...and Life to go

“ . . . And Life to Go” at Fairview

Life can be perceived from many different aspects. The juniors, sophomores, freshmen have some of their “ . . . Life to Go . . . ” at Fairview High. This short time in high school could be considered a small lifetime to some, but to others it only seems to last an instant. Underclassmen, enjoy life at F.H.S. while you can because tomorrow you'll be seniors contemplating where your life is going after high school.

It seems like yesterday when the class of 1990, first walked down the halls of Fairview to start their high school careers. The memories are still fresh in their minds of their first bonfire, scavenger hunt, and dance. Ask any senior about their being “initiated” and they'll know it as if it happened a few moments ago. Looking down the halls, a lifetime was experienced through laughter, friendship, and lots of hard work. As the class of 1990 walks down the halls one last time, they walk into their new lives of college, careers, or the military. As for the underclassmen they still have lives to go at Fairview it's their turn to make the memories. Story by K. Skerlong & E. Lampe

Another Day at Work

You've finally hit that wonderful age. You can drive and know you can finally get a real job. Many Fairview students have been hitting the job market to help find a way to pay for the many things a teenager may need: a new car a way to pay for college, a new sweater or just to know that you have it. Many types of jobs are available for those who aren't quite sure. You can be a lifeguard, work for a fast food chain or department store, paper carrier, babysitter. Find the one that suits you the best.

Working can be a big responsibility and may take away a lot of the things you like to do with friends. School work will also become more difficult. It means less time to study for tests or write that big term paper due next week. Having a job isn't all bad when you stop to think of the self-satisfaction it will bring. Good luck and happy job hunting!

Love has so many meanings. You can love your girlfriend, boyfriend, or best friend. Friends whether they are girls or boys were an important part of our lives at FHS.

Best friends spend much of their time together. Going to the movies, to the beach, shopping at the Mall, or just hanging out were some of the ways friends spend time together.

Big Bro, Big Sis

The "Big Brother and Sister Program" began last year. Last years program was a great success in spite of the fact it began late in the year. The student council devised the program to try and ease the shock of the new environment some new students experience. Here's what some students said in response to various questions about the program:

What do you think of your little brother/sister?

"I like her because she already worships me!" -Pete Dennis

"I don't know, she left me!" -

Matt Gleason

"Heather is a great little sister and Kim is pretty cool too."

Seen on the Runways of Fairview High

Because of the recent change in the dress code at Fairview, dressing for school this year was different. Students were not allowed to wear ripped or holey jeans, T-shirts promoting beer or cigarettes, hats, Spandex, or athletic shorts. How you dressed classified who you were, it was easy to see who was friends with whom by how they dressed. Fashion was very diversified this year. Girls dressed up more often for school than the guys. Patterned sweaters, long, flowing skirts, short mini skirts, bermuda shorts, and harem pants were the fashions that defined the year. Guys favored a more casual look of jeans, T-shirts, and sneakers. And, of course, the back pack was the accessory necessary to pull together "the look" at Fairview.

Skateboarding & Snowboarding RAGE at FHS

There are many activities that are not perceived as sports in everyday conversation at FHS. Two of these sports are snowboarding and skateboarding. Both of these sports require extreme coordination and balance. The first of these sports, snowboarding, is being practiced weekly by FHS students. Snowboarding is a combination of surfing, skiing with tricks taken from skateboarding. This sport is very strenuous for the novice, but is very easy to pick up with practice.

Skateboard is very similar to snowboarding with the major difference being the terrain and the use of wheels and griptape compared to lamination and bindings. Skateboarding primarily takes place during the summer months and is performed on man made ramps or on the streets. Skateboarding is realitvly hard to pick up and can take years to achieve expertise. In both sports, the more style you show, the more control you exert, the better you will become. -Story by Mykul Young

Homecoming '89: A Week Like No Other

The homecoming festivities this year started off with a 20-16 junior win over seniors in the Powder-Puff football game. The Powder-Puff game, new this year, gave the girls a chance to show their stuff in the mud and cold weather.

During the week the students showed up dressed in a variety of styles. It started with inside-out day and continued with grub day, where the students could wear the infamous ripped jeans and head coverings; next was career day. Thursday was dress-up day and the week finished with school-colors day.

The classes diligently worked on locker bays, floats, and homeroom doors. In the locker bay competition, the juniors took the win. The seniors took first on the float and door decoration contest. Overall, the juniors came out ahead, winning an extra half-day off of school.

Friday night started with a parade in downtown Fairview. The parade included the marching band, cheerleaders, class floats, and the homecoming court.

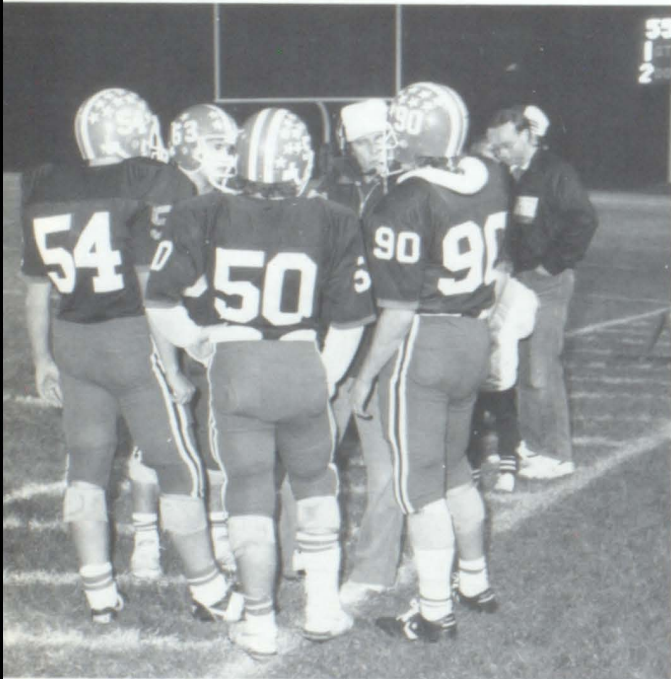

The game was very close; at the half the score was 21-14 with the Braves ahead. During the halftime show the homecoming court was presented. Amy Godfrey was crowned Homecoming Queen 1989 and Janel Niebauer was runner-up. The game concluded with a miraculous field goal by Chris Eddy in the final few seconds for a 23-21 come from behind victory over the Braves.

