. These are the people who will help you live your dreams. Perhaps they have experience you can draw from, access to resources you will need, or can provide you with the critical support you will need as you start living your dreams. The important step is that you recognize the critical role others will play in your life, and deliberately begin developing the relationships you will need.
