Dear Families of Hightstown High School,

It is an honor to introduce myself as the new Principal of Hightstown High School. As I step into this role, I do so with a deep sense of responsibility, gratitude, and genuine excitement for the journey ahead. My core philosophy as an educator is simple: every student deserves a school where they are seen, heard, and empowered to reach their highest potential.

I bring to Hightstown two decades of leadership experience spanning elementary, middle, and high school levels. While my background is broad, my heart has always belonged to the high school environment—a space where we have the unique privilege of watching young adults find their voices, cultivate their passions, and prepare to impact the world.

My commitment is to foster a culture that is academically rigorous, deeply inclusive, and safe for all. As we move forward together, my work will be guided by three core priorities:

- Open Communication: Strong schools are built on transparency and active listening. I am committed to being accessible and ensuring your voice as a parent helps support the future of our school.
- A Culture of Care: Meaningful relationships are the foundation of great education. HHS should be a place where your child feels an authentic sense of belonging, and where you feel valued as a partner in their growth.
- Academic Equity: We will work tirelessly to cultivate an instructional climate that meets the unique needs of every learner, offering both the challenge and support required to help them excel.

Education is deeply personal to me. Both of my parents were lifelong educators, and my wife, Karen, is a 4th-grade teacher. We are also parents to two high school sons—Andrew, a rising 11th grader, and Kyle, a rising 9th grader. Navigating these teenage years alongside you, I understand the daily joys, anxieties, and aspirations that come with raising high schoolers today.

To jumpstart my connection with our students, I recently reached out to invite them to meet with me before the school year officially begins. I want to hear about the Hightstown traditions they cherish, listen to their ideas, and learn about our culture directly from the experts—our students themselves.

I am equally eager to connect with all of you. Whether at our upcoming 9th Grade & New Student Orientation (August 26th), Back to School Night (September 24th), or our first PTA meeting in early October, I look forward to beginning our partnership in person.

Thank you for welcoming me into the Hightstown High School family. Together, we will make this a year of remarkable growth, achievement, and strong community.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jonathan Dauber
