From the Desk of Ms. Owens

This season reminds us of the importance of gratitude, kindness, and community--values we strive to nurture at Barnard every day.

Our students continue to learn, grow, and make progress both academically and socially. I am proud of the hard work they demonstrate in the classroom, the kindness they show toward one another, and the enthusiasm they bring to their leaning. I also want to recognize our dedicated teachers and staff for the care, creativity, and commitment they bring to supporting every student's success.

As we move through November, we encourage families to continue supporting learning at home by reading together, discussing daily school experiences, practicing important skills, and celebrating accomplishments. Your involvement makes a meaningful difference and strengthens connection between home and school. Thank you for your continued communication, trust, and collaboration.
