SCOTTS VALLEY TRIBAL TANF

Temporary Assistance for Needy Families

Scotts Valley Tribal TANF is a tribally administered, culturally sensitive self-sufficiency program serving low-income Native American families in Contra Costa County, the Scotts Valley Band of Pomo Indians members in Lake, Mendocino, and Sonoma Counties and members of Big Valley Rancheria in Lake County.

We are a family oriented program and our goals are:

- to help the adults in the family find and keep employment;
- help the family attain and maintain a life of wellness, self-sufficiency and success;
- help the family become independent from government or tribal assistance; and
- promote Native American culture and values.

We do this by providing financial assistance, career counseling, referrals and other supportive services such as education and employment training to obtain a career. We provide supportive services to children that include: homework club, college visits, sport activities, and cultural activities.
