FALL 2017

Fifty years ago the Kettle Moraine School District was formed.

Prior to its formation, there were 12 schools with 11 different school boards in our area that served students from Kindergarten through 8th grade. Kettle Moraine High School (established in 1965), still only two years old at that time and with its own school board, was considered a union high school that received students from the 12 schools.

On August 22, 1967, the community passed a referendum resulting in the 12 schools and Kettle Moraine Union High School joining together to become the Kettle Moraine School District.

Throughout this entire school year, we are celebrating 50 YEARS OF EXCELLENCE!

Learning without Boundaries

DISTRICT

A MESSAGE FROM SUPERINTENDENT DEKLOTZ

SUPERINTENDENT
Patricia F. Deklotz, Ph.D.

Another year of learning has begun in the Kettle Moraine School District. This year is especially notable as it's our 50th anniversary as a school district. It's a time of reflection and celebration for our entire community.

If you take a look at this Communicator's timeline of our district, I encourage you to note how important the milestones and accomplishments have been. Kettle Moraine students continue to be successful and our district receives many state and national recognitions on an annual basis. These achievements are the result of the efforts of many in our community over the last 50 years. Our reputation is built on a foundation that was established by those before us.

Our 50th anniversary only comes once. We have several events we are hosting this year to help celebrate, and we ask you to join in the festivities. We look forward to seeing you!

I want to thank every Kettle Moraine student, graduate, educator, staff member, parent, school board member, community supporter and business partner for the role you take in making our school district successful. We will continue to be focused on providing an excellent education for our students, in a fiscally responsible manner for our community. Together, we are making a difference!

Thank you for your continuing support.
Patricia Deklotz, Ph.D.

KM's 50th Anniversary Documentary Film

Striving to Attain Infinite Goals

Produced by Kettle Moraine educator Terry Kaldhusdal, "Striving to Attain Infinite Goals - Kettle Moraine's 50th Anniversary" tells the story of the early Kettle Moraine School District. From the start with pioneer schools into heritage schools and from a unified high school district to a K-12 district, Kaldhusdal shows the deep roots and rich history of the creation of Kettle Moraine.

Featuring interviews at the community, state, and national levels, the documentary displays the evolution of education, and how Kettle Moraine was affected by those advances. With the timeline of the district comes the development of the qualities it is best known for — positive character, strong community, and a focus on innovation and leadership.

Free community showings on Friday, September 29 at 4 and 5:30pm in the KMHS Library; and Saturday, October 7 at 10am, 11:15am and 12:30pm in the KMHS Auditorium. Special showings may be requested by emailing muellerm@kmsd.edu.

EXCELLENCE IN THE MAKING

THE SCHOOL DISTRICT OF KETTLE MORAINE

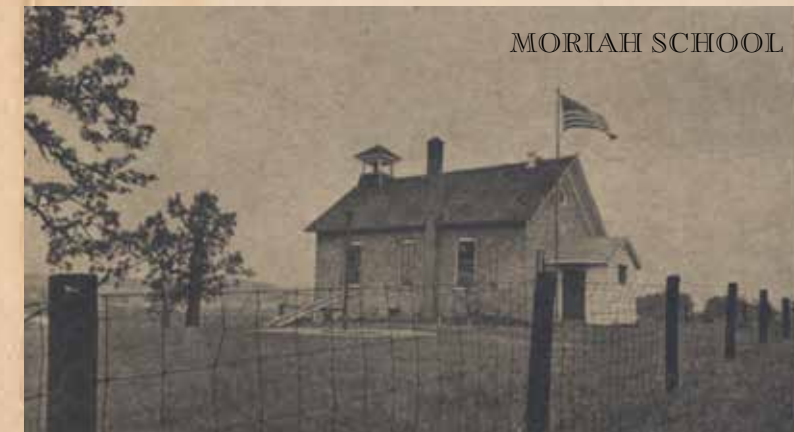

For over a century that began in the late 1840s, the "heritage" schools that comprised the West Central District of Waukesha County provided education through the eighth grade. Most students who attended these schools went on to attend high school in Waukesha or Oconomowoc.

In the early 1960s, the surrounding high schools were running out of space for students from the West Central K-8 schools. At about the same time, state legislation was passed requiring every school to be in a high school district. In 1962, the county school committee ordered the creation of the West Central High School District. A five-man high school board was elected and meetings began to discuss where the new high school should be located - either in Dousman or Wales. In 1963, the community voted on Wales, and in 1965, our high school, named Kettle Moraine by students from Cushing Elementary, opened its doors.

After the high school opened, discussions began to consolidate the elementary districts into a K-12 system. In August 1967, a referendum passed to do just that, and the Kettle Moraine School District was born.

Today, fifty years after it first formed, the district operates 10 schools in six buildings. What has been shown over time is that buildings change, but the district's vision of Learning without Boundaries remains.

"Site Fight" occurred over the location of the high school. The community argued over a site for the high school - Dousman or Wales. After contentious debate (meeting pictured above), the community voted on Wales. The district still owned land in Dousman for future school building needs.

1966
Lasers mascot adopted

The Class of 1968 decided on the name "Lasers." Two-thirds of the student body chose it over "Mustangs" or "Cougars." A committee headed by John Wyssling, student senate president, designed the school crest which featured a laser beam linking the earth and moon. It symbolizes a spirit of the unconquerable, an age of progress, and the future of teenagers. Wyssling wrote in the school paper in 1966 that while Bell Laboratory scientists were developing the laser as a communications tool, KMHS students would be "developing our own unique school." He explained that "the laser is a concentrated beam of coherent light which can overcome anything in its pathway." He also said that it showed that "our school is striving to attain infinite goals."

1970
Referendum passed - $1.5 million

After the failed referenda in 1968, a committee was formed to prepare a long range plan of district needs. They concluded a middle school would be best to alleviate the most pressing enrollment problem at the time - grades 6 - 8. Originally the middle school was to be built adjacent to the high school in Wales; however the Dousman site was more cost-effective.

1971
Kettle Moraine Middle School Opened

The school welcomed 375 students in grades 6 - 8.
