Career Highlights

"For the past 24 years, I have had the incredible privilege of doing what I love most, building meaningful relationships with children and their families, and helping every child feel successful, valued, loved, and important.

Throughout my career, I have had the opportunity to teach kindergarten, fourth grade, and now transitional kindergarten. Each age group has brought its own unique joys, challenges, and unforgettable moments, but one thing has remained constant: my passion for helping children learn, grow, and discover just how capable they are."
