Raptor Spotlight

This week's Raptor Spotlight focuses on East Middle School's Special Education teachers, Shaun Keller, Davin Burrus, Sarah Nelson, and Katie Clark!

If your child has one of these teachers and you'd like to recognize their outstanding work, read on to learn how you can spotlight the important role they play in your child's education.

Shaun Keller

What is your role at East Middle School, and how do you support our students?

I am a Learning Center teacher at East Middle School in Rapid City, SD. I support students by determining the students' needs, developing a best course of action to meet those needs, and delivering high-quality instruction to help students meet and exceed their goals.

What do you love most about your job?

My favorite part of teaching at East is helping students develop critical thinking and problem-solving skills though targeted instruction. There is nothing better than seeing the light bulb turn on!

What is one thing you'd like parents and families to know about the Special Education program?

The Special Education Program at East is continuously working to improve the learning outcomes and overall quality of students' daily school experience. Amazing paraprofessionals and special educators make this work fun and rewarding.

What is your secret superpower?

My superpower is my ability to understand complex issues deeply and develop solutions to best help others.

Does your child attend Shaun Keller's classroom? Do you believe he goes above and beyond for his students? Show your appreciation by nominating him for the Parent-Nominated Special Teacher of the Year Award! Visit the USD Center for Disabilities website to submit your nomination! The nomination form will be available soon, so check back for updates and submission details!

Davin Burrus

What is your role at East Middle School, and how do you support our students?

Special Education teacher in our district-wide Structured Academics classroom at East Middle School since 2012, for a total of 23 years. I support students with diverse academic and emotional needs, ensuring access to meaningful individualized learning experiences across multiple grade levels.

What do you love most about your job?

Every single day brings a fresh slate, new breakthroughs, and exciting challenges to tackle. Every day is a NEW day!

What is one thing you'd like parents and families to know about your classroom?

I believe education is the work of the heart. We should provide students with the unwavering belief that they are capable, they are safe, and they are loved.

What is your secret superpower?

My secret superpower is PATIENCE!

Does your child attend Davin Burrus' classroom? Do you believe she is an outstanding educator? Show your appreciation by nominating her for the Parent-Nominated Special Teacher of the Year Award! Visit the USD Center for Disabilities website to submit your nomination! The nomination form will be available soon, so check back for updates and submission details!

Sarah Nelson

What is your role at East Middle School, and how do you support our students?

I am a Behavioral Skills Teacher at East Middle School. My job is to help students build the skills they need to navigate school, relationships, emotions, and everyday challenges. I work with students on self-regulation, problem-solving, emotional awareness, and personal responsibility. I want my classroom to be a place where students feel safe, supported, and understood while learning how to make positive choices and advocate for themselves.

What do you love most about your job?

I love getting to know my students and watching them discover what they are capable of. Sometimes, the biggest victories aren't the ones that show up on a report card. They're the moments when a student uses a skill they've been practicing, works through a difficult situation, or realizes they can do something they once thought was impossible. Being able to celebrate those little victories and help students see their own potential is one of the best parts of my job.

What is one thing you'd like parents and families to know about your classroom?

I want families to know that my classroom is not about labeling students by their struggles or punishing them for having a hard time. It's about teaching skills, building relationships, and helping students understand themselves. Behavior is communication, and sometimes students need support learning how to express their needs, manage big emotions, and navigate difficult situations. We will work together to help students build confidence, independence, and the tools they need to succeed both inside and outside the classroom.

What is your secret superpower?

My secret superpower is finding the potential in students, even when they have trouble seeing it in themselves. I can look beyond a difficult day or a challenging behavior and see a kid who is still learning, growing, and figuring things out. I'm a firm believer that connection comes before correction, and sometimes a little patience, humor, and someone who believes in you can make all the difference.

