DEDICATION

WE, the Seniors of Emerson Public School, wish to dedicate our 1960 Pirate, to you, OUR PARENTS. It is with deepest respect and appreciation that we do so. Without your constant guidance and understanding, we would not be the people we are today. You have helped in the formation of memories which happily end our high school career and make us ready to take that important step forward into the world of tomorrow. Please accept the dedication of our annual as an expression of the love and appreciation which we have for you.

Senior Class History

A long awaited day is here at last, graduation day. For 21 Seniors it is not just a closed chapter in our life, but a beginning of many more exciting chapters. Twelve years ago nine bright-eyed, half-frightened youngsters enrolled in the first grade at the Emerson Public School. We saw Dan Dittman, Marjorie Grove, Dennis Habrock, Sandra Heckens, Ella Hingst, Robert Lee, Don Mattison, Gene Steinman, and Nancy Voss being greeted by the teacher, Helen Rejman. Jack Schwarz joined us the second semester.

A lot bolder and full of confidence, we eagerly entered the second grade with Helen Rejman again as our teacher. Robert Lee did not return and Jerry Dohrman enrolled at the first of the year. We had a new classmate for a brief period when Jeanette Jones enrolled in February for two months.

In the third grade, Larry Utemark enrolled at the first of the year and Richard Ogle came at the beginning of the second semester. Miss Erma Enke was our teacher.

Then came the fourth grade with Miss Enke as our teacher again. In the Fifth grade we were welcomed in the classroom by a new teacher, Mrs. Ann Kuhl. Clyde Evans joined us for three weeks. Kenneth Spangler enrolled at the first of the year. Richard Ogle moved away.

In the Sixth year, Mrs. Kuhl was our instructor again. Leon Denker enrolled the first of the year. Kenneth Spangler didn't join our group this year.

We welcomed Mrs. Gladys Plantenberg as our seventh grade teacher. Larry Utemark didn't return here in the fall. Clyde Evans rejoined the class.

During our eight years in school we were instructed part of the year by Mrs. Plantenberg and the latter part of the year by Mrs. Curry. Jerry Gradert enrolled in the second semester.

In September of 1956 we entered high school; a shy, scared bunch of freshmen. Donald Behrens, Gary Dolezal, Leon Jager, Joann Lueth, Maxine Miller, Don Paulsen, Kenneth Sabacky, Vera Stolze, Melva Voss, and Larry Utemark joined our class. Mr. Emry was our class sponsor.

We all returned in our sophomore year. Mrs. Buehner was our sponsor.

Then came our Junior year. There were three big events in that year. We received our class rings. We presented our class play, "Rarin' to Go". The planning of our Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom was very exciting. Mr. Carr and Mrs. Fischer were our sponsors. To our enrollment were added the Juniors of Hubbard, namely: Wanda Shadbolt, Shirley Francisco, Annette Vandenberg, Dick Bean, Alan Skoog, Roger Peters, and Ray Watkins.

And now our Senior year! We 21 Seniors were together at last. We feel very proud of the fact that the same 21 Seniors started high school and finished four years of high school together. There were many events to keep us busy. These included: the taking of Senior pictures in a Sioux City Studio, Class Play, Sneak Day, editing the annual, the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom, Baccalaureate and Commencement. All of this was done under the sponsorship of Mr. Fred C. McKenzie and Mr. Herman L. Schuette. These are very good memories to cherish in the future.

Class Song

Tune: May you always.

This special time, these special tears,
are filled with memories through the years.

Our Class will soon sing Auld Lang Syne, and touch this sentimental heart of mine.

Although we go our separate ways,
we'll share the memories of those days.

The joys and cheers throughout the years,
will always bring back fond memories.

May we always keep these memories,
after we have parted now.

May our friendship be as cherished as it has in years gone by.

All the parties, games, and dances shared by us in high school days.

May we always keep these memories in the years of life to come.

All the laughter we have shared,
will echo through the years.

The Proms, the Class Plays, all the joys, will always bring back special days.

And may we always walk in sunshine,
after Graduation Day.

May we all find happiness,
in everything we do.

Senior Class Poem

Jack is the boy with a scientific mind,
Delving into every problem that he may find.
He also is very talented in art,
And gave many a poster a real start.

Sandie is the sensible lass,
She has the talent of the class.
She is musical, talented in many ways,
And most of her hours are very gay.

Next comes Dan, a real tall boy,
Sports and a girl are all his joy.
He has given a lot of support to his team,
Always so active and on the beam.

Donnie P. is the teacher's test,
At mischief he is at his very best.
But he gets his work as he has his fun,
Although he keeps the teachers on the run.

Larry's the boy who hasn't a care,
Such a personality is ever so rare.
A farmer he would like to be,
He would make a good one, we can see.

Joann is the girl who really likes school,
She's the one who won't break a rule.
She's full of fun and happy too,
And her hours of study are far from few.

