As we continue celebrating America's 250th anniversary, today's focus is on attending local government and community meetings.

One of the best ways to stay informed and make a difference is by participating in your community. City council meetings, school board meetings, village board meetings, and other public gatherings are open to citizens and provide an opportunity to learn how decisions are made.

Attending these meetings helps you better understand the challenges facing your community and gives you the chance to hear different perspectives. As you get older, you may even choose to share your own ideas during the public comment portion of a meeting.

Democracy is strongest when people are informed and involved—not just during elections, but throughout the year.

One last reminder:

Tomorrow is Red, White, and Blue Day! Join us as we celebrate Constitution Day by wearing your favorite patriotic colors. If red, white, and blue isn't your style, Gosling gear is a great way to participate too! We can't wait to see the halls filled with school spirit and patriotic pride!

At this time, please stand for the Pledge of Allegiance.

Have a wonderful Wednesday!
