RAIDER REVIEW

From the Superintendent: Empathy Matters

Greetings,

In this article I wanted to take the time to write about the different indicators we have in the Portrait of a Graduate that is part of the districts Strategic Plan. In the Portrait of a Graduate, we have included 7 indicators that we want our students to graduate with. They are as follows:

- Social Emotional Intelligence
- Communication Skills
- Problem Solving
- Critical Thinking
- Financial Literacy
- Collaboration – Effective Interactions
- Engaged Citizen

This month I would like to start with the first one – Social Emotional Intelligence. To us having social emotional intelligence means that we want our students to be able to demonstrate self-awareness, empathy, resilience, and have the ability to build positive relationships. A big part of that is empathy.

Empathy means trying to understand what someone else might be feeling or going through. It doesn't mean we always agree. It means we care enough to listen and try to see things from another person's point of view.

In today's world, empathy matters more than ever. It's easy for people to talk past each other. Our students are learning that empathy builds trust and respect — two things that make classrooms, teams, and communities stronger.

We teach empathy in everyday moments — listening before responding, working together on projects, or helping a classmate who's having a tough day. These small acts shape who our students become.

Our goal is for every graduate to leave Richardton-Taylor Public Schools not just ready for what comes next, but ready to lead with understanding and heart.

What a busy month October was for Kindergarten at TRE! Students finished learning their letters and sounds so they celebrated by having an ABC fashion show. Each student decorated a vest with things that started with their assigned letter. Then they went into each classroom to show their vests and recite their letters and sounds.

Then off to the Kreb's farm to see all the farm animals! Students were able to see and pet a variety of animals such as goats, bunnies, chickens, horses, and cows. We even saw some grumpy llamas and had turkeys that wanted to follow the students around the farm. We saw where and how the Kreb's family milks all their cows and even got to try and milk a pretend cow.

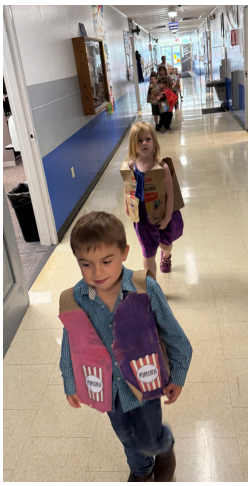

Mrs. Kitzan's Class Brings "Gooney Bird Greene" to Life!

It was a colorful and creative day in Mrs. Kitzan's classroom as students celebrated their reading of "Gooney Bird Greene" by Lois Lowry. The lively story—about a bold and imaginative second grader who loves to stand out—has inspired young readers everywhere, and Mrs. Kitzan's students decided to honor Gooney Bird in the best way possible: by dressing up just like her!

Throughout the week, Mrs. Kitzan read Gooney Bird Greene aloud to the class, sparking laughter, curiosity, and plenty of discussion about storytelling and being yourself. Students eagerly followed Gooney Bird's adventures as she arrived at the new school in her mismatched outfits and shared her "absolutely true" stories with flair and confidence.

To celebrate finishing the book, the class held a special "Gooney Bird Day." The room came alive with creativity—students arrived wearing wild and wonderful outfits, from pj's to cowboy hats to polka dots, and wigs. The classroom was a joyful sea of colors, just like Gooney Bird herself might have worn.

Mrs. Kitzan said she was proud of her students for embracing the spirit of Gooney Bird Greene. "This story reminds us that everyone has a story to tell, and it's okay to be different," she said. "The kids really took that message to heart."

The day ended with students sharing their own "absolutely true" stories, inspired by Gooney Bird's example.

Fire Safety Day Sparks Excitement at TRE

Friday, October 10th, students at Taylor-Richardton Elementary got a special visit from their local heroes — the Taylor, Richardton and Gladstone Fire Departments — in honor of National Fire Prevention Week. Firefighters arrived with their bright red fire trucks ready to teach students all about fire prevention and safety. Stations were set up to show their different equipment, safety gear, air tanks, hoses and fire extinguishers. Students practiced "Stop, Drop, and Roll," they learned how much pressure is in a fire hose and how to be safe around a fire pit.

Firefighters also reminded everyone that being prepared can save lives. By the end of the visit, the students were buzzing with excitement — and a deeper understanding of how to stay safe and how hard our fire fighters work to keep our communities safe. The students at TRE would like to thank the Fire Departments for taking the time to come to the school and teach them fire prevention and for the coloring books!!

