Community In Acts Update

October 12, 2026

Phil 1:6 "Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ."

One of the great encouragements in the Christian life is knowing that God is faithful to complete the work He begins. As believers, we are called to remain faithful, persevere through difficulties, and keep our eyes fixed on Christ. Finishing well does not mean that every detail is perfect or that every obstacle has been removed. It means continuing to trust the Lord, remaining faithful to His Word, and pressing forward in obedience, even when the work is difficult or the resources are limited.

Emerald Coast

Here at Emerald Coast Seminary, we are thankful for the progress the Lord is allowing us to make. Each week brings new challenges, but it also brings new reasons to give thanks. We are reminded that this ministry is not ultimately about a building or a program; it is about preparing men and women to know Christ, live according to His Word, and take the gospel to communities that desperately need to hear it. This week, we are privileged to have Adrian Serrano teaching our students in Christology and Soteriology. There is nothing more important than grounding these future leaders in a clear understanding of who Christ is and what He has accomplished for us through His death and resurrection.

One of the things I particularly love seeing is the daily growth in our students. Their discipline in memorizing Scripture is especially encouraging. We want these men and women to do more than acquire theological knowledge. We want God's Word to take root in their hearts, shape their thinking, transform their character, and guide their ministry. Our prayer is that they will become faithful disciples of Jesus Christ who can teach His Word and establish biblically grounded churches in the villages where they will eventually serve.

Prayer Requests:

1 That our students will continue to grow spiritually and remain disciplined in studying and memorizing God's Word.
2. For Adrian Serrano as he teaches Christology and Soteriology, that our students will gain a deeper understanding of Christ and His saving work.
3.That the flooring will be completed and the remaining electrical connections for the solar system will be finished this week.
4. That the Lord will provide the wisdom, strength, and resources needed to complete the remaining work and prepare these future leaders to reach the unreached villages of Central Mexico.
