"I just wanted to thank the generous people for giving me the chance to get an education, my family could not afford tuition so without the support of the community, I would be sitting in a special education class right now learning my ABC's instead of learning about nuclear science. It means the world to me that strangers care about my well-being, and someday when I graduate from college, I will pay it forward and give someone like me a chance like the one I received."

Lisa (St. Rita School Student)

A miracle child

Ethan is a miracle. There's no doubt about it. From the very beginning he faced challenges most kids never have to deal with, including heart surgery when he was only 2 days old. Born with a list of issues, Ethan braved them all with that sweet, good nature that all who know him have come to love.

"Ethan seemed to be delayed in all the milestones as he grew, but when he was 14 months old, he still wasn't making any sounds. I mean no sounds. Nothing," says Katie, Ethan's mom. "No squeaks, no coos, just nothing."

When he was a toddler, mom and dad took him to a geneticist at Children's Hospital. After seeing Ethan and hearing his parents' story, the doctor recommended they send him to St. Rita School. The doctor had seen firsthand, on many occasions, the difference St.

Rita School can make in the life of a child like Ethan. On the doctor's good advice, they came for a tour of St. Rita School and enrolled Ethan in Preschool that summer at age 3.

"Coming to St. Rita School has been life changing...Totally life changing." Katie, Ethan's mom

"That was when I heard the term 'Apraxia' for the first time." Katie recalls, "Everything I learned just seemed to fit Ethan's situation." Shortly after that came the Apraxia diagnosis. "Having a diagnosis is a different kind of challenge," Katie said thoughtfully. "It's one thing to have a delay. We knew with this diagnosis it would be more of a challenge for him to overcome."

While we reminisce and celebrate our history, we also are looking to the future. We want our legacy to be strong for another 100 years.

This school year we have spent time in reflection as we reach our 100 year anniversary. What began as a dream to serve the deaf community, has grown into a remarkable education program that reaches children with varying communication challenges and their families. As our team has grown and evolved over the years, we will never forget our God-inspired roots and the heart of the priest that first broke ground for St. Rita School.

While we reminisce and celebrate our history, we also are looking to the future. We want our legacy to be strong for another 100 years. We have only begun to scratch the surface of methods to reach each individual child.

Our mission has been and will continue to be accepting, embracing, and teaching each child as they grow in their unique ways. While we will see changes in faces, building updates, and teaching techniques, we will always continue to help our students succeed and be the best they can be.

You can join us in our mission and change lives for another 100 years. Please consider making a gift, because as you can see from the past 100 years, your generosity does change lives.

Sincerely,

Gregory Ernst, Executive Director

“One thing you have to understand,” Katie continued, “is that Apraxia is frustrating for parents too. Once Ethan was at St. Rita I met lots of other parents of Apraxic children, and I learned of other resources. The support has been tremendous.”

“Ethan immediately began learning sign language, so in order to keep up with him the whole family took classes in the evenings at the school. Now my daughter teaches it to her friends at school and even to her teachers!”

“Coming to St. Rita School has been life changing...Totally life changing” said Katie, searching a second for the right words. “Ethan has a voice now. First, he got his voice through sign language, then, he found his own voice. He went from no sounds at all; to signing and showing us his personality...it is heartbreaking to not know your child’s personality at the age of 3.

He was finally communicating what had been locked up inside. Now he laughs and giggles. He asks questions and runs around the house chanting, ‘Ohio, Go Bucks!’”

“Before we came to St. Rita I had pretty much resolved myself to accept that I would never hear my son call me ‘mom.’ Now he says it several times a day, ‘Oh mom...love you mom!’”

Most moms might take that for granted. Ethan’s mom never will.

Ethan is a miracle. There’s no doubt about it.

Some people's legacies are written on monuments.
Yours can be written on lives.

Leave a legacy through a gift annuity

A gift annuity is an agreement between you and St. Rita School for the Deaf. In exchange for your irrevocable gift, St. Rita School pays a fixed dollar amount during your life and/or the life of a designated loved one. The amount you receive is determined by the size of your gift, your age and the age of your beneficiary. Your income is guaranteed, regardless of market fluctuation. A major portion of your income is a tax-exempt return of principal and the income may be deferred until a later time as part of your retirement plan.

I have never served on a board or a community foundation but I have made small charitable donations to organizations that were important to me. However, being involved in the insurance industry I have some basic understanding of estate planning. At the time I created my will I had younger children, so as a way to provide some immediate funding upon death I decided to also include important organizations as a percentage beneficiary of a life insurance policy. Also upon death a simple trust is created to benefit my children until a particular age, at which point my beneficiaries and organizations are funded through the trust's provisions. One of those organizations is St. Rita School for the Deaf.