The festivities were concluded with the dance on Saturday night. D.J.'s from JET-FM 102 provided the entertainment.

Football Cheerleaders: "The Moo Crue Rulz"

The spirit of the football cheerleaders was enormous this season. Their hard work started over the summer at cheerleading camp and continued on throughout the season. The cheerleaders had fun decorating lockers, team rooms, and football players' houses, planning pep rallies, and, most of all, spreading the school spirit throughout Fairview.

Denise Renz stated, "We've had a good time cheerleading with the Juniors and we are looking forward to the basketball season." The senior cheerleaders all agreed that "The Moo Crue Rulz 89-90." Senior football player, Chris MacGregor, said the general thought of the other football players is, "They support us and do much for us, like on Thursdays, they decorate the locker room and make pep signs. The cheerleaders dedicate so much time. They're really appreciated." by Sheryl Szymczak

The F.H.S. Basketball Cheerleaders: The G

The basketball cheerleaders have had a very exciting season. This year was the first year the varsity cheerleaders participated in competition. The competition was held at the Hammermill Center of Gannon University, which provided the cheerleaders with new ideas for mounts and cheers.

The girls were able to raise some money in order to provide the players with candy bags for secret cheerleader week, to buy decorations for lockers and the team room, and to send themselves to cheerleading camp this summer. They spent a week learning new ways to involve the crowd and instill some excitement in the halls of Fairview High. The squad was able to be competitively successful this year due to some of the techniques they learned at camp. Perhaps the cheerleaders are entering a new era where they can compete more and more. This group has made the first step towards making cheerleading more competitive and rewarding.

Girls' Softball: A Hit Above the Rest

Katie McConnell tries to tag the runner.

The girls' varsity softball team ended the season with a record of five wins and sixteen losses. Though somewhat disappointing, the season taught the girls a lot about working together as a team. "Our record doesn't show how good we really are. Mental errors caused most of our losses. We only lost two seniors last year and if we stick together, we should surprise a lot of teams in the ECL," says junior outfielder Debbie Chorney. Jen Brinling, junior pitcher explains, "At the beginning of last season, we had a lot of inexperience and it showed; but toward the end of the schedule, we began to improve immensely. This year we're going to be awesome!"

The team was led this year by Mr. Drabina, Mr. Williams, and Mrs. Magraw. Captains Terra Mihalak, Tina Archer, and Katie McConnell helped keep the girls' spirits up and pushed them to give 100% to everything that they did. The hard work proved successful by showing through in many hard fought games. The highlight of the girls' season was a 9-0 shutout over Corry. That was the game in which Tina Archer hurled a no-hitter. Because only two seniors were lost, the team has a strong nucleus to build upon in the following years. Junior second baseman Diana Gilkinson has high hopes for this year's team: "As last year ended, we began to look a lot better. This year I feel we will have a good shot at the ECL title."

Coach Gerald Drabina also has high expectations for upcoming seasons: "We were young and restless this year. I hope this experience will make this year a better season. Good luck to the Tiger girls' this season."

DIG IT! DIG IT! YEAH!

It takes a good vertical jump, quick reflexes, and sound judgment to play volleyball. Despite their record, the girls volleyball team works hard and has fun. New players learn basic skills while the veterans sharpen theirs. Miss Shadle feels the team worked well together in spite of the many new additions who had no experience. "This year's team was very unified. We progressed throughout the season and expect a strong team next year." For next year's varsity team, five juniors, Jen Brinling, Kelly Schreckengost, Amy Curran, Renee Gray, and Sheryl Szymczak, will provide a strong base. With hard work and determination, next year's team should be impressive.

With a new coach, Mr. David Double, the girl's basketball team started the year off with determination. The team had four returning seniors and three juniors. Although the girls had only four wins, in several games they came extremely close to winning. Each game showed improved play, especially on defense.

Girls Go the Distance

This years' Girls' Cross-Country Team exceeded their own expectations. They went more than the distance to make a very successful season. Captain Leanne Clark said, "This year many runners came close to making the All-County team. Next year, I'm sure the team will be at the top of the county."

This years' Girls' Cross-Country Team members were: Merelyn Clark, Chandi Rao, Kimberly Karp, Katherine Skerlong (Captain), Mollie Grimm, Rebecca Jones, Kirsten Lucht, Kelly Spickard, Lindy Conner, Heather Jessep, Leanne Clark (Captain), Shyla Rao, Amy Lamneck, Stefanie Harkless.

Our Guys Go the Extra Mile

This year the Boys Cross-Country Team went the extra mile, placing much better than expected with such a young team. Captain Mike Shostek said, "I'm really proud of our team. We worked hard, and it paid off."

Swimming and Diving: Making A Big Splash!

The Fairview High School Swim Teams made quite the "splash" this season. Both the girl's and boy's team had successful seasons. The girl's were lead by their captains: Gretchen Jensen and Julie King to finish 1st in the E.C.L. with 6 wins and 0 losses. The Boys' were also lead to victory by their captains, Jay D'Ambrosio and Nick DiFonzo, as the team experienced one of their best seasons yet. The Boys' finished with an overall record of 6 wins and 4 losses. The Boys' owe some of their good fortune to their quintuple record breaker,

The 1989 Fairview Tiger Football Team had an extremely productive season this year. Although their season was full of adversity, the Tigers never quit fighting. The Tigers started at a disadvantage. They were without a home field, as it was being renovated with a new drainage system. The Tigers were forced to play at arch-rival Girard's home field. The Tigers never had a real "home field advantage." There were numerous injuries that did not help, but the underclassmen did a "class A" job filling in for their injured teammates.

