Celebrate & Then What?

The end of the school year is here! With Cambridge testing underway and state testing about to begin during the first week of May, students are finishing up their requirements for the 2022-2023 school year. And that means it is time to celebrate and also reflect.

As you look back over this school year, take a few moments to consider your takeaways. What went well? What goals did you meet? What changes do you want to make for next year? Reflect upon what you learned as well as your successes and your failures. Then, think about what you want to do differently next year.

You should also celebrate your accomplishments. If you haven't already started a resume, begin to put one together and make sure to add those accomplishments from this school year to it. For those who completed a certification through a CTE class, list those on your resume. For those who were selected for the National Honor Society or elected as a class officer or presented with an academic award, list those on your resume as well. Recording those achievements will make sure you don't forget all you've done.

Some of you might be tempted at this point to throw away your notes and completed assignments, but before you do that, consider whether you might need them for future classes. Essays you wrote in English class might be of use when you begin your college and scholarship applications. Those concepts you learned in Geometry will likely be needed again in physics, art, and some of your other math classes. Saving your notes can help you when you need some background or reference information in your future classes.

Congratulations on another year done. Now, finish strong so that you can fully enjoy your summer to the fullest extent.

Happy Teacher Appreciation Week!

Show Your Appreciation

May 8 - May 12 is teacher appreciation week. During this week, please take a moment to show your appreciation for all the work your teachers have put in this year. A thank you card with a handwritten note is a great way to bring a smile to your teachers' faces. Let them know what you most enjoyed about their classes or share your favorite memory from the school year.

Here are some other fun (and even better, free) ways to show your teachers how much you appreciate them:

- If you are an artist, create a special piece for your teacher.
- If you are a writer, write a poem or story for your teacher.
- Create a playlist for your teacher.
- Create and then print a word cloud poster for your teacher.
- Print and color a coloring sheet for your teacher.
- Create your teacher awards and print a certificate for each one to display.
- Donate some time to help your teacher clean or organize their classroom.
- Create a special video message or dance or song for your teacher
- If you are a baker, make your teachers a delicious treat..

THANK YOU

Teachers and Staff

for all you do in building our learners of tomorrow...

Class of 2023 Important Dates & Graduation Information

Dear Raider Class of 2023,

With graduation right around the corner, I wanted to take just a moment to share some information with our graduates and their families. Rockledge High administration, faculty and staff are committed to ensuring the Class of 2023 is appropriately recognized for their hard work and accomplishments.

Words of Wisdom From Our Graduating Seniors to Our Underclassmen and Incoming Freshman Class

As our time with our seniors winds down, we asked our soon-to-be graduates to reflect on their time at RHS and to think about the advice they would give to our incoming freshmen Cambridge class and our current Cambridge underclassmen. Here's what they had to say:

Make mistakes and don't beat yourself up over them. Do your best but also take care of yourself.
- Tiara H.

Think long term and use this as your motivation! Think: where do I want to be after high school? The Cambridge Program is a resource, so USE IT to help you get there! That's what I've done, and now I'm able to accelerate my university education so that I begin college at a college sophomore or junior level. It will be hard, but you can do it. - Jade R.

More Words of Wisdom...

I've taken Regular, Honors, AP, IB, and AICE classes and out of those I have found AICE classes to be the best. It's a lot of work, but there is a deeper meaning and perspective to it that just makes it incomparable to other programs. I'm always shocked over how much of my knowledge from Cambridge classes I've already used in everyday life. You get a deep understanding of these subjects and it won't ever leave you, and even further, you master the skills of being a student that will make the transition to college a lot easier. So my advice is to stick with it. Sometimes the idea of writing that next paper is unbearable, but more often than that I've actually enjoyed learning about things in my classes, which is something I never really experienced before the Cambridge program. Once you get through it, you'll be grateful you did. -Jillian B.

The party life may be tempting to chase but stay clear of bad influences and people who are not around you for just you. Value yourself over anything even if it means missing out sometimes. -Nico B.

