FOXFIRE MONTHLY DISTRICT NEWSLETTER

SUPERINTENDENT BLOG -SPREADING LOVE, KINDNESS, AND LOOKING AHEAD

February is highlighted by Valentine's Day and a great reminder to slow down and intentionally spread love, kindness, and gratitude.

Across Foxfire, I see these values lived out every day—by staff supporting students beyond the classroom, by students encouraging one another, and by families partnering with us to help learners succeed. May we be very intentional this month to spread love and kindness with one another.

As we move into the second half of the school year, February is also a time for important conversations about the future. One of the most significant changes ahead is our transition to a 4-day school week beginning next school year.

📣 Important Parent Information Night

We strongly encourage all parents and guardians to attend our upcoming 4-Day School Week Parent Information Night. This session will provide: The reasoning and research behind the shift

- What the new weekly schedule will look like
- Information on student supports and services
- Time for questions and discussion

Foxfire has always been strongest when families and schools work together with transparency and trust.

Change can bring both excitement and questions, and our goal is to ensure families feel informed, supported, and confident moving forward. This transition reflects our ongoing commitment to doing what's best for students—academically, socially, and emotionally.

As we celebrate Valentine's Day this month, let's remember that love in a school community looks like listening, supporting one another, and growing together. Thank you for being part of the Foxfire family. I am grateful to serve this community and excited for what lies ahead.

With appreciation,

Todd Whiteman

SUPER U VISITED FOXFIRE FOR K-8 ASSEMBLY

Foxfire Intermediate students participant at the Super U Assembly!

Foxfire Intermediate students build the word TRUTH at the Super U Assembly

Foxfire recently hosted Super U Challenge for an K-8 assembly! Super U IS a unique and high energy show that is specifically designed to engage Foxfire students in thinking about their role in respecting others, not bullying peers, and doing their part to make the rest of the school year “SUPER” by passing on kindness and being the best “YOU” that you can be.

The performance was creatively structured like interactive game shows from TV, such as the classic (and wildly popular again!) Nickelodeon TV show, “Double Dare.” Foxfire students from the audience became the stars of this school assembly show, as they attempted fun (and funny!) challenges with costumes, interesting props, and wacky inventions.

Messages about respect, responsibility, kindness and trust were woven throughout the show to remind students that their words and actions have an impact on everyone around them. The messaging in the show stood on its own to encourage positive behavior, but also reinforced our popular PBIS program!

Presenting the positive messages in a format that was fun and entertaining helped our students hear the importance of respect and responsibility in a way that is different from a typical assembly.

The fast paced format and entertaining show host, ensured that all grade levels were entertained throughout the performance. Students learned by having fun and not being “lectured” to, and walked away retaining key concepts of the program.

PBIS STUDENT TEAMS NAMED AT RECENT ASSEMBLY

Students were recently selected for the PBIS Student Support teams. These students were selected based on their demonstration of responsibility, respect and resiliency during the school year.

Students on the team will meet with Mr. Lee once a month to assist with PBIS programming and activities. This will include selecting items for the monthly carts, assisting with assemblies and other PBIS activities. The PBIS team is designed to give our students a voice to PBIS implimentation!

GRIT PROGRAM & FOXFIRE STNA PROGRAM UPDATE

Congratulations to six of our recent students who passed their licensure exam for STNA (State Tested Nurses Assistant)! Bella Hardy (10TH), Rhailynn Woods (12TH), McKenna Lewis (12TH), Gabby Parker (11TH), Railey Mitchell (11th) and Emma Chapman (11TH)! They all started with the GRIT program assessment to help guide their interest into the program

Students in the STNA program attended classes at Mid-East Adult Education from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. over the course of twelve instructional and clinical days. Upon completing the course, students took the Ohio State STNA exam. Successful candidates earn the credential qualifying them to work as a nurse aide anywhere in the state of Ohio.

Students interested in the program must be at least 16 years old, maintain strong attendance, and hold a minimum GPA of 2.0. STNA courses are offered monthly throughout the school year, excluding December.

Current STNA students in training,
Rachel Pride and Lovelee Jones.

NURSE LINDSEY'S CORNER

Foxfire Schools will again be hosting an American Red Cross Blood Drive in mid March. Students age 16 (parental consent required) and older along with staff will be eligible to donate. Student incentives will include make up time if needed or live school points. More information will be made available closer to the event.

K-5 and 9-12 students have completed their vision/hearing screenings. 6-8 students will be starting soon. If you do not want your student screened you must call and request that the paperwork to opt out be sent home. If you receive a letter that your student failed one or both of the screenings, it is your responsibility to make a follow up appointment to have them rescreened and any issues addressed, along with returning the appropriate paperwork. Left untreated, these things can significantly negatively impact your student's learning.

Join America on Friday February 6th in wearing red to help bring greater awareness to heart disease. It is the #1 cause of death in the U.S., especially in women.

MISS NADINE'S COUNSELING

A Screen Time, Sleep, and Student Mood

As winter routines stretch on and daylight remains limited, many students experience changes in energy, focus, and mood—often called “February fatigue.” One major factor behind this shift is the connection between screen time, sleep, and emotional well-being.