The season started out with a 35-0 rout of the Corry Beavers at Girard's Memorial Stadium. This gave the Tigers a lot of confidence which carried through the remainder of the season. When the Tigers tied the General McLane Lancers, Coach Bestwick decided to put the Tigers on a strenuous conditioning program that whipped the Tigers back into shape. The very next game against Girard on Girard's field, the Tigers showed that they were no slouches with a 27-0 win in the worst weather of the season. Two games later, the Tigers played the toughest team in the league, the LeBoeuf Bisons. The Tigers played a good game, but the Bisons came out on top. This turned out to be the only Tiger loss of the regular season. The most exciting game of the entire season was the second real home game at Keck Field. It was homecoming for the Tigers and they really gave the crowd a nailbiter. The game was close from the beginning, but the most exciting part of the game came at the end. The Tigers had the ball with only a couple minutes left in the game and Iroquois was ahead 21-20. Fairview drove down the field successfully, milking the clock for all it was worth. With about no time remaining, the injured Chris Eddy kicked the winning field goal. The Tigers then went into the playoffs for the District Ten title. The Tigers won their first game against Cambridge Springs but lost to eventual State Champion Hickory High School to be denied the District title. Sometimes a starved animal whose home is taken away will fight back to get a bigger piece of the pie. The 1989 Tigers were a starved, homeless animal. They did indeed rise to the occasion to carry the team farther than any Fairview football team in playoff history.

J.V. & Freshman Football: Here They Come

The Fairview freshman and J.V. football teams had extremely successful seasons this year. This was due to the rigorous workouts and team cohesiveness of the two teams. The J.V. team was very competitive throughout the season. The one disadvantage the team had was that all of their games started early in the morning the day after the Varsity games. This did not hinder their performance at all, though. Another good thing about the J.V. season is that the players learned a lot from the upperclassmen that will help them in their remaining seasons at Fairview.

The freshman football team had an extremely successful season this year. The freshman team went undefeated in six contests. The team was packed with talent this year as well as size. The team also had a lot going for them in their attitudes. Coach Rick Graziani said, "It was a basically good season. Overall, if this group stays together and works hard, they have the potential to be really one of the best groups to come out of Fairview High. They are a cohesive group and really seem to care about each other. That's really important."

Top- Freshman griders, I'm sure they're having loads of fun running their sprints.

Varsity Soccer Team in Top 8 in the State

The 1989 Fairview Varsity Soccer Team came very close to achieving their number one goal for this season, to be the state champions. A loss to Peter's Township, the defending state champs, in the quarter state finals thwarted that goal for this year. The team had an outstanding effort from junior, Nick Scott, who set a new school record with thirty-seven goals for the season. Nick also made the All-State Team. "I worked very hard all season, but making the team was still a big surprise; I can't take all the credit. The team had a lot to do with it. Many of my goals wouldn't have been made if it weren't for countless perfect assists from my teammates. Also, I know I wouldn't have made All-State if it wasn't for the great success of our team all season," exclaimed Scott. The team also had six players that made District First Team including Senior Captains Marc Zone and Jason Rogers; and Pete Zone, a junior, who all made first team in 1988 as well. Making the team for the first time were Nick Scott (Junior), Jonathan Chase (Senior), and Scott Beach (Junior). Also receiving honors for District Second Team were Hagan Hetz (Junior) and Eric Marsh (Junior). Honorable Mention went to Travis Halmi (Senior), Matt Liebenritt (Junior) and Jeff Shelley (Senior). With many young stars and two returning All-County First Team selections, next year's team looks very promising. Hopefully, the 1990 Boys' Soccer Team will go into the next decade on a good foot, by accomplishing the unfinished goals of this year's team. This year's team had a taste of success, for the second year in a row; undoubtedly the next season's team will go to the State Quarter Finals again next year, and then make it all the way to be State Champs. Coach Double thinks they can do it and so do the Fairview Fans!

Agility, speed, and skill make-up a successful team and our Girls' Tennis Team have all three. Their undefeated record proves that hard work and determination really did pay off. Kristi Liebau explains, "We had a very successful season. We were extremely disappointed that we couldn't compete for the Metro title, but we are looking forward to the return of four out of five of our top players next season." Talley Sjoberg (above left) and Kristen Gieringer (above right) are two of those returning players. Our two senior players are pictured directly above: Kym Bincarowsky and DeAnne Gieringer.

As all the Boys Tennis Team Members would agree, last season was awesome! During the 1989 season, the team worked hard, and it paid off. Joe DeSanto, Sean Taylor, Chad Gerrety, Jonathan Chase, Nick Scott, J. Brian Foht, Jason Rogers, Brian Carlson, Craig Lunger, Alan Wong, and Vivek Nadkarni made up the killer team that went to the E.C.L. Championship match. Revenge was sweet when the team beat General McLane to win the title. Jonathan Chase, Chad Gerrety and Joe DeSanto then went on to States. Throughout the tough competition, the team never lost hope. With this winning attitude, next year's team should do as well as this year's did, maybe even better!

by Amy Curran

"1989 was probably the best team we've had while I've been here. We sent Jonathan, Chad, and Joe to states and dominated the ECL. We looked good to boot." -J. Brian Foht

"It was a fun experience, and I enjoyed playing in the ECL championships!" - Jason Rogers

"I enjoyed defeating General McClane for the ECL Championship and avenging our losses to them in the '88 season. It also was great fun going to states with Chad even though we did not fair too well." -Jonathan Chase

Girls' Soccer Making Goals

This year our Girls' Varsity Soccer Team made many goals to end the season a half point away from participating in districts. The team did much better than they had expected, despite many injuries. The teams' success was mainly due to good leadership, great effort, and excellent team work.

