AHS Class of '79 Teaching Award

The Algona High School Class of '79 is pleased to present an award to recognize the outstanding contributions of a teacher, either in a single academic year or over a career.

"Outstanding contributions" may include such actions as developing new programs, personally motivating students, achieving greater professional standing, and going above and beyond the job description.

Consideration may also be given to such qualities as accessibility to students, intellectual rigor, enthusiasm for teaching/subject matter and dedication to education.

To nominate a teacher for this award, fill in the blanks on either the online nomination form found on the school website or download the attachment and mail your written form to Algona Community School Foundation, PO Box 129. Another option is to email the form to acsf@netamumail.com
