A Note from Mrs. Izquierdo

Dear Lomira Elementary and Theresa Learning Community Families,

You are your child's first and most important teacher. One of the best ways to help your child learn is to share stories and words together at home. When children hear stories, talk with the grown-ups in their lives, and spend time with books, they learn new words, build their imaginations, and get ready to become strong readers. Most of all, they learn that time with you is special.

There are many ways to share stories and to read together. You can read a book together, look at the pictures and make up the story as you go, or tell your child stories about when you were growing up. Stories and books in any language are wonderful for your child's learning. You can also talk together while you cook, drive, do chores, or take a walk. Ask your child questions like "What do you see?" or "What was the best part of your day?" Your child can read to you, and listening to audiobooks together is another fun option.

Our school library and any of our public libraries are great places to find books and audiobooks for your family to enjoy. Magazines, recipes, signs, and even cereal boxes are fun ways to practice words too. If you'd like book suggestions or ideas for reading at home, please reach out to your child's teacher or to me. We love partnering with our families and are always happy to help.

Warm regards,
Shannon

Going Home with Friends & Transportation Reminders

A quick reminder for families regarding changes to your child's end-of-day plans: If your child is planning to go home with another student, we need communication and consent from both families before the change can be approved. Please make sure both parents/guardians have contacted the school with their permission.

Also, if your child will not be riding the bus home as usual, please be sure to communicate that change with your child's teacher, bus driver, Sara Drews, and the school office. This helps us make sure everyone has the same information and that your child gets home safely. Thank you for helping us keep dismissal safe, organized, and running smoothly!
