Nettleton School District Acceptable Use Policy

Access to e-mail and the Internet enables students, staff, administration, and parents in the school setting to explore thousands of libraries, databases, and bulletin boards while exchanging messages with Internet users throughout the world. Families are warned that some materials accessible via the Internet may contain items that are illegal, defamatory, inaccurate, or potentially offensive to some people.

While the school's intent is to make Internet access available to further educational goals and objectives, individuals may find ways to access other materials as well. We believe that the benefit to students from access to the Internet, in the form of information resources and opportunities for collaboration, exceed any disadvantages. Ultimately, parents and guardians of minors are responsible for setting and conveying the standards that their children should follow when using media and information sources. To that end, Nettleton School District supports and respects each family's right to decide whether to apply for access. Adults in the school setting are reminded of the intent of school computers and Internet access and agree to abide by school use policies. School users are responsible for good behavior on school computer networks just as they are in a classroom, office, or any school structure.

Communications on the networks are often public in nature. General school rules for behavior and communications apply. The network is provided to conduct research and to communicate with others. Access to network services is given to students and adults who agree to act in a considerate and responsible manner. Parent permission is required for all students. Access is a privilege, not a right. Access entails responsibility. Likewise, school personnel and parents at school are expected to abide by the same decorum. Individual users of the district computer networks are responsible for their behavior and communications over those networks. It is presumed that users will comply with district standards and will honor agreements they have signed. Beyond the clarification of such standards, the district is not responsible for restricting, monitoring, or controlling the communications of individuals utilizing the network.

Within reason, freedom of speech and access to information will be honored. During school, teachers will guide them toward appropriate materials. Outside of school, families bear the same responsibility for such guidance as they exercise with information sources such as television, telephones, movies, radio, and other potentially offensive media.

Any NSD device checked out by a student from NSD will be the responsibility of the student and/or student's parent/guardian. Devices may be checked out through the office of each school. All devices and accessories must be returned in satisfactory condition or parents may face fines for damages/loss of devices. Cost of chromebooks: Charger $20, Case $30, Chromebook $250, Keyboard $60, Screen $50.

Nettleton School District assumes the control of ownership and liability for personal devices and other equipment purchased under the EDLA program until it no longer serves the school or related school purposed for which it was acquired and is sold by public auction under section 17-25-25; or disposed of following board policy.

As outlined in Board policy and procedures on students' rights and responsibilities, copies of which are available in school offices, the following are NOT permitted:

1. sending or displaying offensive messages or pictures
2. using obscene language
3. harassing, insulting, or attacking others
4. damaging computers, computer systems, or computer networks
5. violation of copyright laws
6. using another's password
7. trespassing in another's folders, work, or files
8. intentionally wasting limited resources
9. employing the network for commercial purposes

Violations may result in loss of access as well as other disciplinary or legal action.