First Grade Enjoys Flashlight Reading

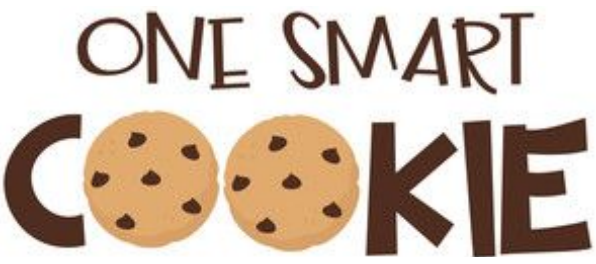

Mrs. Rivinius' first graders have been working hard since school started earning Smart Cookies — they get a smart cookie when showing kindness, teamwork, or great thinking. Every time the class gets 10 Smart Cookies, they get to pick a special reward.

They voted for flashlight reading. They were allowed to bring a lovie and a blanket from home to cozy up with for their reading practice. The classroom turned cozy and quiet. The lights went out, and tiny beams of light flickered all around as the first graders crawled into reading nooks with their books. It felt like a magical library under the stars.

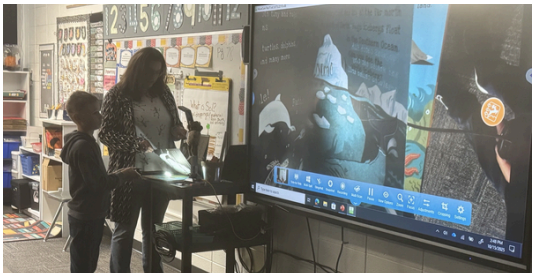

Mrs. Macks Class has Special Reader

Mrs. Macks class had Nancy Nelson come in to read as their October guest reader. Nancy read a shine-a-light book titled "Secrets of Our Earth" by Carron Brown, with the help of her son Sawyer. The students enjoyed seeing the secrets the flashlight revealed.

Library Link

Hello RTPS! This month at the TRE library we hosted our Fall Scholastic Bookfair. We were open from Monday the 20th in the afternoon to Friday the 24th after school. Thank you to everyone who stopped by to check it out! Be sure to keep a look out for our special Bookfair in the spring.

This month in the library we have learned about the parts of a computer, had a lesson on cyberbullying, had a short week were we reading There Was an Old Lady Who Swallowed Some Leaves and the upper grades played Dewey Decimal Bingo. The week of the Book fair, the students came in to shop during their scheduled library lesson time, and the last week we read There Was an Old Lady Who Swallowed a Bat.

Our most popular books this month have been:

- The Dog Man series (any and all of the books)
- Owly Flying Lessons
- Are You Ready to Play Outside? By Mo Willems
- The Babysitters Club (Graphic Novelization)
- The I Survived Series

Please don't forget that we will have the Bookmobile visiting us from the Dickinson Area Public Library on November 4th, so be sure to bring your Dickinson Library books back on that day and put them in the correct bin in your classroom. Mrs. Lindsey Gullickson will oversee the Bookmobile this month.

The Eyes Have It

Ms. Frank's Anatomy class dissected eyeballs as part of learning about the nervous system. This dissection helped students understand the structure and function of the nervous system by allowing them to see how sensory organs connect to the brain. They observed parts including the lens, retina, optic nerve, iris, and cornea.

Richardton-Taylor-Hebron JH Football…. Go Raiders!!

The 2025 Junior High football team had another fun and exciting season. The Raiders were given an opportunity to play a lot of football throughout the season. Playing four games and three jamboree scrimmages.

On Tuesday, August 25 we hosted Hettinger-Scranton for the first game of the season. The game was close for a quarter, but the Night Hawks pulled ahead and never looked back. The Raiders played hard but were defeated 50 to 20. The Raiders then traveled to Beach on Monday, September 2. RTHS had a lot of success early and scored often. They played good defense and won the game 42 to 26.

Monday, September 8, the Raiders were on the road again to New England, they played a 3-team jamboree scrimmage. Hettinger County (Mott, Regent and New England) and Beach were the opponents for RTHS. It was a chance to work on their teamwork, skills and fundamentals. We were very competitive against the Huskies and the Buccaneers.

RTHS then hosted a jamboree against New Salem and Hettinger County on Monday, Sept. 15. The Raiders had another opportunity to work on their offense and defense and played very competitive football. On Friday, September 26 we traveled with the varsity team to Fort Yates to play the Standing Rock Warriors. The Raiders raced to a big lead and played outstanding defense and defeated the Warriors 27 to 6.

RTH was back on their home field on Monday, Sept. 29 to host another 3-team jamboree with Beach and New Salem. The Raiders battled hard and played a lot of competitive football that afternoon.