Be nice to your teachers, they are there to help you! - Tiffany R.

Use a planner and don't forget to have fun :) - Angela P.

You will never regret trying too hard as much as you will not trying enough. - Luke C.

Don't let the time fly. My biggest regret is not spending more time with my friends or even socially in general. Now that we're so close to graduation I'm like rushing to make up for so much lost time with my friends. Also don't let your grades slip. It's harder to do that towards the end when there's no motivation, but I have two classes on campus this year all because I worked so hard my past three years.

Samantha K.

Your GPA matters now! Set yourself up for success by taking your first year of high school seriously and get involved in clubs/sports. I always tell myself "I wish I would have started sooner" -Rissa H.

You will change so much through the 4 years, so don't be afraid of change. -Emalie C.

You can get bitter or you can get better. - Jacie C.

Have fun but don't blow off school work. Once you get behind, it's hard to catch back up -Zakary B.

Time management is your best friend. Do your work during school so you can have fun with everyone else on weekends, instead of cramming in last minute assignments and studying for exams. Also make sure to participate; you're only in high school once and have fun while you're here! and don't be scared to ask for help or raise your hand. - June F.

Have fun! High school goes by so quickly, but it'll be the best time of your life if you spend it wisely with the right people. - John D.

My words of wisdom for anyone wanting to join the Cambridge program is to just do it. It might seem scary, stressful and challenging. Truthfully, it is, but it is incredibly worth it. You learn so many great life skills, build friendships, and create great career and college opportunities. - Lily M.

Never tell yourself that "you can't". Even when it seems too hard, find the strength in you to strive for what you want and I promise, it will all work out in your favor in the end. -Shelby C.

You don't know whether or not you will fail or succeed so at least try. It's better to say you attempted to achieve something than gave up because you said "I can't do it" or "I'm not good enough for this".
- Abigail M.

Changing your mindset about school is very important. Instead of seeing it as draining and boring, see it as an opportunity to learn and begin to set up the rest of your life. -Kiyarra T.

Do hard work now so you can relax later; everything pays off in the end. - Aiden P.

Stick to your classes and make as many friends as you can.
-Fabian G.

Don't procrastinate.
-Trenton C. & Brianna S. & Devin M. & Naomi O'Neal & Alexa R.

You will find your group here at Rockledge high. The teachers are fantastic and truly care about their students. Being in the Cambridge program was the best decision I could make for my academic success. I love being raider and will miss Rockledge so much. Have a great time here. -Brynn C.

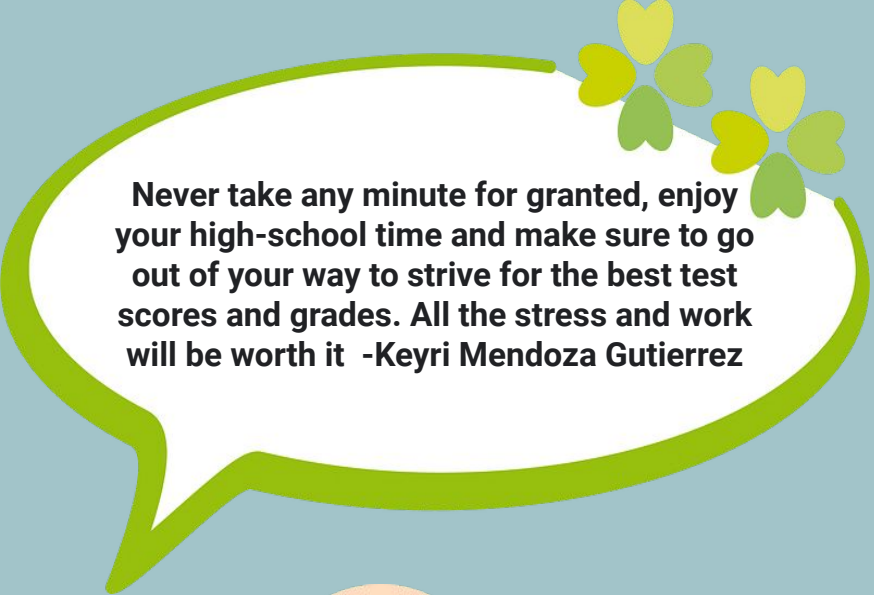

Commit.
-Timothy O.

