Staff Spotlight

By: Sarah Haury, Sandi Aguilar, Karson Hall

Juggling is a skill many people don't have, but one faculty member at Union City Junior Senior High School does, and approached this skill early in his life. Mr. Loesch has been teaching at UCJSHS for two years now as a full-time teacher. Some of the subjects that he has taught are chemistry, ICP, and computer foundations. His favorite subject to teach is chemistry because it uses different concepts and many projects are involved with it. Mr. Loesch's favorite part about working here is that he is from here, so he knows a lot of people. "Knowing everybody and not just all of the teachers but the good feel because I have been here my whole life".

Being selected as a Top 10 finalist for the Lilly Scholarship made her feel incredibly happy and grateful, although she was also intimidated because she didn't think her chances were very high. Abby Zigler has faced challenges with schoolwork but always asked for help and kept pushing forward. Her parents, along with her teachers and mentors at UCJSHS, especially Mrs. Wambo and Mr. Jones, have helped keep her motivated. After graduation, she plans to study Environmental Science and eventually pursue a career in Optometry. Winning the scholarship would be an amazing opportunity to help her reach her goals. Fun fact: She has two dogs!