Don Behrens is the boy who studies real hard,
And from his studies, fun is not barred.
In college he is sure to land,
We know at this, he would be grand.

Next comes Bill, our football king,
His charms do make the girls all sing.
He accepts the jobs of a responsible lad,
A better boy could not be had.

Vera's the farm girl, and works real hard,
And when you're with her, she's really a card.
She likes to sew, and likes to cook,
But seldom you'll find her with a book.

Don Mattison is the boy with the steady girl,
And only one will he give a whirl.
Many friends are won by his helping hand,
And on the top he will land.

Nancy's as jolly as she can be,
Never a girl so carefree,
In the meantime her dates are not few,
And you'll often find her and Lee in a stew.

Leon is the one with little to say,
And he is so helpful in many a way.
His car is his pride and joy,
He has a lot of fun, even though coy.

Senior Class Poem (continued)

Our Kenny is quiet and studious too,
And his talents are far from few.
A college life he would enjoy,
Even though a country boy.

Jerry Gradert is an able lad,
It takes a lot to make him mad.
He's always so helpful, cheerful, and gay,
Ready to assist whenever he may.

Melva's hopes are rather high,
A college life she would like to try.
She was our football Homecoming Queen,
Her winning ways are always to be seen.

Gary, a good farmer wants to be,
At this he works very diligently.
The ag course is just his feat,
Working with machinery can't be beat.

Maxine is the quiet one, proud of her looks,
She's the girl who studies her books.
Yes, she is timid, quiet, and shy,
But don't let her fool you, there's a steady guy.

Clyde is the class's grease monkey,
At his dad's station, he is quite a funkey.
His winning smile has won many a friend,
And to his own business he will attend.

Dennis is the boy with a real big smile,
He can make friends in a little while.
School books hardly hold his thought,
But he works hard at what he is taught.

Jerry Dohrman, is the boy who pesters in school,
When confronted with problems, he's serious and cool.
He has a good brain, that could take him far,
Don't be surprised if he ends up a star.

Marjorie is the beatnik of the class,
Although she is a likable lass.
She wants a life all of her own,
So when out of school, she will roam.

We, 21 Seniors together at last,
Just like members in a play cast.
We've each played a major or minor part,
Giving our lives a real start.

When we've gone our separate ways,
We'll remember back to our Hi-School Days.
The friendships we shared, the fun and joys,
When we were carefree girls and boys.

Senior Class Will

We, the Senior Class of Emerson High School, the city of Emerson, county of Dixon, and the state of Nebraska, being of sound mind and memory, do hereby make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament.

I, Sandra Heckens, will my ability to get to school before roll is called, to Janet Rager, who in turn must join band so that she gets to school before 8:30.

I, Don Mattison, will my ability not to fight with my girl, to Janice Swan and Dave Combs, who are constantly fighting. In turn, they must not break up over twice a week.

I, Bill Denker, will my ability to play football to Jim Morse, who in turn next year, must make 4 touchdowns in every quarter.

I, Marjorie Grove, will my ability to knock rods out of a pickup to Jim Morse, who in turn must do the same to his maroon car before he finishes high school.

I, Melva Voss, will my ability to get in early (early in the morning) to Judy Renander, who in turn must never get in before 12 o'clock.

I, Jack Schwarz, will my ability to get a diploma in four years, to Gene Blaker, who in turn must not spend more than two years in the ninth grade.

I, Kenneth Sabacky, will my ability to stay in class and get along with the teachers to Ronnie Hingst, who in turn must never get kicked out of class more than 2 times a week.

I, Jerry Dohrman, will my ability to get good grades without studying to anyone who may need it.

I, Vera May Stolze, will my ability to get good grades to Carol Jean, who in turn must never get lower than a D.

I, Leon Jager, will my ability to behave to Ron Brinkman, who in turn must never answer in class or talk in study hall.

I, Clyde Evans, will my ability to stay in class to Frank Rager, who in turn must never get kicked out of class over 2 times a week.

I, Maxine Miller, will my will power to stay on a diet, to anyone who may need it. Happy starvation!

I, Don Behrens, will my ability to get along with the study hall teachers to Earl Wilke, who in turn must not get called down more than twice a day.

I, Larry Utemark, will my ability to get along with Brownie to Chuck Kempf, who in turn must never get picked up over 4 times a week.

I, Gary Dolezal, will my ability to keep out of trouble in study hall, to Gene Blaker who in turn, must bow down to every study hall teacher that he meets.

I, Dan Dittman, will my ability to eat breakfast to Earl Wilke, who in turn must eat 3 eggs, 2 pieces of toast, 2 pancakes, 2 glasses of milk, and a glass of orange juice every morning for the next 2 years.

I, Jerry Gradert, will my ability to play ping-pong to Delwin Suhr. May he not beat Mr. Tarnick anymore than I did.

I, Joann Lueth, will my ability to take care of Carol's belongings to anyone who can manage. Good Luck.