Study hard, find your people (trust me you WILL find your people here), and engage in the community that this high school is because it only wants to see you succeed.
-Jane S.

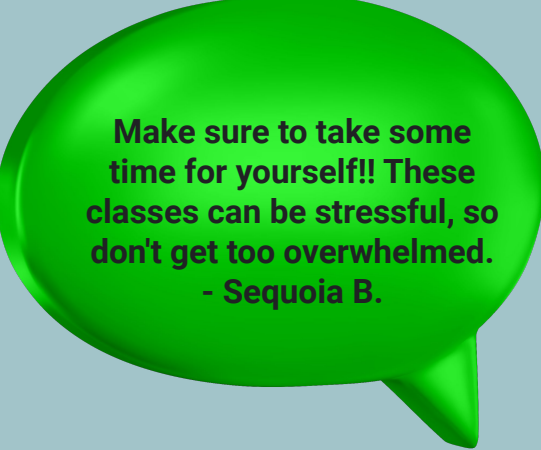

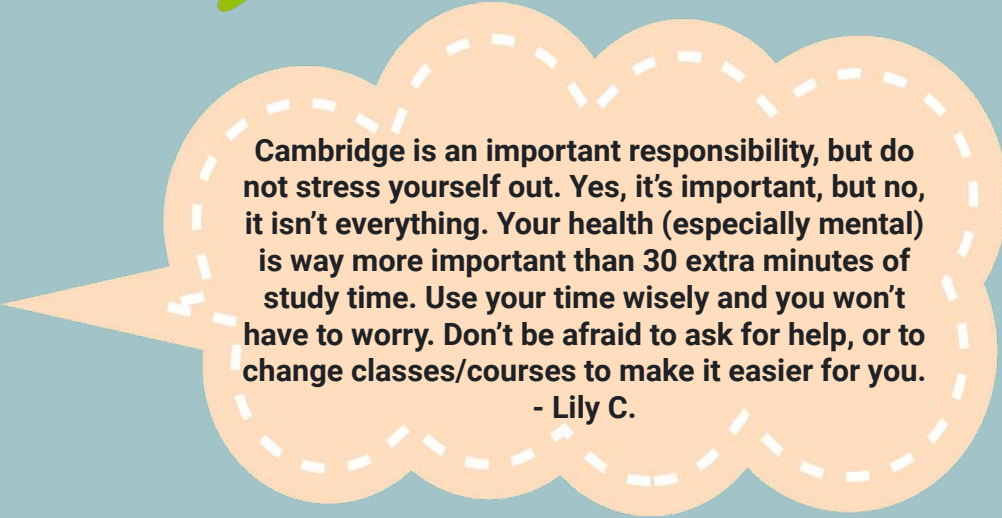

Dedication always means more than natural talent. Never compare yourself to others; only compare yourself to you. Dwelling on the past does nothing for your future.
-Brielle P.