The varsity team members were Katie McConnell (Captain), Maureen Thomas (Captain), Amy Swiderski, Leslie Kindling, Kelli Linstead, Gail Younkin, Donna Nies, Coach Crowers, Titia Ferrier, Sherri Fetzner, Julie King, Jennifer Rainey, Janet Baker, Diana Gilkinson, Nicki Zito, and Asst. # Varsity Boys' Basketball: Shooting to Win

This years' Varsity Basketball Team was definitely shooting to win. Although the team suffered many injuries, they still remained very strong. Much of the team's success is due in part to long, hard practices that the dedicated team endured. The coaches have much hope for next year, especially because many promising underclassmen are returning next year. This seasons' home games were made more entertaining for the fans by the announcing of Chris MacGregor and John Langer. The Varsity team is pictured at right: front row- Eric Marsh, Mike Wassink, Chris Eddy, Nick Scott, Steve Getz; back row: Sandy Boettiger (manager), Tom Kranz, Tim Hess, Jeff Wolf, Pete Dennis, Chris Bonanti, Stephanie Chorney (manager). ## LitMag: A Phantasmagoria of Literature

The literary magazine staff proved this year that Phantasmagoria, last years breakthrough issue was no fluke. . . . Of Freedom of Expression Of . . ., released in late May, delivered on its promise of bringing literature and art to the students of FHS. Under the supervision of Vasilios Nacopoulos and C'C' Bloom, co-editors, and Mrs. Barbara Abegg, advisor, the litmag staff compiled student work from September through April, typed, illustrated, and designed the magazine. . . . Of Freedom of Expression Of . . . was also printed by the staff in the FHS graphics lab.

The Literary magazine, now in its 16th year (though there were no issues from 1977 through 1984), is finally becoming recognized as a non-sports activity to be reckoned with, and the enthusiasm is such that the magazine will continue its growth. by the Plebian-at-Large

The Challenge, with 2 exceptions, is comprised of new personnel for '90. In his 1st year as advisor, Mr. Bencivenga has replaced Mrs. Patten. Starting from scratch with a new staff has proven to be the biggest "challenge". I had no idea what to expect from my staff, because I didn't know many of them when we began. Assignments were based on experience but, as it turned out, both of our experienced editors were not compatible with the rest of the staff and left," he explained. In addition to personnel problems the staff started the year without a room. "We lost our original room to Mrs. Dartnell and the only other space available was the basketball team room. Unfortunately when the team started practicing in Nov. we had to find a new room and wound up sharing with Mr. Ziner. Finally, when the new rooms were finished we moved back into our old room 207," added Mrs. Ben. In spite of all our problems the staff has tried to bring you, what we hope, will be the best yearbook ever.

Math Contest: Competing Tough

Fairview students involved in the Math Contest meet once a month with Mrs. Olson during study hall/lunch block to compete with schools across the country in a mixture of math skills. Such courses exercised in the contest include algebra, advance topics, calculus, and geometry. Fairview has participated in this activity for three years under the leadership of Mrs. Olson, who is notorious for providing excellent munchies. Fairview is considered one of the most competitive teams in the county. Pictured in the first row are: Alan Wong, Mark Pollard, Patrick Nipper, Kristin Gieringer, and Michael Patterson. Standing in the back row are: Marty Simonsen, Vivek Nadkarni, Bill Nacopoulos, Michael Wilhelm, Stephanie Harkless, and Douglas Stewart. Missing: Jayson DePasquale.

JETs Test: Aim High

The Junior Engineering Technological Society, known as JETs, is made up of juniors and seniors testing in English, Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Math. Bill Nacopoulos, sr., explains JETs, "Students take a standardized test at Gannon in one or two of the areas. These tests are then ranked on a nationwide basis. Colleges like to see this on transcripts." ## Academic Challenge: Challenging the Mind

The Academic Challenge team is composed of students who compete for the top four positions in order to battle it out with other schools on local television. This year's Academic Challenge team, also known as High-Q, excelled to the quarter finals. Although only seven members composed the team this season, the team lost in overtime, ending a very competitive season. According to Mr. Kessler, their advisor, "The group supported each other when it was needed and since many of the students plan to come back next year, they should be as powerful as ever in the 1990 season." Sitting in the first row are: Patrick Nipper, Mark Pollard, Amy Dudenhoefer, and Conner Herr. Due to his admiration for the High-Q team Nick Scott decided to pop into their picture. Maybe next year he'll show his support in a more positive manner by actually joining the Academic Challenge team. Members in the back row are Jonathan Cooper, Gabe Oros, and Vivek Nadkarni.

Science Club: An Exciting Experiment

The Science Club is designed for those individuals who have a special interest in science. By joining the club, the members receive hands-on experience outside the classroom. ## Model U.N.: A Great Learning Experience

Model United Nations was bigger and better this year than it was in the past. Last year, F.H.S. had barely enough delegates to participate; however, this year, our delegation grew to over thirty students. With this participation, F.H.S. was able to represent two Pro-Communist Bloc Countries, Afghanistan and Finland. Topics were Security for International Travel, Human Rights of Children, Refugees, Global Warming, Performing a piece for speech requires deep thought, depth of emotion, and a flair for the dramatic. Under Mrs. Skerlong's direction, the speech team went to Philadelphia for state competition during the 1988-89 season. The team is divided into categories: oral interpretation, declamation, drama, extemporaneous speaking, and duo interpretation. The team competes at several trophy tournaments, including ones at Hickory and North Hills, before going on to the State and National qualifiers. This year, more members will be competing due to a growth in the size of the team. One member, Deena Rayokovich, says, "Speech, although a lot of hard work, is well worth the effort. Through the experience, you gain confidence and control, as well as, the opportunity to meet interesting people." Competing in speech also gives the members the chance to express themselves and overcome the number one fear in America: public speaking.

