Magnetic letters and a metal pie plate or cookie sheet make a GREAT small group activity. Using your PM2 results put your children in 3 groups.

Each group could have different types of instruction. The developing group could sort by color, have only the letters in their name, look at letters with holes in them, etc. Higher level groups could match magnetic letters to written letters, make sounds of letters and write words. Be intentional about what each group will learn.

That was (kind, helpful, caring)!"