I, Nancy Voss, will my ability not to wreck my brain for studying to Judy Lueth, who in turn must never study her lessons more than once a week.

I, Don Paulsen, will my ability to be mischievous and still get along with the teachers, to anyone who may need it. Have fun, I did.

I, Dennis Habrock, will my ability to get my lessons done to my brother, Dale.

Senior Class Prophecy

In the fall of 1970, Lt. Bill Denker, a world famous test pilot, was assigned to Cape Canaveral, for special training in space flight. Upon boarding a B-98 Saucer, which would take him to Florida, he was surprised to see two of his former classmates, Don Mattison, the pilot, and Jerry Gradert, the co-pilot. Continuing to the ship's dining hall, he was greeted by a very attractive stewardess, which was none other than Maxine Miller, another classmate. As he went to sit down for his long ride to Cape Canaveral, he happened to sit down by Corporal Clyde Evans, who was on a similar assignment. After a lengthy discussion over old school days, they went to the ship's lounge for refreshments. To their amazement they met Don Paulsen, tending bar. A gleaming badge soon caught their eye and behind the badge was none other than Leon Jager. It seems that Leon always wanted to be a liquor commissioner. After a pleasant ride, except for a few frightful stunts by their dare-devil pilot, they soon approached the Canaveral Municipal Airport.

To have an air view of the city they went to the pilot's compartment where they heard Don Behren's voice over the radio. He was the air-traffic controller at the airport. After they had made a safe landing, and had picked up their baggage, they called a cab. To their amazement it happened to be driven by Dennis Habrock, another classmate.

Arriving at their hotel, they were met by Ken Sabacky, the hotel manager. As they had a few hours of leisure time, they decided to spend a night on the town. As they walked down the street, they noticed a sign which said, "Nancy's Beauty Shoppe". Upon looking into the shop, they saw their former classmate, Nancy Voss, working on a girl's hair. They went into the shop for awhile and they discovered that the girl was none other than Joann Lueth, another old classmate. Joann had found a job as a secretary for a large corporation down there and found the job quite satisfactory. They also found Vera May Stolze there, sitting under a hair dryer. She was now in Florida, teaching school. She always had enjoyed being around little children. After visiting for awhile, they decided to move on.

As they walked further down the street, they saw a night club, the Jinx Club. As they were entering, a swanky Cadillac pulled up to the curb. As they watched, a man in the flashiest clothes got out. When he turned around to them, they recognized him to be Larry Utemark. Larry was the owner of the night club. As they entered the club, Gary Dolezal, the head waiter, escorted them to a table close to the orchestra. They were more than surprised to see Sandie Heckens playing the saxophone in the little dance band. The name of the band was Sandie's Combo and it seemed as if they were really drawing the crowds wherever they appeared. Sitting next to them at a different table, they saw Dan Dittman, the famous basketball star, and his wife. Dan and his team-mates were in Florida where they were going to play a very important game with one of the nation's finest teams. They discussed school days and had a very enjoyable time.

Just as they were leaving the club, they saw a very tall and handsome fellow standing by the door. The person looked familiar, and to their surprise, they saw it to be Jerry Dohrman, the bouncer for the night club. At least Jerry was now happy. The pleasant evening went all too quickly, but they had to be up in the morning, very early to report to Cape Canaveral.

The next morning, they started out to the base bright and early. There they met another classmate, Jack Schwarz, who was the engineer of the new rocket they were going to test. Along with Jack and several officials at the base, were two lovely, attractive girls. They were Melva Voss, and Margorie Grove. These two girls were personal secretaries to the two highest officials on the missile base. They had gone through school together and then went to Florida to find a job, and had even gotten the same kind of job, so they were still together.

So now as we leave for the far unknown, we wonder where these rockets and missiles will take us. But wherever we go, we will try to do our best. We will always remember our school days and our classmates and wish them well in whatever they may do in the future years ahead.

Senior Sneak Day

At 5:30 a.m., April 29, 1960, 21 wide-awake seniors and their sponsors were bound for Omaha. We visited Boy's Town and The Union Pacific Museum in the forenoon. In the afternoon we toured the Omaha World Herald. After supper we saw the show, "The Fugitive King", at the Omaha Theater. Then we returned home to Emerson, 21 sleepy seniors.

The Omaha World Herald gave us a very educational tour.

Oh what fun! Riding on the escalators.

Messing up the study hall gave us a real start. You poor underclassmen.

Looking around at The Union Pacific Museum.

Buying souvenirs at Boy's Town.

Eating in the dining room at Virginia's Cafe.

Buying our tickets for the show.

Oh what fun we had!

"A Little Bit Of Heaven"

May 13, 1960. This was a night filled with memories for the Juniors and Seniors of Emerson High.

A most unforgettable banquet and prom were presented to the Seniors by the Junior Class. "A Little Bit Of Heaven", the theme, was very effectively carried out in the colors of the rainbow. The untiring efforts and the detailed planning by the Junior Class gave memories that can never be forgotten in the years to come.