"This year's oral interpretation team is the strongest we've had in terms of numbers and quality. It has a lot of potential for the future. There are no seniors and we are still a big, strong team." - Mrs. Skerlong

Debate: A Duel of Wits

With Mr. Kessler advising, the Debate team hopes to reach Nationals. Debate consists of two divisions: Team Debate and Lincoln-Douglas. Eliminations in debate competition takes three rounds. As the debators know, one needs a sharp wit and preparation to be left standing in the competition. The team is in a rebuilding stage. They are improving the team with expectations of making States and Nationals. Senior, Chris MacGregor, says, "I'm really looking forward to this year. We are all hoping to have a good season and hoping to send a lot of debators to States and Nationals. We have some real talent on the team, including Steve Rice, Matt Gomolchek, and Hagen Hetz." So far the team has made a strong showing at their competitions.

Hola! In order to become a member of the Spanish Club, a student must be in the second year of Spanish. Members of the club sell candy as a fund-raiser to go on field trips and have banquets. The club uses their room so the language students can meet the foreign exchange students. There is a special interest in learning a foreign language, and the students do a lot of work. There are many new activities this year dealing with foreign relations. There will also be computers set up for the advanced students to communicate with students in Monterey, Mexico. Future plans may include travelling to Mexico to become acquainted with Mexican culture and to improve oral fluency.

Art Club

The Art Club is a new organization for the talented art students. Originated by Ann Buziewicz, the club is a service organization for the community. One of their major projects was building a float for the Academic Boosters Organization. The members have also made decorations for the Christmas Concert and Academic Boosters' Banquet. The Art Club is still working on getting organized, and the members feel it is exciting and a worthwhile experience.

Students Against Drunk Driving: Working To Make A Difference

For the second year S.A.D.D. (Students Against Drunk Driving) continued to teach the dangers of mixing drinking with driving. These dangers were taught to the students by two activities, Red Ribbon Week and the White Out.

During Red Ribbon Week, students were to pick up a red ribbon from the nurse's office to show that they were not going to drink and drive. The White Out, a national activity, was used to show the students of F.H.S. the dangers of drinking and driving. Every twenty minutes a student was called down to the nurse's office to get their face painted white, symbolizing a death.

Although these activities were successful, it is not easy to teach the dangers of driving drunk, for many of our role models (i.e. sports figures, actors, etc.) glamorize the dangers notoriously. Students who can be taught the dangers will, indeed, "have life to go."

No More Fooling Around, We're Talking Serious Investing!

This year's newly founded Investment Club brought a different type of education to Fairview High School students. Members of the club paid an entry fee to explore the stock market. While watching their stocks rise and fall, many students discovered what the real business world is like.

The idea of the Investment Club was brought to the attention of Mr. Harvey Long, F.H.S.'s economics teacher, by Michael Wilhelm and Christopher MacGregor. After several meetings with a local stock broker, a contract to be signed by the student and the student's parents was drawn. After all the preliminary work was done, the Investment Club was brought to the attention of the student body.

The members of the club paid an entry fee of twenty dollars. This money was used in the purchasing of the stocks. This twenty dollar entrance fee also gave one democratic vote. All the stocks were voted on democratically.

The stocks were chosen by a committee of seven members. Although this committee researched stocks and proposed them to the club, any member of the club was allowed to propose a stock. The members of the committee used a computer hook-up with Wall Street to find the current price per share of some stocks and to find out "what the stock did" over the last year. They were also able to print graphs to show this information to the rest of the club.

The Investment Club's first year has been a shaky one. Although the stocks chosen were researched extensively, the fickle market deviated from what the club had expected. At the beginning of the year, the members of the club learned what the word "loss" meant when one of their stocks went bankrupt. In February, the club bounced back with an eight point gain on one of their stocks. Although the members might not make money, they have learned how the stock market works.

Exchanging More Than Just Notes

The band, under the direction of Ms. Karen Tribble, had a busy year. The Marching Band had a good season, competing in four competitions, including the LMBA Championship, where they placed fifth out of ten band competing. The Concert and Jazz bands participated in two concerts: the annual FHS Christmas and Spring concerts. In March they travelled to IUP for an adjudication ceremony. Three concert band members were honored by qualifying for the All-District Band held in Meadville: Kristen Weislogel, Stephanie and Debbie Chorney. Kristen and Debbie also qualified for Regionals with Kristen going all the way to All-Eastern. Larry Mroz and Jennifer Biggie went to All-Star Band at Kent State. # Quill and Scroll Honoraries

Quill and Scroll is an honorary award bestowed upon those students who have been members of a school publication for at least two years. These students must also excel academically by maintaining a B+ average and being ranked in the top one-third of their class. Students who meet the required qualifications, must then be nominated by their publications advisor for the Quill and Scroll honor. Fairview High School Quill and Scroll Honoraries are then presented their certificates and membership pins during an assembly in the late spring of nineteen eighty-nine. Missing: Megan McGowan for the Challenge (Yearbook). Also not pictured are the Quill and Scroll honoraries of the nineteen eighty-nine graduating class.

National Honor Society

Many students work hard to be inducted into the National Honor Society, but only a select handful are chosen to join. To become a member, a student must maintain a 3.25 grade point average and have a recommendation form filled out by teachers of their choice supporting their N.H.S. membership. These recommendation forms are then evaluated by a committee of administrators and teachers. The selected students are inducted into N.H.S. during an assembly in the late spring.