Does your child attend Sarah Nelson's classroom? Do you believe she goes above and beyond for her students? Show your appreciation by nominating her for the Parent-Nominated Special Teacher of the Year Award! Visit the USD Center for Disabilities website to submit your nomination! The nomination form will be available soon, so check back for updates and submission details!

Katie Clark

What is your role at East Middle School, and how do you support our students?

I am the Life Skills Special Education Teacher. I support students by providing opportunities to develop functional, academic, social, and daily living skills that will help them become as independent and successful as possible beyond high school.

What do you love most about your job?

I love being able to work with my students for three or more years and build those relationships. Getting to see how much they grow, learn, and accomplish over time is amazing and one of the most rewarding parts of my job!

What is one thing you'd like parents and families to know about East's special education program?

East has an amazing special education program with different levels of support to meet the individual needs of all students. We have a team of dedicated staff who work hard to help every student grow, learn, and be successful.

What is your secret superpower?

Celebrating the little things. Some of the biggest accomplishments come from the smallest steps, and I love being able to celebrate every bit of growth along the way!

Does your child attend Katie Clark's classroom? Do you believe she is an outstanding educator? Show your appreciation by nominating her for the Parent-Nominated Special Teacher of the Year Award! Visit the USD Center for Disabilities website to submit your nomination! The nomination form will be available soon, so check back for updates and submission details!

Looking for Ways to Support Our Special Education Classrooms?

There are many simple ways to show support for our special education classrooms! Donations of classroom supplies are always appreciated. Some items our classrooms can always use include alcohol wipes, tissues, and hand sanitizer.

Another wonderful way to show your support is by sending a thank-you card to our teachers and paraprofessionals. Let them know they are doing an outstanding job! A few kind words can go a long way in making our staff feel valued, supported, and appreciated.

Student Illness and the Electronic Device Policy (JT)

Students occasionally become ill while at school, and we understand that parents and guardians want to be informed when their child is not feeling well. However, per the Electronic Communication Device Policy (JT), students may not use electronic devices, including cell phones, during school hours. This restriction also applies during lunch and passing periods.

If your child becomes ill during the school day, they should ask their teacher for a pass to visit the nurse. The nurse will evaluate your child and determine whether you need to be contacted to arrange for pickup.

Students should not request a pass to their locker or the restroom to text a parent or guardian to arrange for pickup. Following the school's established procedure ensures that students receive appropriate care and that parents and guardians are contacted when necessary.

Failure to follow the school's electronic communication device policy may result in disciplinary action.

Skyward Corner: Accessing Bus Transportation Information

If you registered your child for bus transportation, did you know you can access their busing information in Skyward?

To view your child's busing schedule, log in to Skyward and click the "+" on the left side to expand the menu. Then, select the Busing tab. If the tab is already visible, simply click it to view your child's assigned bus stop and arrival and departure times.

If you have any questions about your child's bus schedule, please contact the Transportation Department at 605-355-3707.

Athletic/Spectator Expectations

Below is a reminder of our expectations for sportsmanship, appropriate behavior, and representing East Middle School positively.

- Fans are expected to show respect to visiting teams, athletes, families, and staff.
- Spectators must remain in designated viewing areas and may not roam the school, grounds, or other areas outside the event.
- Administrators may restrict a student's continued attendance at after-school athletic events for repeated misbehavior or failure to follow expectations.
- Students asked to leave an event will require immediate parent/guardian pick-up.
- After each game, please clean up your area and help pick up any trash left behind.

Student Academic Requirements

To participate in athletics or be a spectator at events, students must have no more than 5 missing assignments and no more than 1 "F" in Skyward.

SCIENCE CLUB

SPROUT SQUAD

Do you love watching things grow?
Science Club is exploring the science (and fun!) of hydroponics and aquaponics — growing plants using water instead of soil!
We'll build and care for living systems, experiment with growth conditions, and harvest what we grow. Whether you're into science, sustainability, or just want to get your hands wet (literally), this is the club for you!
Come help us make things grow in new ways — no green thumb required!

HAVE QUESTIONS?