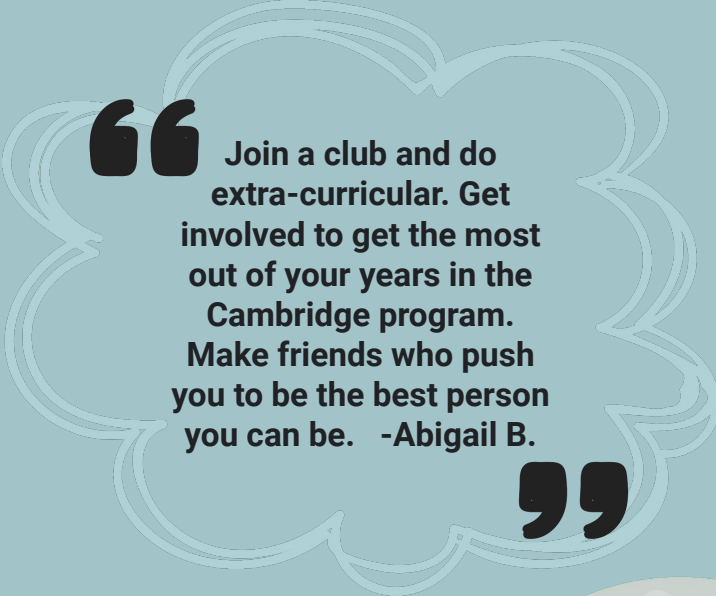

Never take any minute for granted, enjoy your high-school time and make sure to go out of your way to strive for the best test scores and grades. All the stress and work will be worth it
-Keyri Mendoza Gutierrez

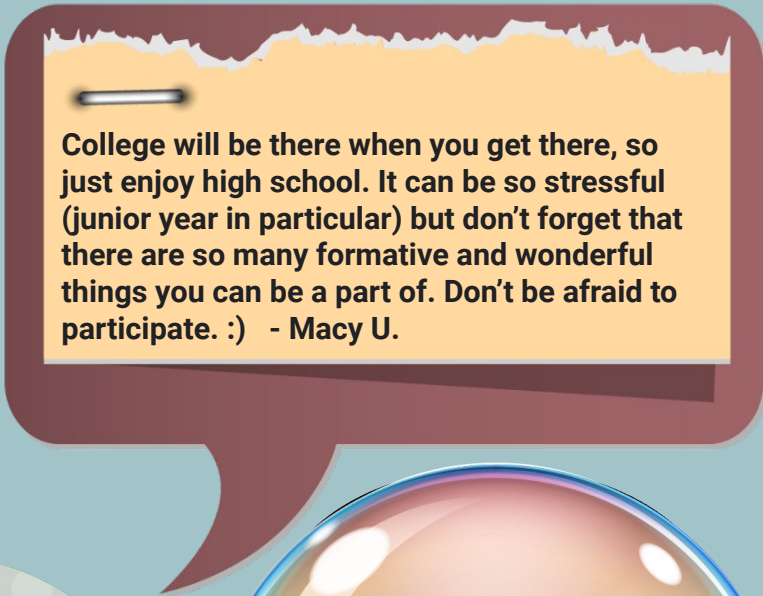

Make sure to take some time for yourself!! These classes can be stressful, so don't get too overwhelmed.
- Sequoia B.

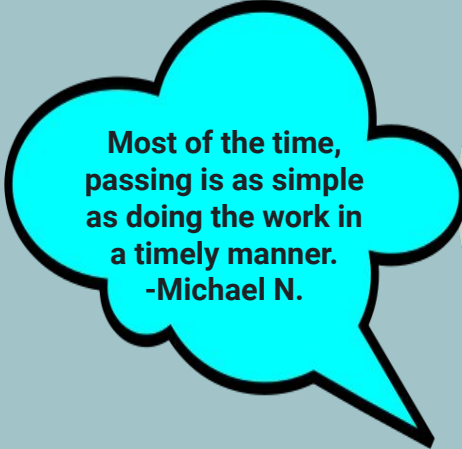

Cambridge is an important responsibility, but do not stress yourself out. Yes, it's important, but no, it isn't everything. Your health (especially mental) is way more important than 30 extra minutes of study time. Use your time wisely and you won't have to worry. Don't be afraid to ask for help, or to change classes/courses to make it easier for you.
- Lily C.

