At White Mountains Regional High School

Tonight, Wednesday, November 18, marks one of the most anticipated nights of the school year; Spartan Exhibition Night. This annual event has become one that students, staff, and families look forward to as an opportunity to explore the school, take a look at student work, speak to staff members, attend performances and presentations, and see what White Mountains is all about.

The evening will run from 5:30-7:30 p.m., and will offer families and community members an opportunity to experience the spirit that sets WMRMHS apart. The Spartan Culinary and Hospitality program will serve up a sampling of student-prepared creations, while tours of the Career and Technical Education Center will offer a closer look at the hands-on learning and career pathways available at WMRMHS. Displays and presentations of academic pathways will be led by students and staff members to highlight the classroom learning process. Additionally, the cast of the upcoming fall production of Grease will take the stage for a musical performance ahead of the show's opening night on November 20. (The White Mountain Players are looking forward to having the community back in the building this weekend for performances of Grease on 11/20 and 11/21 at 7 p.m., and 11/22 at 2 p.m.)

This year's event will also feature a dedicated Middle School Open House from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Middle school families are encouraged to enter through the North Entrance, connect with their child's Spartan Squad leaders, explore academic materials, and learn more about the middle school experience. Families will also have an opportunity to sign students up for one of the school's popular Winter Thursday offerings, including skiing and snowboarding at Bretton Woods.

Spartan Exhibition Night is more than just a showcase of student work; it is an invitation to experience the people, programs, and possibilities that bring WMRMHS to life. Throughout the evening, staff members will also be available to answer questions, share information, and help families explore the many academic and extracurricular opportunities available to students from grades 7 through 12.

At WMRMHS, the spirit of "This Is Sparta" is about more than school pride. It's about showing up, trying something new, celebrating one another's talents, and creating opportunities for every student to grow as a leader and a learner.

Community members and families are warmly invited to join the celebration at White Mountains Regional Middle High School on November 18, from 5:30-7:30 p.m.
