

SPORTS – OUR COMPETITION TEAMS

The Phenoms are excited to compete in the FIRST® Robotics Competition (FRC), a wonderful international program that brings teams from all around the world together to innovate and achieve great things.

In early January, FIRST shares the exciting tasks for the upcoming robotics competition. The Phenoms team then gets to work building a robot that can tackle these challenges. Designing and assembling the robot is a collaborative effort, bringing in skills from mechanics, electronics, and software development. Every team member has the chance to grow their skills and contribute their best work throughout the process.

The competition is an exciting challenge where teams have the opportunity to step into the designated arena and showcase their skills by performing tasks within a set time limit. These operations are guided both by team members and an autonomous programming period, requiring no human control. To better understand each team's depth of understanding, judges also ask questions about their construction choices and problem-solving strategies related to robot development.

The Scorpions are excited to be participating in ESports, joining competitive gaming teams from all over the country. Just like traditional sports, Esports emphasizes teamwork, clear communication, strategic thinking, and leadership—plus even more! It's a fantastic way to build skills and have fun.

Esports, short for electronic sports, isn't just about playing video games—it's an exciting and competitive world all on its own! What makes it special is the structured, organized competition between teams, complete with its own set of rules and guidelines. Did you know that today, 200 colleges and universities are offering nearly 10 million dollars in scholarships for eSports? Starting eSports programs in high schools can be a fantastic way for students to pursue their passions, connect with others, and even earn recognition for their talents.

Esports are a welcoming and inclusive activity that brings together students of all genders, even those who might not usually participate in traditional school sports or clubs. They create a fun environment where everyone can get involved and feel like part of something exciting.

Join this amazing team – The Scorpions. We'd love for you to be part of it! Don't miss this opportunity.