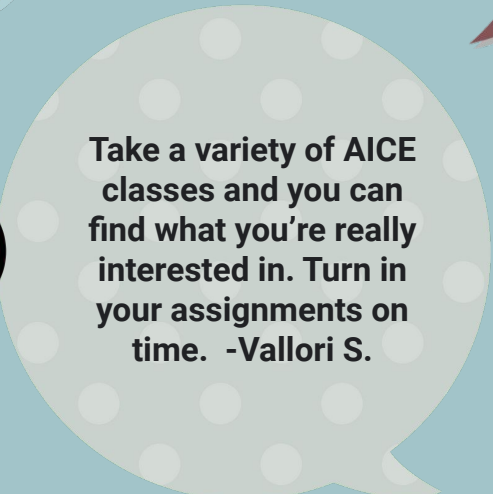

Join a club and do extra-curricular. Get involved to get the most out of your years in the Cambridge program. Make friends who push you to be the best person you can be. -Abigail B.

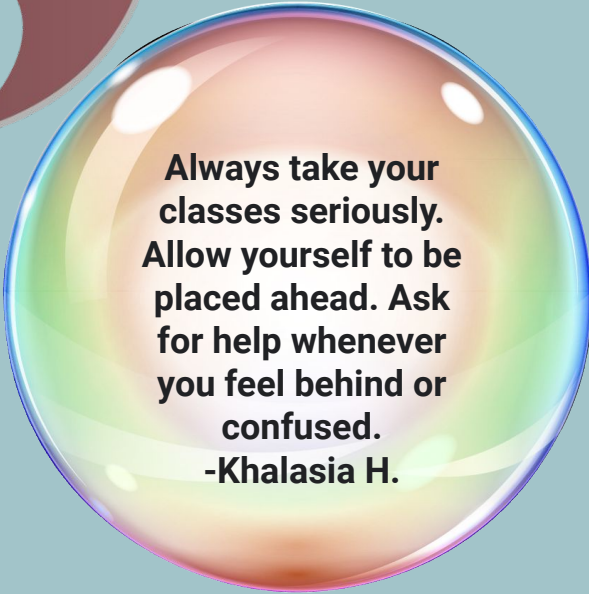

College will be there when you get there, so just enjoy high school. It can be so stressful (junior year in particular) but don't forget that there are so many formative and wonderful things you can be a part of. Don't be afraid to participate. :) - Macy U.

Most of the time, passing is as simple as doing the work in a timely manner.
-Michael N.

Take a variety of AICE classes and you can find what you're really interested in. Turn in your assignments on time. -Vallori S.