Student Council: Students Hard at Work

Fairview's Student Council was kept very busy during the 1989-1990 school year. Student Council worked their hardest to make this year one to remember. Many dances were held and many assemblies were put on because of our dedicated Student Council. New students were welcomed with a "Big Brother" or "Sister" to help them in their new environment because of Student Council's Big Brothers and Sisters Program. Another big project for this year's council was when Fairview hosted this year's Pennsylvania Association of Student Councils (P.A.S.C.) meeting in October, in which over forty schools participated. After the P.A.S.C. meeting, Student Council sponsored a unique after school dance hosted by

D.J. Joel Miller, for the P.A.S.C. participants and any F.H.S. student wishing to attend. As Christmas approached the activities multiplied. Student Council held their annual food drive, in which Mr. Laska's homeroom won by a landslide. In addition to food being donated, a new "Mitten Tree" was developed so the student body could donate winter clothes for the needy. Other Christmas activities were the Adopt-A-Grandparent Program, Secret Santa's for the Teachers, and the Christmas Kisses sale. Because of these and many other important activities, Student Council drastically improved our school and community.

English Skills Taught In Writing Lab

The writing lab at FHS is in its second year. This is a new lab designed to help students. One way is to help students in practical, academic, or honors classes to enlighten them on English this year. ## A Reason To Talk

Did you ever stand in front of a class and try to give a lengthy speech; but your hands were too sweaty, you got dizzy, or your knees just wouldn't quit wobbling? Well, if you have, then the speech class is the class for you. The class is offered the first semester of every year. The classes are designed to train students in public speaking and many other areas.

In class the students learn to do impromptu speaking, demonstrations, and speeches. The class gives you courage to express yourself in front of friends or just people around us. Mrs. Skerlong (speech instructor), says, "Learning to speak publicly is important; you can benefit from it in the future." Story Written By: SB be a stressful year, Chris MacGregor said.

According to Mr. Kissman, guidance counselor, many colleges held mini-seminars to help the students get acquainted with the schools.

"I went to a couple of meetings. They were really helpful," Bill Nacopoulos said. Another way to get acquainted with a particular college is to go for an interview. "It's hard to guide a student into a direction he's not sure he wants to go . . . there are so many factors involved," Mr. Kissman added.

Advanced Placement European History Class Getting College Credit during High School

Advanced Placement European History is a weighted course taught by Mr. Kessler for a twelfth grade Social Studies credit. The class is taught as a "college" type course rather than a high school level course. At the end of the year, the of extra homework involved, mostly reading and taking notes. "Although there is a lot of extra work involved in this course, I feel the outcome will be to my advantage," says senior Stephany Harkless. Most colleges are interested in stu-

Freshman and Sophomore Honors Road Trip To Canada

On May 4, Mr. Kessler and a few select chaperones accompanied a group of Honors 9th and 10th graders to Canada. After many hours on the bus, the weary travelers arrived at the Hotel Loews de Concord, their hotel in Quebec City. After freshening up, the students had a tour of the Diorama, a light and sound show of the 6 sieges of Quebec. During their 2nd day in Quebec, the group ventured up the Beaupre Coast for lunch at Baker's Inn, after visiting Atelier Pare's wood-cutting studio, the Ste. Anne Falls, the Montmorency Falls, and the famous Church of Ste. Anne de Beaupre. On their 3rd day they toured the famous La Citadelle and Le Vieux Point. After touring, everyone enjoyed dinner at La Cremaillere and dancing at the Gatsby. discussing, and analyzing their ink blots. Each student made their very own ink blot by haphazardly placing black ink on one side of a folded white piece of paper. The student then proceeded to blot the ink until they decided that they had an interesting enough design. Then for homework, each psychology student had to ask twenty different people what that person thought of the ink blot. The next day, the seniors told the class of their results and the class then tried to analyze why each person said what they did. Thanks to Mrs. George, the whole lesson was a welcomed change from daily class work.

Advanced Biology Plays With Rats and Chicks As A Learning Experiment

Mrs. Henry supervised Advanced Biology students in the study of young rats and chicks. The purpose of both projects was to observe behavioral changes in animals. The purpose of the study of rats was to watch the growth and development of the young. The

Ninth Grade Biology Kids Catching On

Every Biology student has had the opportunity to collect insects. Mr. Granat and Mr. Bischoff make sure of that. For three weeks one can see Biology pupils tripping about with bug nets, classification books, and display cases. The collections are graded on the number of insects collected by each individual student, number of orders, percent identified, and the general appearance. The purpose of this project is to give the students an introduction to zoology and environmental awareness. Hopefully, this project will influence the students to pursue science-related careers or just learn about the different species sharing their world. Many of the students feel that the bug collecting project is a fun chance to get outside and away from the usual classroom work.

Anatomy Class: Dissecting Cats For Some Fun!

Participants in the anatomy course taught by Mrs. Henry, dissect cats during the second semester. Throughout the first semester, students learn the parts of the body and their functions. By dissecting the cats they relate what they have learned to an actual body. Since cats have a structure reasonably comparable to that of humans, especially in muscular growth, the cat is a valuable visual aid. The project gives students a taste of the medical and scientific fields. Many of the students involved in this class intend to go on to medical or other health related careers. -A. Curran

High School with the New Computer Lab Wave of the Future Arrives at Fairview

Many teachers are taking advantage of the new IBM computers by bringing students in to work on mathematical as well as literary applications. Classes such as Techniques in Writing, Advanced Topics, ECT English, and Advanced Biology frequently use the computer lab. Mrs. Abegg, English department, states, "The computer lab is invaluable. For example, in teaching writing, the use of a word processor makes the process of revision easy and profitable. Students do not complain paper home for an endless weekend of trying to correctly type out a paper on their father's pre-1970 typewriter, only to have it fall in snow on the way to school Monday morning.

In conclusion, Chris Bloom believes "that the IBMs are an essential part of putting out the Lit Mag because the new computers can store 3 times more information than the word processors."

