Senior Spotlight: Emma Sandman

By Staff Reporter: Amelia Remacle

Emma Carsyn Sandman is the daughter of Paul and Carmen Sandman. She has two older siblings, Lexy and Noah. After high school Emma plans on attending SDSU for veterinary science. Her dream job is a large animal vet. When asked where do you see yourself in 15 years, Emma responded with “ I see myself working at a large animal vet clinic and living on a farm.”

She said that she is mildly prepared for the future. Emma’s favorite class in high school was U.S. History with Mr. Jolley. She said the people who have made the biggest impact on her life are her parents.

Emma’s favorite season is summer, her favorite food is steak, and her favorite restaurant is Tomacellis. Her hobbies include hiking, camping, riding her horse, and antique shopping. Emma is currently involved in volleyball, basketball, track, travel volleyball, FBLA, and 4-H.

She said the thing she will miss most about high school is playing sports with her friends. Emma's advice to underclassmen is to make the most of it as it goes by in the blink of an eye, and her favorite quote is “Sometimes you’ll never know the value of a moment until it becomes a memory” - Dr. Seuss.

Music has been around since 38,000 BC. Since then, Music has changed drastically, and its role for others has changed as well. This week, we talked to the middle school and the high school about how Music plays a role in their life.

For seventh-grader Ashlynn Hjermstad, music has shaped her character and how she presents herself every day. Freshman, Macie Globke, her mood depends on the music she listens to, differentiating the type of music she listens to for each mood. Carter Becker, a sophomore here, says music lifts you and gives you confidence. Along with boosting your spirits when you’re down.

Junior Lilyannah Montgomery says music is a source of comfort and a safe place to feel her emotions when words are not enough. The last person I interviewed was Senior Easton Miller. He views music as a huge role in his life. It affects his mood, helps him focus and clear his head, and helps put him in a good mood based on the music he is listening to. Music clearly has a significant impact on students here at Canistota High School. Putting myself along with the rest of the high school students, music has and will continue to have a great impact on my life, just as it has on many students.

Middle School Student Of The Month

By Staff Reporter: Lilli Mae Schenkel

This month, we are excited to recognize Kynlee Kennedy as our February Middle School Student of the Month!

Kynlee is a hardworking and positive student who truly represents what it means to be a great member of our school community. When asked what Student of the Month means to her, Kynlee said that it means “you were a good student”, and she certainly lives up to that description through her dedication and effort every day.

Outside of school, Kynlee enjoys reading, watching movies, and playing outside when the weather is nice. She values spending time with her family, which includes her mom, dad, her eight siblings, and two dogs, Jet and Juel. With such a big family, it’s no surprise that Kynlee has developed a special talent. She says she’s really good at taking care of kids!

Along with that, Kynlee dreams of one day owning her own daycare, where she can use her natural ability to care for children and make a positive impact on families.

At school, her favorite class is Reading/ELA with Mrs. Marquardt, where she enjoys learning and growing as a reader. One funny school memory she’ll never forget? “When Dillon broke the table in 7th grade!”

Kynlee’s goal for this school year is to achieve good grades and successfully graduate. Congratulations Kynlee!

The 5th and 6th-grade girls basketball team at Canistota School had an exciting season filled with teamwork, determination, and school spirit. Led by Coach Jamie Miller, the team worked hard to improve their skills while building strong friendships on and off the court.
