

Dear Roughrider Families,

We are so excited to get the 2024-25 school year started. The expectations calendar was created to help create clear consistent expectations throughout the building and help staff members communicate to families. We are now in our second year of the behavior calendar.

The attached charts were included in the update on our school handbook that you viewed and signed off of in Final Forms. As well as at our new student orientation. If you are like me, those online forms are cumbersome and often hard to read. So here is a peek at the important pieces that you will need to know.

Some changes that go with this exciting update to managing behaviors that arise in the classroom are as follows:

- X All students will be provided a blue take home folder.
- X Calendar and stamp sheet stored in front clear pocket
- X The folder will travel back and forth from home and school so we can work together, K-1 teachers may send a picture so they don't get lost
- X WRE staff members will initial the day when issues arise
- X They will write the corresponding # and a quick description of what happened in the space at the bottom
- X The focus is on days with marks, not marks in a day. Kids have bad days.
- X Students with 3 or more marks in one day might need a timeout/office reset
- X The calendar is focused primarily on behaviors and situations that are often managed in the classroom.
- X Incidents that may require office management, or higher level, wouldn't be included
- X There is a calendar for K-2 and 3-5. While very similar there are some differences in consequences and the rate they are expected.

Students also have a stamp sheet that lives in that same pocket folder. When they turn in stamp sheets they can earn building wide prizes as well as quarterly rewards like extra recess, extra PE, a Movie day, and more! Our team is always reflecting on this process and making updates to make it better.

Highest regards,

Leah Solomon, Elementary Principal