Story by Marlene Lehman

Nick Armano sports a look of confusion after his instructor gives him direction for his new computer assignment when I ask for revision, an important step in the writing process." Although there currently is no teacher in charge of monitoring the computer lab, the staff and students take excellent care in handling the new hardware and software.

Students are able to use the thirty IBMs at their leisure for just about anything they need. They appreciate not having to take an essay or term

Accounting: Math Or Business Credit?

Should accounting classes be counted as a math or business credit? That is the question many students and faculty members are asking. Currently, an accounting credit is counted as an extra math credit, beyond your required three years of math. Most students believe that accounting should be counted in place of one of these math credits. The class is taught by Mrs. Graziani. She teaches the accounting classes how to use math for business and how to keep accurate records of transactions. However, most of these transactions require some difficult math calculations. Students also learn how to use computers and complex adding machines. Since, so much tedious mathematics are constantly used, many believe accounting should be a "real" math credit not a just an elective.

PA Free Enterprise Week: What An Enterprising Idea!

For twelve years students from Fairview have participated in the Pennsylvania Free Enterprise Week (P.F.E.W.) during the summer vacation. P.F.E.W. is a one week program, which introduces students to any capitalist's dream. It was designed to educate the participants about the workings of business in the free market system. During the week, the students simulate the operations of their own imaginary corporations. They are faced with the same problems any new executive would face in the first three years of operation in the real world of business. While addressing the major issues in a private enterprise, the students learn to make wise economic judgements, with a little help from their sponsors. P.F.E.W. students learn that economics and knowledge of economics is an essential to learning any person who wishes to survive in the American Market System.

Foreign Culture

French Mini-Week

Every year the French students participate in French Mini-Week. The purpose of this activity is total cultural immersion. For one week the students experience French food, history, and language. French Mini-Week begins at the airport. They learn how to fill out a passport and board a fourth day are spent touring France. They stop at many of the well known cultural areas of the nation. Here students present projects. These may include other topics like fashion, politics, and possibly religion. At times they will explore in depth the local, native food or culture. ## Foreign Culture

German Trip

During Easter vacation a group of thirteen German students with their teacher Mr. Burns left Fairview for an eight day tour of Germany and Switzerland. After the plane landed in Frankfurt, the group's next stop was Rothenburg to enjoy its medieval walls, watchtowers, and merchant houses. Next, they visited Munich, where they enjoyed the Frauen Kirche, the Olympic Stadium, the Nymphenburg Palace, the Glockenspiel parade and much, much more. Then, they were off to the Newswanstein Castle and the jewel of the Habsburg, Innsbruck, where they walked through the Alps to Liechtenstein and arrived in Lucerne. Finally, in Heidelberg, the students toured the awesome Heidelberg Castle. The next morning the weary group boarded their plane back to the states with many memories.

Foreign Culture Spanish Teachers

Students at Chestnut Elementary School were introduced to the basic elements of the Spanish language. This exposure was made possible through the time and effort of Mike Wilhelm, Bill Nacopoulos, Kym Bincarsowsky, Jen Bluey, Chad Porter, and Jeff Tome. These students, under the direction of Mr. Dymski, visited classes at Chestnut and taught the younger students such things as how to count and how to say "hello" and "goodbye" in Spanish. The elementary students seemed to really enjoy learning the Spanish numbers and pronouncing the different words. The six seniors received classroom credit for their informal tutoring, but this credit cannot be compared to the sense of accomplishment the student-teachers attain. According to Bill, "I get an overwhelming feeling of joy when the young pupils finally grasp the material." This feeling was probably shared by all of the seniors. By Mark Pollard

Physical Education at Our Fairview High School: Using More Than Just Your Body

All students are required to take four semesters of physical education, one per year, to graduate. Both the girls' gym teacher, Mrs. Retkowski, and the boys' teacher, Mr. Stuyvesant, carry a wide variety of sports in their curriculum. Everything from badminton to water polo, from diving to soccer. Mrs. Retkowski is also a certified instructor in CPR and dedicates a week each semester to teaching CPR. Students who wish to be certified in CPR have the opportunity during this week.

Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors each take six weeks off from regular Physical Education for courses taught by Mr. Eddy. Sophomores receive Sex Education, Juniors learn Anatomy, and Seniors receive Family Living. All Freshman are required to schedule Health, for one semester, taught by Mr. Senger, learn how to raise a family.

A Graphic Exposure to the Art World

Have you ever wanted to make your own business card? Or print your own T-shirt? In Graphics I and II students get the chance to do just that. Graphics can be taken either by semester or by term. Students can also make note pads, flyers, and screen prints as part of the course. Graphics class is going through some changes to modernize its thrust.

"Graphics class is currently in a transitional period. We're in the process of modernizing the course content to reflect the trend in the industrial sector toward computerization. Mr. Huntley has applied for a grant to purchase another group of computers to give the school Desktop Publishing capabilities," commented Mr. Bencivenga, course instructor.

Architecture at it's Best in Fairview

Home Art is one course offered in the Art Department, headed by Mrs. Schoeller. This unique class teaches students how to draw layouts and floor plans for houses.

Students also learn about interior decorating, architecture, and the different materials used for building houses. Students are required, by the end of the semester, to build their "dream house" for their final project by using reinforced cardboard as their building materials. The first half of the semester is dedicated to learning how to design blueprints and floorplans, and the last nine weeks are spent constructing their model-size house. This course is usually offered only second semester. Other courses offered in the Art Department include; Ceramics I & II, Art I & II, and Drawing & Painting.

Child Dev.: It's Not Just A Class, It's an Adventure

Child Development is a course offered to students each semester. Taught by Miss Arnold, child development teaches students about children from pregnancy through preschool. Students learn how and when children develop skills both mentally and physically in such areas as walking, cutting teeth, and talking. What students look forward to most in this course is the preschool. Students ask relatives and friends if they can "borrow" their preschool-age children three days a week for two weeks. Preschoolers attend class Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday for each of the two weeks that preschool is run. Students get to work with the children, and on Monday and Friday, the students prepare and plan the activities and snacks for the week. "It really is a lot of fun. I think you learn more this way than reading about kids in a textbook," commented Marlene Lehman, senior.

