November NEWSLETTER

WHAT ARE WE LEARNING?

Reading: Extreme Weather Unit--We are reading about storm chasers, tornadoes, the four seasons, and deserts. We are focused on using text evidence to answer questions. Text structures such as description, sequence, and compare/contrast will be covered. Furthemore, we are looking at how we can use nonfiction text features to help us understand what we are reading.
Writing: Students are learning how to write opinion pieces with supporting details.
Math: Students are learning to round numbers, and how to solve 3-digit addition and subtraction problems using the following strategies: number line, place value blocks, and the algorithm.
