As we continue recognizing America's 250th anniversary, today's focus is on one of the most important rights and responsibilities of American citizens—voting.

Voting gives every citizen the opportunity to have a voice in the decisions that shape our communities, our state, and our nation. From local school boards and city councils to state and national elections, every vote has the power to make a difference.

While many of you may not yet be old enough to vote, now is the perfect time to begin learning about the issues that matter to you, staying informed, and understanding how our government works. The habits you build today will prepare you to be informed and engaged citizens tomorrow.

As President Franklin D. Roosevelt once said, "Nobody will ever deprive the American people of the right to vote except the American people themselves."

Don't forget that this Thursday is our Red, White, and Blue Day in celebration of Constitution Day. Start planning your outfit now! Wear your favorite red, white, and blue, or show your school pride by wearing your Gosling gear.

At this time, please stand for the Pledge of Allegiance.
