in your community's
health and safety.

Why is the MRC needed?

After the September 11th 2001, terrorist attacks, it became apparent there was no organized approach on the local level for medical and public health professionals who are eager to volunteer in support of emergency relief activities. As a result, the MRC was established to provide a way to recruit, train, and activate medical and public health professionals to respond to community health needs during disasters and other public health emergencies.

The Middlefolk MRC is just one of 37 units in Massachusetts, serving:

- Ashland
- Dover
- Framingham
- Holliston
- Hopkinton
- Medfield
- Millis
- Norfolk
- Sherborn
- Wrentham

Boston Marathon 2024

Who can join?

nurses, doctors, pharmacists, physical therapists, dentists, veterinarians, EMTs, college students, behavioral health providers, social services professionals, public health workers, translators, carpenters, child care providers, teachers, technicians, security, engineers, retirees, and many more professions!

Whether you have a medical or non-medical background, you are encouraged to join.

What are some of the things I might do?

MRC volunteers are always ready to respond to local emergencies. However, MRC volunteers help during non-emergent times as well. MRC volunteers promote public health preparedness in the communities they serve by improving health literacy, strengthening overall health, eliminating health disparities, and reducing potential public health risks and vulnerabilities.