Although I have never been able to be a major donor to any organization, I understand the importance of consistent participation and try to do my part. I recognize that my best chance of making a significant contribution will be through the legacy program like the one at St. Rita School for the Deaf. I feel it is important to give back to the community in which I have been blessed with a healthy family, love and happiness, and I hope others that feel the way I do think about what they'd like their legacy to be.

Celebrating 100 years

for the Deaf was built on the dream of a young priest. 100 years ago, a challenge by Archbishop Henry Moeller was given to a young priest, Fr. Henry J. Waldhaus to build a school for the Deaf in the Cincinnati area. Fr. Waldhaus accepted the challenge and began to dream of a school that would educate children from across the country and the world. With the help of the Knights of De l'Épée and the Saints Mary and Joseph Society, he was able to purchase 237 acres of land that would become St. Rita School.

Throughout the years, St. Rita School has embraced the same founding vision to encompass the growing needs of children, not only in the Greater Cincinnati area, but beyond. The rich history of service and unparalleled visionaries leaves an inspiring legacy that will continue to propel St. Rita School to advocate for children who need individualized instruction and direct communication.

Beginning with only eleven students and a staff of three Sisters of Charity, Fr. Waldhaus embarked on a mission which would produce the first accredited high school for the Deaf in Ohio.

As construction workers were breaking ground for two new buildings, completed in 1924, Fr. Waldhaus and the Sisters of Charity were breaking ground in their education of Deaf children. They offered an atmosphere of learning and growing which was unique to Deaf students in the Cincinnati area.

The available technical equipment of the day enabled teachers to communicate with students who existed in a silent world. Religious and social training exposed the children to ways of life essential to functioning in the Deaf world. Academic and vocational training helped the children become productive members of society. The homelike atmosphere offered camaraderie and a chance to grow and share with other Deaf children.

School took their education and newly found dreams into the world, bolstered by the care and devotion of Fr. Waldhaus and his staff, and lived lives that would have otherwise been impossible.

In 1967, Fr. Waldhaus passed away, and the dream was entrusted to his assistant, Fr. Paul Klenke. With twenty-seven years of experience as a teacher, principal, and coach, Fr. Klenke guided the school into implementing modern methods and additional extracurricular. He encouraged the students to participate in sports, supervised many capital improvements to the buildings and grounds and sought ways to provide equipment and facilities for the students. Under Fr. Klenke's leadership, students were encouraged to pursue interests including art and drama. Most importantly, during his tenure as director, Fr. Klenke developed many friendships with people, who even today, continue to support St. Rita School's mission by volunteering and initiating projects. Fundraising projects developed during Fr. Klenke's years as director, such as the 1720 Club and the Scholarship Benefit, still continue to provide funds for the school.

Fr. John Bok, OFM; Director

Upon the death of Fr. Klenke in 1981, a Franciscan Friar named Fr. John Bok was chosen to lead the school. Fr. John devoted nine years to upholding the traditions established by his predecessors, while simultaneously bringing a fresh spirit and life to the school as he directed a committed governing board and growing staff toward sound fiscal policies and a renewed relationship with the business and professional community. Fr. John's efforts with the United Way/Community Chest, and with leaders in the business community have increased public awareness about the work of St. Rita School, and have built bridges toward ongoing support needed to insure its future.

Fr. John initiated the first day school program at St. Rita School. Now nearly all the students are local, non-residents. Sign language classes for the public, guided tours of the facility and a speaker's bureau also broadened public awareness of St. Rita School during the 80's. In 1986, Fr. John spear headed a $4.8 million capital fund drive to fund the renovation of the school, the first such upgrade since its erection in 1921. The cheerful colors and brightly lit living areas reflected the children's personalities and their positive approach to living and learning.

Following the departure of Fr. Bok in 1992 the care of St. Rita School passed to Gregory Ernst. With 20 years of service as resident advisor, teacher, and principal, Greg has led the school into the technological world. The chalk and blackboards of old have given way to electronic white boards. Students develop skills and are exposed to new opportunities utilizing technology equipped classrooms that include laptops, I-pads and FM systems.