How Screens Affect Sleep and Mood

Screens stimulate the brain and can interfere with the body’s natural sleep cycle, especially when used close to bedtime. Inadequate sleep can lead to:

- Increased irritability and emotional outbursts
- Difficulty concentrating and remembering information
- Heightened anxiety or low mood
- Reduced motivation at school

These effects can impact students of all ages, from elementary learners to high school teens.

What This Looks Like by Age

- Elementary (K–5): More meltdowns, trouble waking up, or difficulty focusing
- Middle School (6–8): Moodiness, increased screen use at night, resistance to bedtime
- High School (9–12): Chronic fatigue, stress, late-night phone use, and academic burnout

Healthy Habits Families Can Try

- Create screen-free time at least 30–60 minutes before bed
- Keep devices out of bedrooms overnight when possible
- Maintain consistent sleep and wake times—even on weekends
- Model healthy screen habits as adults
- Encourage calming bedtime routines (reading, music, journaling)

Supporting Emotional Wellness

Sleep is a foundation for emotional regulation. When students are well-rested, they are better able to manage stress, problem-solve, and maintain positive relationships.

If your child is experiencing ongoing sleep issues, mood changes, or increased stress, Ms. Dana and I are available to support students and connect families with resources.

Miss Nadine

FOXFIRE GRADES 1 & 2 RECOGNIZED IN MY PATH BOWL

Foxfire’s first and second grade class were the only classes in the state of Ohio to be nominated for the MVP Classroom in the National Imagine MyPath Bowl contest! MyPath is an adaptive math and literacy program to boost student engagement! The classes chose a $50 Domino's Gift Card and are going to have a pizza party as a reward!

Ms. Black's classrooms averaged 240+ minutes of engagement during the competition, demonstrating exceptional dedication in support to closing the achievement gap!

RELATIONSHIPS

Valentine's Day, often celebrated as a season of romance, roses, and candlelit dinners, can be a source of joy for some and a challenge for others. While the focus on romantic relationships dominates a lot of media, it's easy to overlook the most important relationship of all—the one you have with yourself.

Tips for Practicing Self-Compassion

Self-compassion is the foundation of self-love. It involves treating yourself with the same kindness and understanding that you would offer a close friend. Here are some ways to practice self-compassion this Valentine's Day:

1. Acknowledge Your Feelings

It's okay to feel sad, lonely, or stressed. Avoid suppressing these emotions. Instead, acknowledge them with kindness and curiosity. Journaling or talking to a trusted friend can help you process your feelings.

2. Challenge Negative Self-Talk

Pay attention to your inner dialogue. If you catch yourself engaging in self-criticism or comparison, pause and reframe those thoughts. Replace "I'm not good enough" with "I am deserving of love and respect."

3. Celebrate Your Achievements

Take time to reflect on your personal growth and accomplishments, no matter how small they may seem. Acknowledging your progress can boost your self-esteem and remind you of your resilience.

4. Practice Gratitude

Gratitude shifts your focus from what you lack to what you have. Write down three things you're grateful for each day, whether it's a supportive friend, a sunny morning, or a comforting cup of tea.

5. Engage in Activities You Enjoy

Plan a day filled with activities that bring you joy and relaxation. Whether it's painting, hiking, cooking, or watching your favorite movie, prioritize what makes you happy.

6. Set Healthy Boundaries

Protect your mental health by setting boundaries with people or situations that drain your energy. It's okay to decline invitations or mute social media accounts that trigger negative emotions.

FOXFIRE DRIVERS EDUCATION PROGRAM

Foxfires driving program has been very succesful in providing students with the opportunity to earn their license. If you are interested, these are the steps for any student who wishes to take driver's education at Foxfire High School.

First the student must get their permit that can be done when they reach the age of 15 1/2. Once having their permit, they must fill out a PRC form that Foxfire submits to Job and Family Services to see if they qualify for them to pay for it. If not, no worries because Foxfire will take care of the cost at the school.

After that, students fill out two applications. Once Foxfire receives those applications then the instructor can get the student started on the online classes. After completing 24 hours of online classes and passing the test, students then will do eight hours of behind the wheel training with Mr. Nichols. These sessions will be four drives at two hours per drive.

Once driving hours are completed, students will receive a certificate of completion and they can schedule their driver's test after that. So far this school year, Foxfire has had 15 students complete the program and go on to get their driver's license. Mr. Nichols encourages any student who attends Foxfire to consider the program at no cost to obtain their license.

FOXFIRE WINTER SPORTS & ATHLETICS UPDATE

Foxfire Varsity basketball currently stands 6-5 on the season with three regular season games remaining as well as the United League River Division Tournament. The tournament will be held February 16th -20th at Oakstone Academy in Westerville, teams will be seeded on winning percentage due to the large number of games that have not been made up due to winter weather.

On the season the Phoenix have been led by Nazir Smith who is averaging 22.3 points a game and Braydon O' Neill who has contributed 18.4 points a game. O'Neill also leads the team in three pointers with 12 and Free Throw percentage.

The middle school basketball program currently stands at 1-3 with two games remaining against Columbus Prep and Horizon Science Academy on the road to wrap up the season.

The Powerlifting team has had workouts three days a week since December but had their first meet at the Southern Ohio Regional cancelled due to winter weather. Their next meet will be February 14th at the 33rd Annual Danville Powerlifting meet in Danville, followed by a Push/Pull meet at Madison Plains the following weekend.
