Bunny's School Adventure

A Pre-K Adventure Around Our School

2026-2027

Inspired by The Runaway Bunny by Margaret Wise Brown. A story about how our school family will always help you find your way.

Bunny wants to explore.

Bunny was brand new to Pre-K. There were so many exciting places to see and so many new people to meet! Bunny looked at her classmates and smiled. “I think I want to explore!” she said.

Bunny needs to find her friends.

They went down the long hallways together. In every room, they met the wonderful teachers and helpers who make the school a special place.

But when Bunny hopped back to her own classroom, she looked around. Her new friends were gone!

“Oh no!” cried Bunny. “I need to find my friends!”

We Will Help!

We wanted to help Bunny.
“Don’t worry, Bunny!”. we said.
“We will help you find your friends!”

Together we chanted, “Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

Bunny remembered that in the morning, we have to fuel our bodies with good food to help us have energy and learn.

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The cafeteria!

Inside, Bunny found her friend Bear with our wonderful cafeteria helpers, Ms. Theresa and Ms. Michelle.

Suddenly, Bunny heard a wonderful sound.

Tap, tap!
Clap, clap!
La, la, la!

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The music room!

Bunny loves music. She peeked inside and found her friend Cat singing along with our amazing music teacher, Mrs. Drury!

Bunny followed the path she remembered taking with her friends. She climbed up the stairs and discovered a bright room filled with colorful tools and wonderful creations.

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The art room!

And look who Bunny found! Her friend Sloth was having a blast making art with Ms. Profetty.

Bunny was having so much fun finding her friends and meeting the kind people all around our school.

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The library!

Bunny stepped into a cozy room packed with exciting books and endless stories. Right there, she found her storybook friend, Paddington Bear, reading happily with our librarian, Mrs. Bodkin!

Bunny remembered that her storybook friend, Corduroy, needed a little bit of help.

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The nurse’s office!

She found the special place where we go when we don’t feel well or get hurt. There was our wonderful nurse, Mrs. Appleton, helping Corduroy get all patched up and better!

There are so many helpful people in this part of our school!

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The main office!

Inside, Bunny’s friend Dog was hard at work helping Ms. McCoy. She is the helpful person who answers the phones, greets everyone with a smile, and keeps our whole school running smoothly!

Bunny felt so safe and happy at school, knowing she could always find her friends with our kind teachers and helpers.

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

Bunny did not have to hop very far at all before finding two very important people in our school. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Clements were showing her friend Turtle how important it is to always remember to be safe, respectful, and responsible!

Bunny knows how important it is to be creative and to keep her body healthy and strong. She remembered to eat breakfast, sing songs, make art, and read stories. But she still had another important place to visit!

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The gym!

Inside, Bunny found her friend Pelican helping Mr. Grindle teach the students lots of fun ways to move, play, and grow strong!

There are so many wonderful people who help us in school every single day!

“Hop, hop, hop, where will Bunny stop?”

The mop bucket!

Bunny knows her friend Shark absolutely loves water. Mr. Scott uses the water in his big mop bucket to wash our floors. He has a very important job taking care of our school and helping to keep it clean and shiny!

Bunny looked around at all her animal friends and her brand-new classroom friends.
“Do we have everyone?” she asked.

Together, they counted all 9 animal friends and all 15 students in the class!

We found every single one of Bunny’s friends! Now, the whole group was safely back together, excited to learn and grow with our school's amazing teachers and helpers.

Bunny was so happy.

She found all of her animal friends. She explored her new school, and she met so many wonderful people who help us every day.

Now Bunny knows exactly where to go. And now... it's time to hop back to Pre-K!

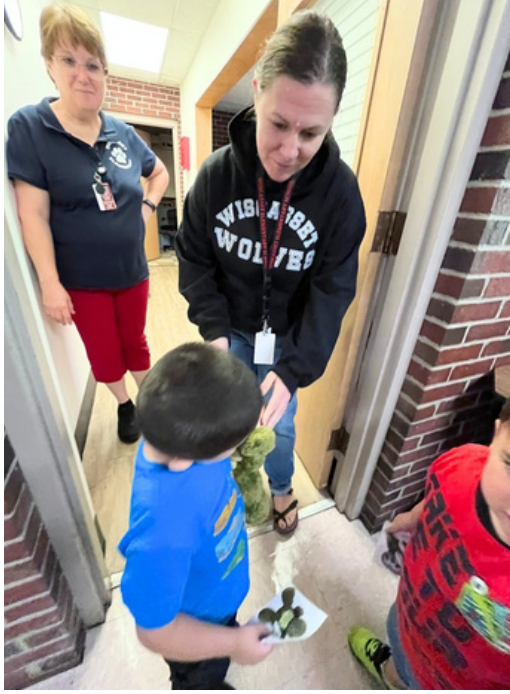

Bunny and her friends hopped all the way back to their Pre-K classroom.

Now, Bunny knew all the special places in her school. She knew the wonderful people who take care of it, and she knew her friends were safely together.

This is our classroom.
This is our school.
These are our friends.
We belong here!