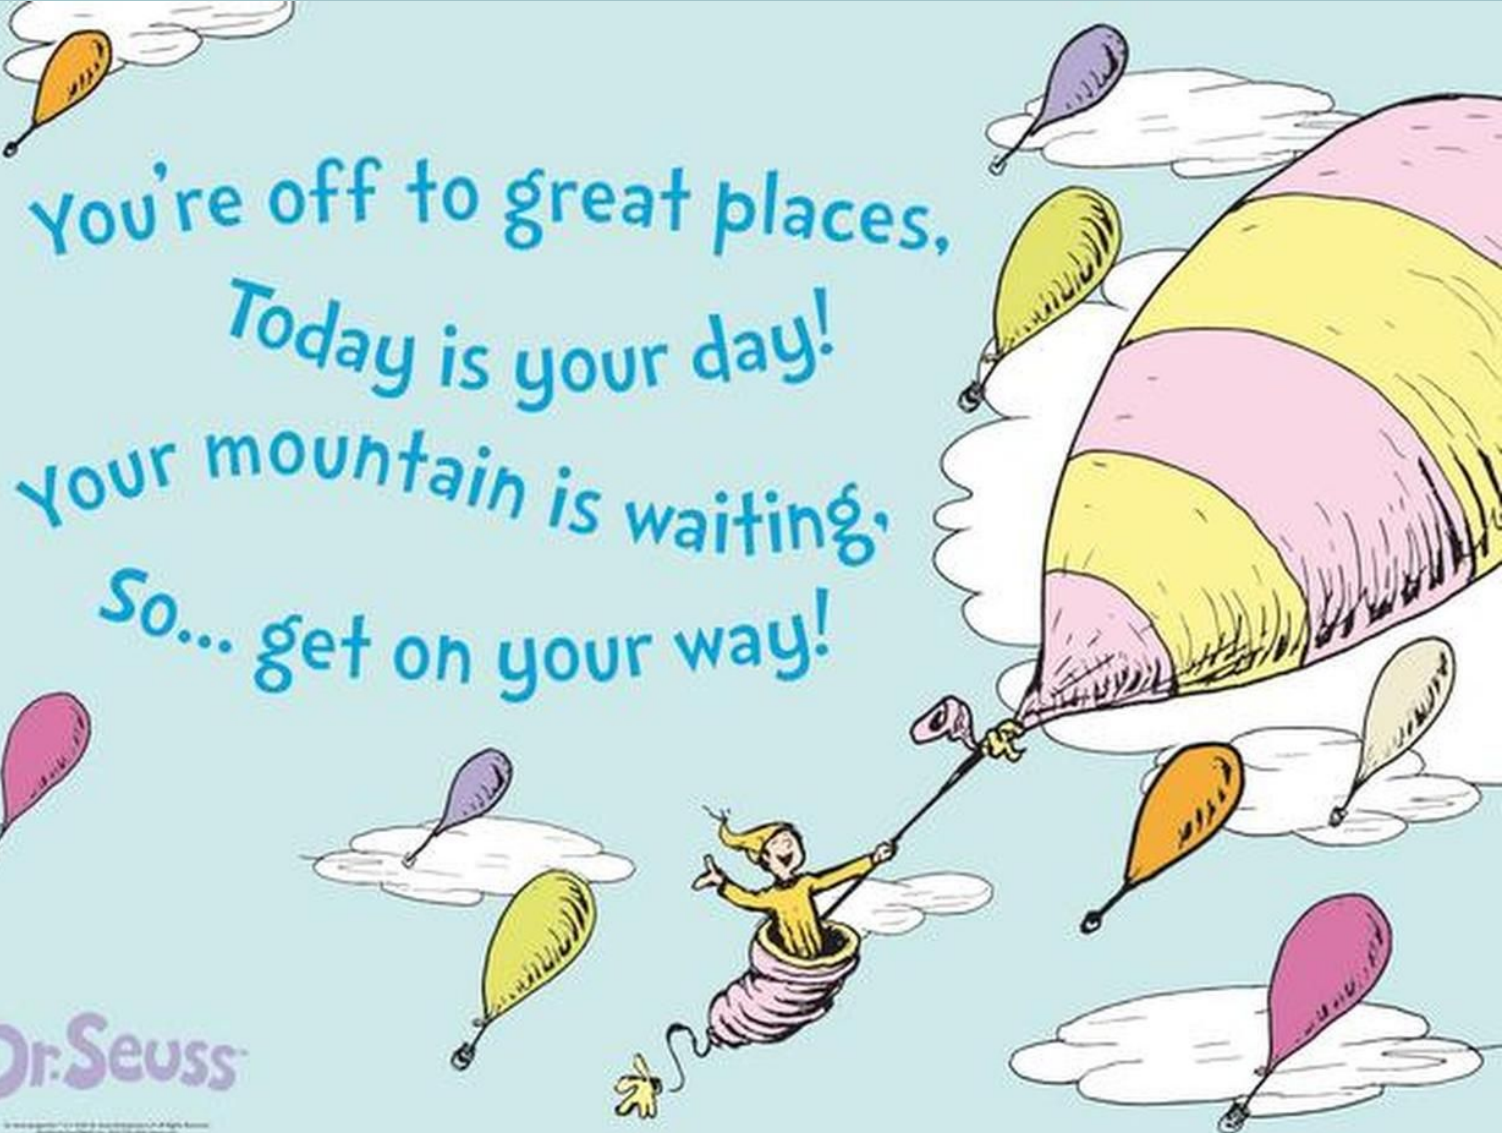

Always take your classes seriously. Allow yourself to be placed ahead. Ask for help whenever you feel behind or confused.
-Khalasia H.

The RHS Cambridge Program Proudly Presents...