Our Faculty: What You Never Knew About Them!?!

A survey was given to the teachers, asking them to share a humorous experience with us. Here are some of them:

A couple of Mr. Ben's students were caught in the process of making counterfeit money, Mr. Servey was caught by the principal in a water battle and Mr. Ziner had a driving experience when a student had the driver training car (a brand new Corvette) stranded in a snow drift.

Several faculty members enjoyed some unusual field trips. One was Mrs. Schoeller's trip to the zoo in May, where the participants got stuck inside the main zoo building because of the rain and came back to school with zoo odor on them. Another was Mrs. George's trip to a shot-down drug smuggling plane in Columbia. Certainly, one of the great moments in Mr. Bestwick's coaching career had to be during the last few seconds of the Iroquois game when Chris Eddy's field goal won the game at the buzzer.

All the teachers have had experiences that they shared, while the students pull many outrageous stunts. The teachers are appreciated for all the time and effort they put into making our lives something better.

Seniors that leave early

Out of 153 senior students, 12% leave school early for work. These students have the responsibilities of academics plus responsibilities in the career world. They work toward their goals, saving for college, a car, or just for money.

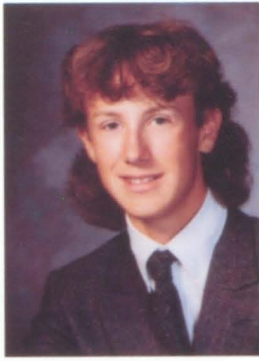

"Working is an outlet," said Steve Sanner when asked about his feelings on his job at McQuillen's Olds Pontiac. "Some people are in sports; I work." Steve summed it up best, "Working gives an experience in life to prepare me for the real world."

It takes a special ability to balance work and school, and it is hard to do, but they have proved they can handle the pressure.

How many people have exotic animals as pets? Aaron Schaefer, senior, shares his home with Tonya, a three year old tiger.

According to Aaron, Tonya is still growing. He eats five pounds of chicken and one pound of fish everyday. He weighs in at about 350 pounds right now. However, when she's full grown she will weight about 600 pounds.

Tonya, who is declawed, is very playful and loves to wrestle. "She's great to wrestle with, but she can sometimes be very stubborn. It once took us three hours to get her into our truck," exclaimed Aaron.

Having a tiger was my dad's childhood dream, according to Aaron, so we went to a place called Exotic Cat World" in Canada and bought Tonya. Aaron also has a Black Bear named Yogi. Yogi is nine years old and eats every from vegetables to pastries. According to Aaron, Yogi isn't as playful as Tonya. "He's not much fun at all, he just eats and sleeps all day," Aaron said.

Some students dream of traveling to a foreign country to study a totally different culture. Fairview had several exchange students from cultures around the world.

Milton Brunelli, a senior from Brazil, is very active in a wide range of out-of-school activities. He does everything from riding horses to practicing karate and scuba diving. According to Milton, he enjoys visiting America. "The greatest thing about the U.S. is meeting new people. I also like the parties here," Milton said.

What are you doing the rest of your life ?

If you're like most high school graduates, you're probably not quite sure. Before you decide, consider this — job opportunities in healthcare are numerous. And, depending on the field you choose, starting salaries range from $18,000 to $38,000 per year.

A career in healthcare can be exciting, challenging and rewarding. Whether you're a nurse, physical therapist, pharmacist, radiologic technologist or occupational therapist, you'll be working with highly trained professionals who are dedicated to providing quality patient care. You'll also get first-hand experience with sophisticated technology that helps to save lives.

As a healthcare professional, you'll be able to select the work environment that fits you best — be it a hospital, nursing home, clinic or physician's office. And because of the nationwide demand, you'll be able to stay here in Erie or relocate to most any part of the country.

For more information about healthcare careers and scholarships or for a personal interview, call the Personnel Department at Hamot Medical Center at 814/870-6081.

Not Really The End Because There Is Much More Life To Go . . .

It's hard to believe that after all these months the school year is finally over and this yearbook is finally completed. The vast undertaking of improving the Challenge was quite the challenge within itself. This challenge seemed to be a lot like life in some ways. The yearbook had enormous financial problems, much like the ones we face in real life. We had a very inexperienced staff and a new advisor, and within the staff many personality clashes. Working on the book, seemed to parallel life. We all have problems with our bosses and vice versa. Despite all the problems, the book has finally arrived, and it is the best we could do. We all learned that the yearbook is a lot like life; you either give it one hundred percent or lose out on success. We had to learn how to work hard to go for a better book, instead of taking the easy way out and quitting. This year on yearbook seemed to teach us a lot about ourselves and a lot about our theme. We experienced life and realized that we won't always be eighteen, but will always have " . . . And Life to Go" to remember when we were!

Mr. Dominic Bencivenga

The 1990 Challenge staff would like to acknowledge the following contributors whose efforts made our job a little easier: Julie Adams, Jennifer Biggie, C'C' Bloom, Nick DiFonzo, Lori DiFucci, Shanon Gill, Alison Hayes, Brenda Kiser, Megan McGowan, Missy McKibben, Mark Pollard, Betsy Reeves, John Suleski, and Kate Skerlong.

We would also like to thank School Pictures Inc. and Larry's Studio for their efforts in making our photos look great. Mr. Craig Witkowski of Larry's Studio was responsible for all of our group and sports photos. Great job Craig!

Lastly, we would like to express our sincere thanks to Mr. Greg Baran for donating his Wyse PC + microcomputer to the Challenge staff. Without his kind generosity we would never have been able to bring this book to life.
