Cumberland County Schools' Choice Programs provide a variety of innovative and rigorous learning opportunities designed to meet the diverse needs of students. Choice schools without a JROTC program may allow participating students to enroll in JROTC at their designated home school. Enrollment in JROTC must begin at the start of the academic year and be dually enrolled; mid-year entry is not permitted. All CCS students are required to comply with school policies and the Cumberland County Schools Code of Conduct. Transportation will not be provided for participating students. Schools should communicate in writing to ensure all processes are complete so that the student can start at the beginning of the school year.