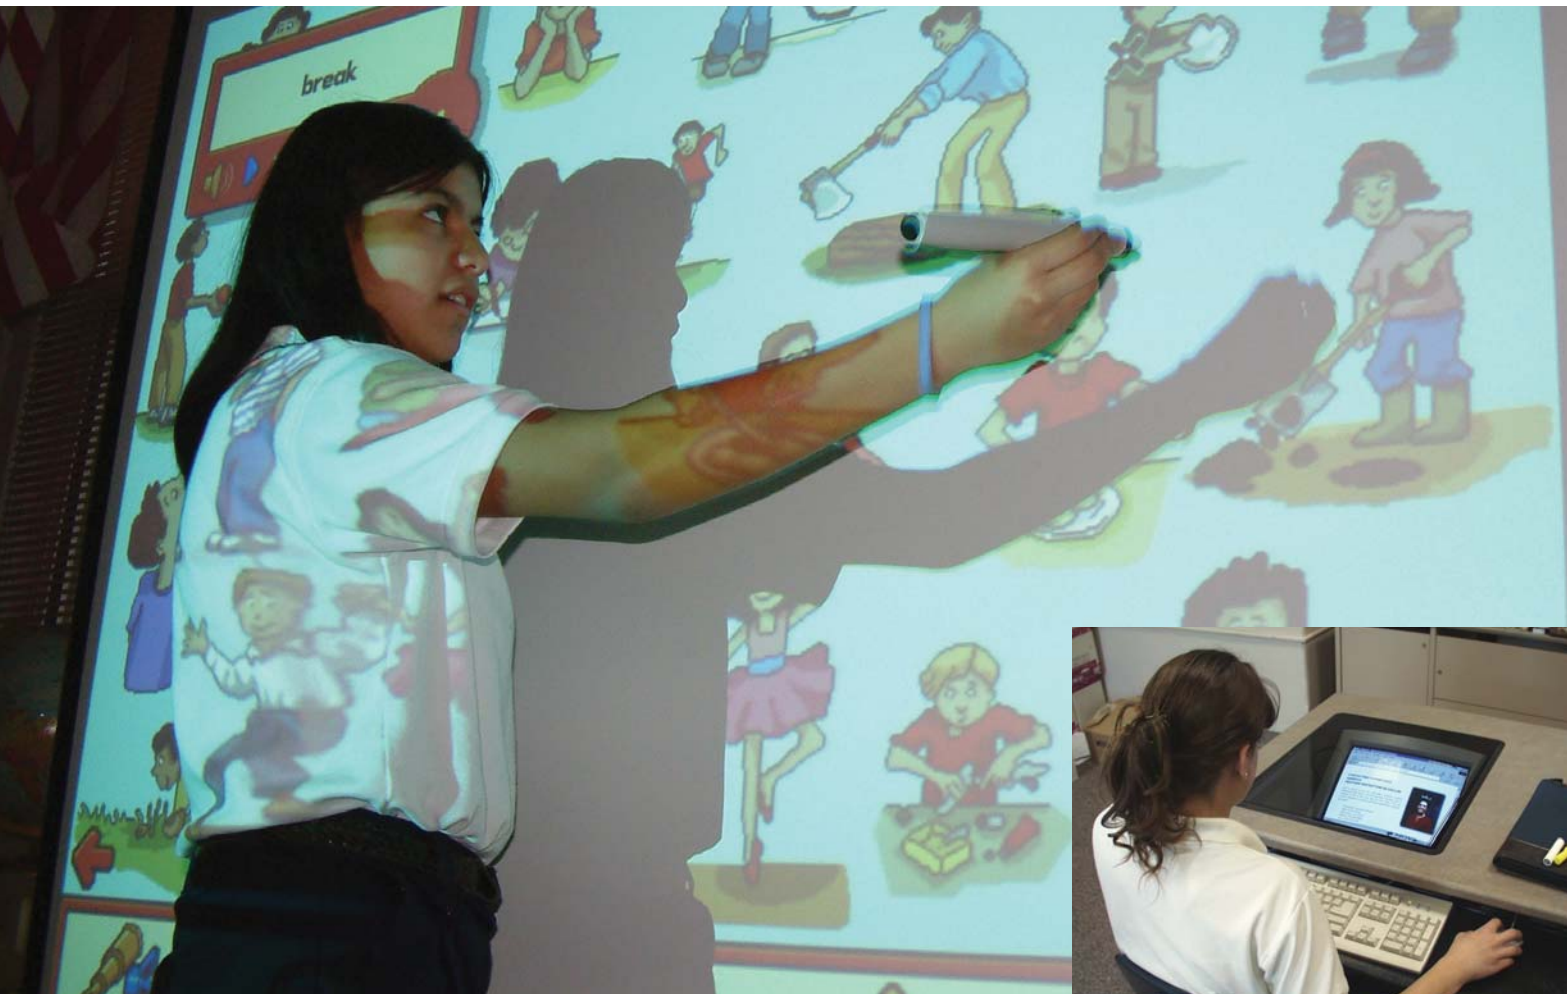

St. Rita School's LOFT (Language Opportunities for Tots) early childhood and preschool program has also flourished, starting with 12 students in 1992 to over 70 presently. Through integrating hearing children into the Deaf world, this reverse mainstreaming approach to learning benefits both hearing and Deaf children from as young as six weeks of age. Small ratios, direct communication using sign language and individualized instruction lowers the frustrations of a young child and opens up avenues to allow for development and learning to take place.

