7 Mindset lesson this week

(Passion First) ...Explore Your Interests

We all have things we enjoy doing. When you like doing something, you do more of it, even in your free time. When you are doing things that energize and engage you, your focus is greater, you perform better and improve faster.

Doing these things more often, with a greater degree of focus, allows you to become great at them. When you are great at anything, the world notices, and you have greater value to others. When this happens, more wonderful things flow into your life.