In an effort to reach students with oral and global Apraxia, St. Rita School also has developed the Sign n' Say program. As the only program of its kind in the country, it incorporates the use of sign language and individualized multi-sensory instruction, allowing for a well-rounded curriculum as well as a way of experiencing arts, athletics, social development, and community service.

The real dream of St. Rita School lives on in the future of the children. The unique environment St. Rita School offers its students encourages them to explore the world of knowledge, experience the arts and sports, learn the meaning of responsibility, develop lasting friendships, and lead productive lives. As the bright faces of St. Rita graduates enter mainstream adult life, they continue to serve as shining examples of the educational and spiritual values learned within St. Rita School's walls.

St. Rita School is about making dreams a reality for students. It was Fr. Waldhaus's dream, too. The heritage of 100 years of growth, built by the strength of its leaders, nurtured by the friendship of many supporters, and bonded in the love shared by its staff and students, lends a promising future to all who will enter St. Rita School's doors. St. Rita, saint of the impossible, has protected her namesake well.

Mya overcomes doctor's grim diagnosis

Mya has been a student at St. Rita School since she was 2½ years old. When Mya was just a baby, the only diagnosis doctors could tell her parents, Matt and Melisa, was that she was 'hearing impaired' and had low muscle tone.

When Mya was 6 months old, she was seen by a geneticist. "This was all so new to me," Melisa said, "but I needed to know what I was up against. So I asked him to tell it to me straight. What could I expect?"

His answer quickly moved Melisa to tears. They were words no mother ever wants to hear from a medical professional.

"He told me my daughter would never walk and never talk. I was shocked as I heard those words, and they slowly began to sink in. But I'm not a mom who just accepts a diagnosis like that! I worked with my baby girl every day. When she was 18 months old, we had another appointment with that doctor, and I put her down on the floor and let her walk in on her own! It was beautiful, but that was only the beginning."

While considering school options for Mya, they toured the local public school. "They told us they had a Deaf program at one of the schools," Melisa said. "When we visited, they had one deaf child. The little boy had hearing aids and an FM system. While we were there observing, his FM system quit working. As the teacher took the FM off the child she commented, 'He can't hear anyway, so what's the difference?'

"Our experience at St. Rita, LOFT and in the preschool was wonderful!" Melisa, Mya's mom

"I knew at that moment this wasn't the place for my child," said Melisa. "I was still pretty new at this, but I was sure it wasn't her place to say something like that! What I wanted to say to her was, 'Just because a child is labeled 'deaf' doesn't mean he can't hear anything!'"

"This was the 'program' they had to offer for my child." As far as her social development, Melisa remembers, "they said they would teach her classmates one sign a week and they would give every student a sign name so Mya could talk to them. I remember thinking, 'Great. In about 2 years they will be able to say one sentence to her.'"

Meanwhile, Mya had a wonderful speech therapist. "She told us from the very beginning she thought the best place for Mya was at St. Rita School," Melisa said. "So when Mya was 2 and a half, we started her in the LOFT program."

"Our experience at St. Rita, LOFT and in the preschool was wonderful! Mya came in with about 20 words, and we watched as her vocabulary grew to 30, then 50, then 100 words and more in such a short time! She had come a long, long way from the child who would never walk and never talk!

When Matt was first transferred to Ohio, I couldn't understand why God would send me to a place so far away from my home and family. Then we had Mya and I realized, we were here because God was giving us St. Rita School!"

Celebrate a special occasion, say thank you or remember an important person in your life by making a gift to St. Rita School for the Deaf in his or her name. Weddings, anniversaries, birthdays, and holidays take on a new meaning when your gift brings help and hope to families who are struggling with their child's special needs. Remembering those who have touched your life in a special way can comfort and console loved ones while also helping children to succeed in their life. People enrolled in the Memorial Program as well as the donor, are remembered at a special Mass and daily in the prayers of our students and staff.
